DAR Campaign Adds $72,694 in 38-Minute Push

Convention Drive Opens to Reach $500,000 Quota On New Building

By Genevieve Reynolds
Post Reporter

In 38 minutes, delegates to the fifty-eighth Continental Congress, Daughters of the American Revolution, yesterday raised $72,694.80 in cash and pledges.

Greenbacks and pledges rolled in at the opening business session when Mrs. V. Eugene Holcombe of Charleston, W. Va., national building promotion chairman, took over the stage in Constitution Hall in a drive to complete the $900,000 quota needed for the DAR administration building now under construction. The cornerstone of the building will be laid Thursday afternoon.

Daily Effort Slated

To meet a quota of at least $500,000 before the congress adjourns Friday, similar fund drives will be conducted daily. Cash and pledges totaled about $325,000 before the drive opened yesterday.

After the business session, delegates took the afternoon off to attend a round of State receptions and teas.

Last night delegates donned elegant brocade, lace or fluffy chiffon evening gowns and returned to Constitution Hall. Drawing card was the president general's annual reception, traditionally a colorful affair. The visiting and local Daughters formed a triple line around the assembly hall to greet their president general — Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne, of Brookville, Ind., and other national officers.

Mrs. O'Byrne wore a sky blue crepe formal, topped with ribbon insignia of her office, a "greenback corsage" and a purple orchid.

500 Greet Officers

Despite the fact that the only refreshments were ice water and conversation, some 500 stood patiently from 45 minutes to 1½ hours, awaiting their turn to greet the national officers, who formed a welcoming line across the entire stage of the hall. A few footsore Daughters gave up at about 11:15 p.m. and dashed back to their hotels.

A majority of the delegates wore two corsages—a floral and a "greenback" one. The money corsages at the end of the congress will be turned in to help swell the building fund.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Robert Keene Arnold, chaplain general, accompanied by the State chaplains, made a pilgrimage to Arlington National Cemetery to place a wreath at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. They continued on to Mount Vernon and placed wreaths at the tombs of George and Martha Washington.

Order Is Out For Arrest Of Laughlin

By Charles E. Davis, Jr., and Robert P. Jordan
Post Reporters

The offer of Washington Attorney James J. Laughlin to uncover gambling in Prince Georges County, Md., took a new turn yesterday as his arrest in a contempt charge was ordered.

An attachment for Laughlin's arrest was issued at Upper Marlboro in Prince Georges County Circuit Court by Judge Charles C. Marbury. The Washington criminal lawyer is accused of being in contempt by ignoring subpenas to appear before the grand jury April 18.

Laughlin, who accepted the news with amused indifference, snorted that it represented an attempt by State's Attorney A. Gwynn Bowie to "smear or intimidate" him.

He stated flatly that Bowie had attempted to persuade him not to testify about gambling conditions in the county when he went to Upper Marlboro on April 8 to appear before the grand jury. He also accused the prosecutor of "giving aid and comfort to the gambling fraternity" in the county.

Bowie angrily denied the charges made by Laughlin. The latter's claim that the State's attorney had tried to persuade him not to testify was branded "an absolute untruth." He added there was no truth in other statements attributed to him.

"The only mistake that I have made," he said, "was to talk with Laughlin privately where the world couldn't know what was said. That's the only mistake I have made, and a mistake I will not make again."

Laughlin also had said that from Bowie's attitude he got the impression that he (Bowie) was on the spot in the gaming probe and

ABC Is Asked For Assurance Of Gambling

Special Dispatch to The Post

Virginia Beach, Va., April 19.—A beer and bowling concessionaire put his cards on the table today, face up, before the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

Before he even applied for his 1949 beer license, Pat Morgan Mercer wanted the ABC Board to assure him that illegal gambling would "run wide open as usual" this summer.

Mercer told the board frankly that the bingo games and the slot machines attracted the customers.

"When the law puts the heat on," he said, "there's no money down here." The law puts the heat on for a while about once a season, he said.

But Mercer had been disturbed, he told the board, by reports that the heat was going on for keeps this summer.

He told the board he would rather be denied his license than proceed with his efforts to lease concessions if substantial changes were going to be made in the policing of Casino Park. His lease would cost $6000, he said.

Mercer asked for the ABC hearing in connection with his application for licenses for the Casino Park Tavern and the Casino Snack Bar.

Asked by the board if the slot machines paid off in money, he replied:

"It all depends. When things are hot, the door is locked. When things are wide open, everything is all right."

The ABC Board took Mercer's application under 10-day advisement.

Bulldozer Goes Into D.C. Laundry; 2 Boys Get Away

An 8-ton bulldozer set in motion by two adventurous boys yesterday smashed through the brick wall of the Home Laundry, Inc., 1101 Raum st. ne.

It happened sometime between 4 and 5 p. m., while the metal monster was parked on a vacant lot at 1600 Montello ave. ne. The boys, it would seem, jumped from the bulldozer before it traveled the 40 feet to the brick wall of the laundry.

Results: $2500 damage to the building and dry cleaning equipment; negligible damage to the bulldozer; no damage to the boys (they weren't caught).

Five Senators Shocked by Visit to Capital Slums

Woman, Sons Admit Lonely Heart Killings

Dover, Del., April 19 (AP).—Police began sifting through a bushel basket of "lonely hearts" letters to Mrs. Inez Brennan today, shortly after announcing the woman signed a statement admitting she plotted the killings of two elderly men and, aided by her three sons, burned and buried the bodies.

Col. Herbert Barnes, State police head, said the 43-year-old brunette confessed shooting one victim and ordering her youngest son, Robert, 15, to shoot the other.

The police official said she met Wade N. Wooldridge, 70, of Bedford, Va., and Hugo Schultz, 66, Epsom, N. H., through lonely hearts club correspondence, and lured them to their deaths to rob them. He reported Robert told of his mother taking $134 from Wooldridge, and selling much of Schultz' farm supplies and equipment.

House Full of Letters

Barnes said her farmhouse on lonely Horsepond Road is "filled from top to bottom with lonely hearts letters."

"We want to make sure none of these men who wrote the letters is missing," Barnes said. "It's possible that she just got started in this business. But we're not placing any bets on that."

The grisly story of the slayings—the first was last October—began unfolding Friday night when Robert told Barnes he shot Wooldridge after the Virginian came to the Delaware farm to marry Mrs. Brennan.

Body Buried In Pigpen

Barnes said Robert admitted firing the fatal shot at his mother's order, and added his mother and half-brothers, Raymond, 23, and George, 19, buried the body in a pigpen.

Last night, Barnes said, Robert signed a second statement detailing the slaying of Schultz. He said he and George went to Schultz's New England farm with their mother and that his mother

NCHA Head Tells About Delaying of Action on Squalor

By Thomas Winship
Post Reporter

A National Capital Housing Authority official charged last night the city's slum "squalor" was largely Congress' own fault.

John Ihlder, NCHA executive officer, who aimed the statement at past Congresses, said he was seeking amendments to the pending national housing bill to permit his agency to acquire sites for public housing.

Ihlder said he doubted that the slum clearance and public housing provisions of the pending national bill—in which the District would be eligible for up to 30 millions in loans and subsidies—could have maximum local effectiveness unless NCHA got more authority.

NCHA has repeatedly asked Congress for legislation to build 5500 low-rent housing units here, Ihlder stated.

"Not only has Congress denied us this request," he said, "but it even took away our authority to acquire sites for public housing three years ago."

Site acquisition powers were transferred from NCHA to the District Redevelopment Land Agency, which was created by Congress in 1946.

He said NCHA is the only local housing authority in the country that does not have site acquisition powers.

Ihlder indicated a jurisdictional impasse between the two agencies, in that the land agency can turn over sites to NCHA for public

Trip Is Initiated As Senate Debates Clearance Measure

By Mary Spargo
Post Reporter

Half a block from the sweet-scented hothouse which supplies congressional flowers and plants, five Senators yesterday gagged over the evil stench from the hovel of Washington's slum dwellers.

The personal inspection tour was initiated by Senator Paul Douglas (D., Ill.) during Senate debate on a bill providing funds for slum clearance and the building of 810,000 public housing units in the next seven years.

Those who accepted his invitation to "see for yourselves" were Senators Raymond Baldwin (R., Conn.), Theodore Green (D., R. I.), Wayne Morse (R., Oreg.) and Homer Ferguson (R., Mich.).

"The smell! The smell!" exclaimed Baldwin. "How do they stand it? It's bad enough when a high wind is blowing. What must it be like in the hot summer months!"

Hastily the Senators scrubbed themselves up in the marble-walled Senate washrooms after their tour of areas which a health officer warned were disease laden.

Commented Ferguson bitterly, "But you can't scrub out your soul after sights like these."

Baldwin, onetime Connecticut Governor, said he had never seen slums so horrible in his State, but Douglas commented evenly that slums like this were duplicated in every large city in the country and must be wiped out.

All three areas visited by the group nestle cozily around the

Witness Says Reds Sought Factory Plans

New York, April 19 (U.P.).—The Communist Party sought to obtain detailed plans of the Celanese Corp. of America's big plant in Cumberland, Md., in 1940 shortly after Russia signed a nonagression pact with Germany, a witness at the trial of 11 party leaders testified today.

The witness, Charles W. Nicodemus of Dawson, Md., said that he and other Communists employed at the plant, which later played a role in the war effort, were instructed to make drawings of the rooms and sections of the plant in which they worked, showing clearly the location of doors and windows.

Organized Union Local

A new prosecution witness, Nicodemus spent only 20 minutes on the witness stand, but he traced in that time the manner in which he joined the party and carried out its instructions.

He said he had worked for the Celanese Corp. since 1933, and that he helped organize the Textile Workers Union of America local there. In 1937, he said, he was approached by a man who suggested the party could be helpful. Two days later, Nicodemus said, he joined the party.

He said he worked with a county unit which also included rubber and timber workers and housewives.

"Housewives?" queried Judge Harold R. Medina.

"Yes, housewives, too," Nicodemus said.

In 1940, he testified, the textile union had 35 or 40 Communists among its members. They were told to break up into groups of five and each group had a "captain" at its head. Nicodemus said he captained one group.

A man identified only as Sam Dean instructed Nicodemus and the other captains to see to it that each party member in the plant

Disciplined Priest Denounces Archbishop's Act as 'Brutal'

Boston, April 19 (AP).—A Jesuit priest who declared he had been stripped of his priestly powers for contending there is no salvation outside the Roman Catholic Church, today denounced his punishment by Archbishop Richard J. Cushing as "brutal" and "invalid."

Archbishop Cushing said he had barred the Rev. Leonard Feeney from the altar for "grave offenses against the general laws of the Catholic Church."

But Father Feeney said:

"The reason I am being silenced is because I believe there is no salvation outside the Catholic Church and without personal submission to our Holy Father, the Pope, and Archbishop Cushing believes there is . . . I believe the present silencing of me is totally invalid."

The invoking of one of the gravest punishments of the Catholic Church was the newest development in a week-old "heresy" controversy which has stirred the large Catholic population in this city.

The heresy charge first was leveled against Boston College, religious school, by three instructors there, and another at Boston College High School.

The four lost their teaching positions, they claimed, because they contended Boston College was preaching the "heresy" that persons outside the Catholic faith can attain salvation after death.

Archbishop Cushing remained silent until last night when he criticized the instructors for causing "serious scandal" and set forth his edict against Father Feeney, who had announced his support of the instructors.

The archbishop decreed that

GOP Digs Up Quotes to Test Carson's Views on Capitalism

By The Associated Press

Republicans dug up some old quotes on capitalism yesterday to use in an expected fight against confirmation of President Truman's appointment of John Carson to the Federal Trade Commission.

Senator Brewster (R., Me.) told a reporter that Carson will be asked by the Senate Commerce Committee to explain several statements he made in 1945.

Among these, Brewster said, was Carson's testimony before a special Senate committee on economic planning in February, 1945. The record shows Carson said then that "the world of competitive capitalism began to have its death rattles in 1929 and it has been in convulsions ever since."

"Mr. Carson has been nominated by the President as a Republican member of the Trade Commission," Brewster said. "We would like to know if his views on economics and business reflect the views generally held by Republicans.

"From what I have read of his statements, I doubt that they do."

Carson, former Washington newspaperman and former secretary to the late Senator James Couzens, Michigan Republican, was nominated by the President April 7 to serve until September 26, 1952.

If confirmed by the Senate for the $10,000 a year job, Carson

Truman Links U. S. Security To Bond Drive

President Truman said last night "we cannot have a sound and secure Nation unless security is the common possession of all our people."

The President spoke at a dinner at the Statler Hotel honoring the Nation's volunteer bond salesmen who will conduct a $1,040,000,000 "Opportunity Bond Drive" May 16 to June 30. His remarks were carried over the major networks to similar dinners held in all State capitals.

The President paid tribute to the three million bond salesmen and to the 250,000 newsboys who will join them in a special doorbell-ringing, bond-selling effort in the spring campaign.

"I ask you to welcome these carrier boys to your homes and to give them the encouragement they deserve as our youngest and best salesmen," the President said. "This campaign is an opportunity for them, just as it is an opportunity for all of us, to help ourselves and our country at the same time."

The President declared that the drive's special name was "well chosen" because "the United States has always been a land of opportunity and this bond drive will help to keep it that way."

"From the very start," he said, "the buyers of United States Savings Bonds have been purchasing opportunity with every bond. Every bond they have bought has given them that much more reason to feel secure about the future—their own and their country's."

The Statler dinner also was addressed by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, who said that the grand total of savings bonds outstanding of 56 billion dollars represents "a potential of future spending" and "a most satisfactory preparation for any emergency which may lie ahead."

"The money that Americans have invested in Savings Bonds," he said, "might well be called an Opportunity Fund. It will help greatly to insure our traditions of individual freedom and security."

Pointing out that those who thought sales of savings bonds would drop considerably after the Victory Loan were mistaken, he said that the sale continued through 1946, grew larger through each month of 1947 and 1948 "because this form of savings filled a definite need in our national economy."

As part of the kickoff for the campaign May 16, Snyder announced that on that day 48 covered wagons will set out from Independence, Mo.—the Presi-

Wentzel Defends Renomination of Woman as Judge

By The Associated Press

J. P. Wentzel, former chief counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau, yesterday defended President Truman's reappointment of Judge Marion Harron of San Francisco to the United States Tax Court.

Wentzel told the Senate Finance Committee he believes some of the criticism directed at Judge Harron is because "a man doesn't like to be criticized by a woman."

The American Bar Association has objected to Judge Harron's reappointment to a 12-year term on grounds she is "entirely lacking in judicial temperament."

Miss Harron appeared before the committee last week in her own behalf. She also has had support from other attorneys. The committee hearing will result in a recommendation as to whether the Senate should confirm her reappointment.

100 Reported Ill From Smog Raised to Simulate Donora's

Donora, Pa., April 19 (U.P.).—More than 100 persons were reported ill tonight in an experimental reproduction of last October's "death smog" that claimed 22 lives, and antismoke leaders said the test clouds of yellowish fumes had become "a serious hazard."

The Society for Better Living in Webster, a small town across the Monongahela River, said 25 persons had been forced to seek medical treatment after the smoke clouds made them ill.

The antismoke organization urged parents to keep school children home or evacuate them from the area.

The test, supervised by the United States Public Health Service, started yesterday morning and was scheduled to end Thursday night. The scientists sought the cause of the death-dealing smog which gripped the area for four days last October.

Furnaces of the American Steel & Wire Co. zinc plant here stepped up operation 20 per cent to the level that prevailed during the smog tragedy last October.

Steady winds have kept the air in Donora clear, but heavy banks of yellowish smoke piled up in Webster this afternoon. A veering air current swept them away tonight, but a civic group declared: "A danger does exist and the society strongly urges Webster residents to recognize it and take appropriate action."

Unknown Number Of Casualties Is Reported; Vessel On 'Routine' Trip

BULLETIN

Shanghai (Wednesday), April 20 (AP).—The British naval sloop Amethyst was hit by shore fire in the Yangtze River today and beached between Shanghai and Nanking. She suffered an unknown number of casualties.

The ship, similar to a small destroyer, about 1375 tons, was fired upon about 9 o'clock this morning near Kouanchen, about 65 miles northeast of Nanking. The Amethyst was commanded by Lieut. Comdr. B. M. Skinner. Her normal complement is about 120 men.

A British consulate source here said the sloop was on a routine trip to Nanking on "the invitation of the Chinese government."

Nanking (Wednesday), April 20 (U.P.).—The three-day Communist ultimatum expired early today, and outnumbered Nationalist defenders of South China braced themselves for an all-out Communist attack on the vital Yangtze River line.

A full-scale renewal of the civil war seemed certain as the Nationalist government rejected the Communist surrender demands.

Reliable sources said Acting President Li Tsung-jen and his advisers had flatly rejected three key items in the Communist demand for what amounted to unconditional surrender:

1. Occupation by Red troops of 10 points south of the Yangtze.
2. Reorganization of Nationalist armies by a Communist-dominated "joint committee."
3. Formation of a "coalition government"—hand-picked by the Communists.

Li's 11-man government committee met to draft a formal rejection, which official sources said would be presented to the Reds today by government peace delegates in Peiping.

It was believed Li would offer formal counter-proposals, but there was no indication that the Reds would accept anything less than unconditional surrender.

Provincial officials reported fighting had already resumed in besieged Taiyuan, last government outpost in North China.

A spokesman at the Shansi provincial government's office here said more than 1000 artillery shells had been fired into Taiyuan in a fierce bombardment begun Monday night, apparently as a prelude to infantry attack on the encircled city.

Three Communist field armies, said by the Red radio to total 1,200,000 men, are poised on the north bank of the Yangtze ready to try to force a crossing. Relia-

U. S. Condemns Prosecution Of Clergymen

Lake Success, N. Y., April 19 (U.P.).—The United States today roundly condemned Hungary and Bulgaria for their prosecution of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and other church leaders but cautioned the United Nations against appointing a commission to investigate churchmen's trials behind the iron curtain.

United States Delegate Benjamin V. Cohen told the main Political Committee of the U. N. General Assembly that there is reason to believe that the Balkan clergymen "are being persecuted and tried not for the offenses with which they are charged but because the governments had decided to liquidate them as sources of independent opinion."

The committee had before it a resolution offered by Cuba to appoint a 15-nation commission for an on-the-spot investigation of the churchmen's trials. The United States, cool to the Cuban proposition, favored relying on provisions in the peace treaties with the Balkan nations to censure Hungary and Bulgaria for the prosecutions.

Cohen said the United States had no intention of interfering in the internal affairs of the Balkan states but "concern over violations of

Gov. Folsom Would Pension All at 65

GOV. JAMES FOLSOM
". . . Support everybody"

By The Associated Press

A Government check every month for everyone over 65 was proposed yesterday by Alabama's Gov. James E. Folsom.

He called it the "Jim Folsom Plan," in testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee, which is studying President Truman's recommendations for expanding the social security system to take in more workers, heard from two Folsoms yesterday. The other was Marion B. Folsom of Rochester, N. Y., treasurer of the Eastman Kodak Co. The men are not related.

Although both Folsoms recommended that old-age insurance coverage be extended to farmers, professional people, and small businessmen, Marion B. Folsom disagreed with some particulars of President Truman's program. For one thing, he doesn't want social security taxes increased as much as suggested.

Spars With Doughton

Governor Folsom sparred with Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) on details of the present law, and after the flurry conceded he had lost the round. Then Representatives Mills (D., Ark.) and Lynch (D., N. Y.) took him on briefly.

When it was over, the youthful Governor concluded with a shout:

"I would suggest a general tax to support everybody. I'm just interested in seeing that everybody gets a monthly check from the Government when they get to be 65."

Earlier, he said the farmers of Alabama pay taxes to support the Federal social security program, but collect no benefits. Doughton asked him whether the Government itself contributes part of the benefit payments. Folsom said he thought so.

"Entirely Ignorant"

"You don't seem to know a thing about it," Doughton snapped. "You seem to be entirely ignorant of the system."

The chairman said the Government's only contribution from general taxes is for administration of the system. Benefit payments, he added, come from contributions made by employers and employes.

"Sir, I stand corrected," the Governor said.

Folsom told Mills that Alabama farmers should be covered by social security, that they would be willing to pay whatever is necessary.

"They're begging for it," he said.

Lynch asked Folsom whether he knew that New York pays $18 per capita in Federal taxes every year, but receives only $1 in Federal benefits of all kinds. Folsom said he did not know that, but Alabama chips in $500,000,000 to the Federal government and gets back less than $100,000,000.

Crack at United States Steel

"United States Steel has robbed Alabama for years, and I suppose it pays its taxes from New York," he said. "But they never send a dollar of their millions back to Alabama, except for the pittance they pay in wages down there."

The Rochester Folsom was first on the stand. He urged that social security coverage be broadened, and that old age and survivors' benefits be raised.

If all gainfully employed persons are covered, as the President has asked, the number would be jumped from the present 30 million workers to 50 million.

Folsom said the tax rate on employes' pay, and employers' payrolls, should go from its present 1 per cent to 1½ per cent when benefits are increased. They are due to make the jump automatically on January 1.

He advised against setting up a plan for temporary disability benefits. Disability cases, he said, can best be handled by State or local governments.

Truman Signs Rent Control For District

A bill extending rent control in the District to June 30 of next year was signed by President Truman yesterday.

District Rent Administrator Robert F. Cogswell said the bill will result in little change in the administration of rent control here.

He said he is preparing forms for handling of housing conversion cases. Under the new law, such units are subject to control until the administrator is convinced the changes have resulted in creation of "additional self-contained family units."

Cogswell said applicants for the decontrol will be required to execute forms indicating what changes have been made and then rent examiners will make inspection to determine whether kitchen and bathroom facilities have been provided for each newly created unit. These will be necessary to meet the "self-contained" clause, Cogswell declared.

The inspections may require addition of an examiner over the present staff plus the one allowed in the 1950 fiscal budget.

Other features of the new bill are the dropping of criminal penalties, decontrolling of hotels with 50 rooms or less, and a new limitation on changing over apartment houses from private to cooperative ownership.

Ammunition Blast Shakes All Tientsin

By A. T. Steele

Aboard the Steamship Hupeh, April 17 (Delayed) (NYHT).—A munitions depot blew up with spectacular force outside Communist-occupied Tientsin yesterday, and the entire city was jarred by the concussion.

Reports were that between 30 and 50 persons, all Chinese, were killed.

The blast coincided with the arrival in Tientsin of a large detachment of Communist troops, apparently on the way from Manchuria to the battlefields in the Yangtze Valley.

American Aid Still Flowing Into China

Shanghai, April 19 (AP).—American aid still flowed into Nationalist China today despite the threat of renewed civil warfare.

The 300th ship carrying United States relief goods under the Economic Cooperation Administration docked at Shanghai.

In a speech at the dock, R. Allen Griffin, acting ECA chief for China, said that continued aid under current conditions is evidence "the people of America want to help their friends in China."

He referred to the recent congressional approval of an additional 54 million dollars in aid for China from unexpended ECA funds. Most American aid has been "commodities for consumption," Griffin said.

housing only "as a last resort." NCHA is the local housing authority which would be charged with carrying out the provisions of public housing under the pending national measure.

Ihlder emphasized that the land agency is primarily interested in slum clearance, not low rent housing, and does not have authority to rebuild specifically for public housing.

Can't Build in Mid-Air

"NCHA cannot build low-rent housing in midair," he said.

On the slum clearance front, downtown planning officials indicated yesterday that lack of programs thus far also rests with Congress' failure to appropriate funds.

"The whole program is in a mess," commented Mark Lansburgh, chairman of the Redevelopment Land Agency. "We are hopeful, but as yet we are making no progress."

The 1946 Slum Clearance Act called for a 10-year 20-million-dollar program to "wipe out or rebuild" Washington's blighted areas. The Seventy-ninth and Eightieth Congress both turned thumbs down on requests to carry out the act.

For positive action to date, Landsburgh can only point to completion of plans for one area, the Marshall Heights project in southeast Washington.

Plans Await Approval

The plan is now before the Commissioners for approval prior to submission to Congress. President Truman, in his budget message last January, said he would ask for funds at that time to cover this first phase of the 10-year program, now three years old.

"At that rate," said Ihlder, "the slum clearance act of 1946 will have an end result of acquiring land for possibly 2100 new family units.

"And today there are 18,000 low-income families in desperate need of decent housing."

Lack of funds, coupled with no authority to purchase, is likewise holding up NSHA's efforts to raze alley slums which was ordered by the Alley-Dwelling Act of 1934. the five million dollars appropriation provided in the act was never made. Ihlder said only $865,000 has been available for alley condemnation work.

Ihlder said there are about 1300 alley dwellings which should be razed. However, it would be "futile" to do this, he explained, unless the areas surrounding the dwelling—also substandard—were condemned and treated as an overall redevelopment project.

The woman sold most of Schultz's goods, helped load the body on his truck, and the family drove back to Delaware.

Schultz's body was buried beside Wooldridge in the pigpen. Later both were dug up, burned, and the charred remains scattered on the city dump.

Barnes hinted the first break in the case came from Mrs. Dolly Thompson Dean, 26, a former nurse's aid, who had accompanied Mrs. Brennan to the farm after an operation last year.

Mrs. Dean, reporting "strange doings" at the farm, told Barnes she left the Brennan place recently, but didn't say anything to police because she was afraid she would be harmed.

Barnes said Robert's statements were corroborated by Raymond. George is in the Army now, stationed in Texas.

Six times she fainted. Finally she cried out:

"Take me out of here! The way the boys said it—that's how it was."

Charges of first-degree murder were filed against Robert and Mrs. Brennan in the Wooldridge slaying. Raymond is accused of being an accessory, the same charge to be filed against George.

Five Shocked Senators See Capital Slums

Capitol, under the very shadow of its dome.

An epidemic here in these disease-blighted rat-ridden hovels, Morse sardonically reminded the Senate, won't stop in the shacks of the poor, but will reach into the nearby luxurious apartments—some occupied by members of Congress.

Visit Teeming Alleys

The five toured the alleys around 219 F st. sw., Pleasant Court, an alley near 326 G st. sw., and Dixon Court.

All of the teeming, foul-smelling shanties were depressingly alike. As Morse put it, "Human decency itself cannot exist here."

The hovels where 10 or 12 persons crowd into a single bedroom were without running water, indoor toilets or electric lights.

Water is furnished for several families from a single outdoor spigot in the garbage littered alleys outside the squalid shacks. All have outdoor privies—most of them makeshift affairs of galvanized tin affording a minimum of privacy.

Police Sergeant Ernest Fuller pointed toward one at Pleasant Court.

Some Cook Outdoors

Some of the shacks have coal stoves inside. At other places families cook in the alley.

The highest income of any family interviewed by the Senators is $35 a week, but that figure is rare.

Most of the families just "hustle" for existence, as they put it. Sometimes it's a dollar a day; sometimes even less. Some of the men "hustle coal." Some of the women go out as day-workers in privileged households.

But by crowding four families into quarters less than adequate for one, the shacks are made to yield some $54 in rents per month, the Senators found.

"Lucrative Properties"

"These slum dwellings are revenue-producing, lucrative properties," Morse shouted angrily to the Senate when he returned.

Police Captain Paul L. Barnes told the Senators there are about two thousands of these hovels in Washington, housing both Negroes and whites.

Douglas estimated that must mean that at least 10,000 persons are penned up in these shacks.

Dr. John R. Pate, health officer in the Southwest area, said tuberculosis and syphilis are his two greatest problems.

But, he warned, any epidemic at all might suddenly break out there like a scourge and sweep the city.

Overcrowded Home

At 219 F st. sw., the Senators crowded into the dark, airless two-room place which houses the family of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Fox. Their nine children, one grandchild and Fox's crippled father share two rooms. The grandfather lost one leg—tuberculosis of the bone—and can't work. He sleeps, when he can, on a rusty bedspring in a backyard littered with garbage and trash.

Fox pays $13 a month rent and "hustles" coal for a living—when he can.

Sweetness and Light

Returning to the Capitol, the Senators drove by a low-rent public housing project for Negroes.

Neat curtains hung in the windows, children played on green lawns, flowers touched the home with gayiety, and in the back yards clean white clothes fluttered on the clotheslines.

These are some of the families who once lived in slums, Douglas reminded the Senate. Give people a chance, he urged, and they will live with human dignity.

Morse pointed out that a great many of the slum dwellings had been condemned for some years but that District of Columbia courts always were granting extensions because there is no other place to put the occupants.

Can't Sleep on Grass

He also commented that in the District of Columbia the dwellers in squalor were forbidden the right "to sleep on God's green earth in the public parks" and must snatch a sleep on hot days in trash laden yards and alleys.

Senator William Knowland (R., Calif.) inquired if Congress in its capacity as municipal council for the District of Columbia has been neglecting its duty in demanding that health ordinances be enforced.

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (D., Minn.) replied that it was difficult to enforce health ordinances when there was no place to put the people if a slum dwelling is shut down. Other cities have similar problems, said Humphrey, who introduced telegrams from mayors of 60 cities urging passage of the bill.

To Press for Vote

Before the Senate adjourned last night, Democratic Whip Francis Myers (D., Pa.) said he would hold the Senate in session an extra hour today in the hope of reaching a vote on the housing bill.

GOP Leader Kenneth Wherry (Nebr.) indicated he would cooperate.

There are, however, a number of amendments, including a controversial non-segregation provision, to be considered.

Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) one of the bill's 23 bi-partisan sponsors introduced two amendments. One would knock out what Republicans dub the "outhouse" section—a $12,500,000 program of grants for temporary repairs to homes and buildings on sub-marginal farms.

The other would reduce from 250,000 to 175,000 the maximum number of housing units to which the President could step up the program in any one year. It would not affect the six-year maximum total of 810,000.

Acheson to Testify On Arms Aid Plans

By Murrey Marder
Post Reporter

Secretary of State Acheson will go before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday to discuss the relation of the controversial arms aid to western Europe with the North Atlantic Pact.

After that meeting in executive session, the committee will decide on a date for opening hearings on the 12-nation defense treaty, Chairman Connally (D., Tex.) announced.

More controversy over the proposed military aid program—expected to provide between $1,200,000,000 and $1,800,000,000 the first year for the pact nations and such other countries as Greece, Turkey and Iran—was touched off yesterday.

Asked in the morning if the arms program will be made public before ratification of the treaty, Connally said:

"It is possible, but I don't think we will do it."

Up to Committee

Then he added, "That was just a guess—it's up to the committee."

Interpreted by some reporters as meaning that public disclosure of the arms program would not be made until the treaty had been acted on by the Senate, where it requires a two-thirds vote, the story brought prompt reaction from a number of Senators who have insisted they have full facts on the arms program before acting on the treaty.

"The country should have all the details, including the cost" of the arms aid, said Senator Byrd (D., Va.), "While I do not necessarily think it is a part of the pact," he said, "the facts should be made public."

Point Not Yet Decided

Later, Connally told reporters he apparently had been misunderstood about his previous comment. He said he had not stated the military program would be withheld until after the treaty ratification, but that it was a point which was not yet decided.

At his earlier press conference he said the pact, which is already before the Senate for action, "would be a good enterprise" alone, for "anything that has peace as an objective is a good thing whether it provides anybody arms or not."

Secretary Acheson has stated that information about the arms program will be available to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when it considers the pact. The State Department yesterday had no further comment on the situation.

When Acheson appears before the committee Thursday, Connally said, he will discuss the pact and the proposed arms aid in a general talk on foreign policy developments in Germany and other areas.

Differ on Jurisdiction

Both Connally's committee and the Senate Armed Services Committee, headed by Senator Tydings (D., Md.) claim jurisdiction over the arms program. Connally said yesterday that while he and Tydings have discussed this, they have not come to any agreement.

While general support of the pact is indicated on Capitol Hill, each day has brought new debate whether approval of the treaty carries a "moral obligation" to send arms to support the all-for-one-one-for-all alliance against aggression.

Jenner Sees Entanglement

In a radio debate last night, Senator Jenner (R., Ind.) declared that by approving the pact:

"We would be committed not only to a military program that would entangle us in the centuries-old hatreds of Europe, but we would be obligated to a program of economic aid to the other member nations for two long decades to come."

Instead, he declared, "We could accomplish the same purpose merely by extending the Monroe Doctrine to the countries that have indicated a desire to join with us in fighting for freedom if and when the need arises."

Sparkman Favors Treaty

Speaking on the same program, in support of the pact, Senator Sparkman (D., Ala.) said he favors the treaty because, "I believe it will help avoid another world war."

The costs which may arise from backing the pact, said Sparkman, are "cheap insurance" in contrast to "the expense of present and proposed international programs to avoid another world-wide conflict."

CORDELL HULL
Home again

Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull has fully recovered from the long illness that forced his resignation in 1944 and has left the Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital, it was disclosed yesterday.

Hospital authorities said the 77-year-old "father of the United Nations" left the hospital Monday after making an "excellent recovery" and had "returned to his home permanently."

The white-haired elder statesman was so much better, in fact, that he went shopping with Mrs. Hull yesterday, and took a drive through Rock Creek Park. He hopes to visit his native Tennessee soon.

Hull, who held the Nation's chief foreign policy post longer than any of his predecessors, had been in the hospital since September 11, 1946. A Navy spokesman said he was worn out from "long overwork" and that his recovery was "gradual."

Born in a Tennessee mountain log cabin, Hull now makes his home in an apartment in the Wardman Park Hotel.

Mrs. Hull described her husband's return to health a "remarkable recovery from a grave illness."

Plan Studied To Hold India In Empire

London, April 19 (U.P.).—A plan which would enable an independent India to keep her membership in the British Commonwealth will be proposed at the top-secret meeting of commonwealth prime ministers opening here Thursday, it was reported today.

A leading delegate said the compromise, if it works, would assure the world-wide federation of nations of the support of India's millions, probably making a pacific defense pact unnecessary.

India, by far the most populous country in the commonwealth, has announced plans to make herself an independent republic. As an independent nation, she could no longer accept aven the nominal control of a governor-general appointed by the British King.

Under the proposed compromise, the Indian people would elect a president who would pormally be designated as King George VI's representative in India after the election.

India would have the same full control over her affairs as the seven other commonwealth nations—Australia, Canada, Ceylon, New Zealand, Pakistan, South Africa and Britain, herself.

The other "dominions," however, recognize the fiction of royal control and recognize governors-general appointed by the King as their nominal sovereigns.

King George will give a luncheon for the delegates at Buckingham Palace Thursday—the largest official function the King has attended since his operation last month.

Mediterranean Pact Talks Reported Begun

London (Wednesday), April 20 (U.P.). — The Daily Telegraph diplomatic writer said today that initial talks on a Mediterranean defense pact already have been held at high levels.

The newspaper said definite proposals for drawing up such an alliance will be made shortly either by London or Washington.

The Telegraph said that signatories will most likely be the United States, Britain, France, Greece, Turkey, Italy and possibly Spain.

Woman Saves Girl, 4, Down 40-Foot Well

Des Moines, April 19 (AP).—A neighbor who modestly discounted her action today saved the life of a 4-year-old girl who fell into a 40-foot well.

Mrs. B. C. Jamison kept the head of Betty Johnson above water even after the rope holding the woman broke.

The child was trapped an estimated 25 minutes.

The 37-year-old mother was lowered into the 30-inch well shaft after Betty slipped into it while playing. The well contained 30 feet of water.

A clothesline supporting Mrs. Jamison broke as she tried to tie a line around the body of Betty, who was chin-deep in water, pinned fortunately between a pipe and the well's side. Mrs. Jamison braced herself similarly after the rope snapped.

A man, whose name was not learned, then was lowered into the shaft head-first. He grasped Betty's wrist and pulled her to safety past Mrs. Jamison. The latter then was raised to the ground by a second rope lowered by firemen.

Betty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Johnson, was uninjured except for a bump on the head.

Clay Refers Blockade to Washington

Berlin, April 19 (U.P.).—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military commander, said today that if the Russians want to make any offer to end the Berlin blockade negotiations will have to start on the government level in Washington, London and Paris.

Clay said he knew of no Russian feelers toward lifting the blockade and getting the Western Allies to lift their counter-blockade of the Soviet occupation zone.

Diplomatic quarters reported the Western Allies would be ready to hold a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers to discuss all German problems provided that Russia first ended its blockade of Berlin, but that they would not commit themselves to suspend their plans for a separate German regime in their zones.

Rumors flew thicker every day of Russian feelers to end the present deadlock in Germany but there has not been a single specific development.

The latest report came from Germans who said they could "confirm" that Russian Gen. Leonid Georgiev-Malinin had been sent to Washington on a special mission. There have been rumors for days that a mysterious General Malinin was on his way to Washington.

'Spies' Add Zest To U.S. War Games In German Zone

Nuernberg, Germany, April 19 (AP).—Pseudo spies added a warlike touch to American training maneuvers in Germany today.

The high command turned loose about 30 Americans to pose as enemy agents and saboteurs in a test of security precautions.

It was a surprise to the 70,000 U. S. troops in the field, but they took it in stride. They had assumed the "enemy aggressor" force in the maneuvers existed only on paper, aside from the American F-80 jets and F-47 Thunderbolts which sped about in the role of raiders.

Lieut. Owen O. Wright, assigned to a forward constabulary tank company, told newsmen: "We had enemy role, but last night we got suspicious when a man in an American captain's uniform showed up and asked for some information. It turned out he was a 'spy' and we catpured him."

Reporters and photographers covering the maneuvers found the soldiers taking their security precautions seriously. Newsmen were asked for their credentials every place they went.

Greek Guerillas Seize Brigadier Marcopoulos

Athens, Greece, April 19 (AP). Greek Army Brigadier Marcopoulos was wounded and taken prisoner by Communist guerillas last night about 40 miles southwest of Delphi, press dispatches said today.

Marcopoulos, a garrison commander, was the first senior Greek army officer to fall into guerilla hands.

Intellectuals Fleeing Reds Into U. S. Zone, Clay Reports

Berlin, April 20 (Wednesday) (U.P.).—Gen. Lucius D. Clay reported today that intellectuals are fleeing Soviet-occupied territory in increasing numbers.

In a report to Washington made public today, the American commander in Germany disclosed that 8447 refugees had arrived in Berlin from Soviet-occupied territory since January 1.

In the week ended April 2, he said, 768 refugees arrived at a special "refugee office" set up by the Western Berlin city government to care for fugitives from Communist rule.

"An increasing number of lawyers, judges, and teachers have been arrivin ," Clay said.

The report was regarded here as an indication that the well-planned Soviet campaign to attract professional workers had failed. Along with indoctrination designed to convince them of the merits of the Soviet system and the evils of the West, Soviet zone intellectuals have been receiving benefits once reserved only for workers.

Early this month, the Soviet zone's German Economic Commission ordered improved living conditions for teachers, scientists, engineers, artists, physicians and other professional workers. Special apartments were ordered constructed for them and Communist authorities said they would be issued more food.

Young Rev. Melish Denies He Is Red

New York, April 19 (AP).—The Rev. William Howard Melish was asked point blank in State Supreme Court today if he was a Communist and promptly replied "I am not."

The assistant rector of Brooklyn's Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity added that he never had been a member of the Communist Party and did not believe in party doctrines.

He has been under fire by his vestrymen for outside activities. His father, the Rev. Dr. John Howard Melish, rector of the church, has defied a bishop's order to leave the pulpit he has held for 45 years.

Today's testimony came at a hearing for nine anti-Melish vestrymen who are seeking to block a counter-move by pro-Melish supporters to oust them.

Young Melish recently resigned as chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, alleged by Attorney General Tom Clark to be subversive. He remained as a director, however.

The Rt. Rev. James P. De Wolfe, Bishop of the Long Island Episcopal Diocese, who moved to oust the elder Melish, testified today that he never had called the father and son Communists.

"However, I believe young Dr. Dr. Melish has been interested in some Communist activities," the Bishop said. "I've attended some lectures he has given and they are repellant to the church."

Priest Calls Action 'Brutal'

Father Feeney had "lost the right to perform any priestly functions, including preaching and the teaching of religion."

Father Feeney is spiritual adviser for a lay organization for students—St. Benedict's Center, near Harvard University. He said he had been ordered from the diocese seven months ago. Although attendance at the center has been forbidden to Catholics by Archbishop Cushing, directors of the center said it "will not be dissolved by such a decree."

Action Called Brutal

The priest said of the archbishop's order:

"What humiliation my priesthood, and sympathetically the priesthood of my two brothers, will take because of this brutal action when I sought to protect four brave Catholic boys in a profession of faith similar to my own, our Blessed Lady alone knows."

Father Feeney was ordained in 1928. From 1936 to 1940 he served as literary editor of the national Catholic weekly, America. He holds a master of arts degree from Woodstock (Md.) College.

In addition, Khachaba said, Egypt would demand that its border be moved westward to include all the Solum Plateau and the town of Bardia.

Egypt also demanded that the desert oasis of Djaghboub, ceded to Italy in 1925, be returned to Egyptian sovereignty.

Reds of 49 Nations Meet for Paris Peace Parley Attack on Pact

Paris, April 19 (AP)—Communist and Leftist leaders from 49 nations converged on Paris today to launch the World Peace Congress Wednesday.

The rank of delegates indicated the congress would be an organized offensive on the propaganda front against the North Atlantic Treaty. The pact has been called an instrument of war in the Communist press.

In Prague, Czechoslovakia's Communists hastily organized an "overflow" peace congress for some delegates from behind the iron curtain who had not been permitted to attend the Paris meeting. The French government refused to allow more than eight delegates from each of several Communist-dominated countries.

Russian, Chinese, Mongolian, Polish, Romanian and Hungarian delegates will be among those at the Prague congress, which will run five days, concurrently with the Paris meeting.

Pietro Nenni, Italian pro-Communist Socialist, is scheduled to make one of the first reports to the Paris gathering Wednesday afternoon. He said it would concern the origins and background of the North Atlantic alliance.

Frederick Joliot-Curie, member of the French Communist Party and chairman of the French Atomic Energy Commission, will make the opening address to the 2000 or more delegates. He is expected to denounce the armaments race which the congress promoters say has been provoked by Western powers, especially the United States.

Before the trail adjourned until Friday, with a recess for the Jewish holiday's Nicodemus testified that he no longer was a member of the party, that he attended his last meeting in January, 1946.

On the stand earlier was William O. Nowell, a Negro and former Communist, who joined the party in detroit and was assigned to organizing Negroes for party membership.

Nowell testified that, after he left the party, Communist fellow-employes at the Ford Motor Co. plant tried to hurt him.

"They were attempting to drop things off cranes on me and push things off stockpiles on me—I saw them," he said.

Nowell testified also that he was continually being fired from jobs at the Ford, Dodge and Chevrolet plants because Communists in the union brought pressure on the company to discharge him.

Suit to Clear Name Of Group Dismissed

Judge Matthew F. McGuire yesterday dismissed a suit brought by the International Workers Order, Inc., asking it be stricken from the Government's "subversive list."

The District Court jurist ruled that the organization lacked the capacity to bring suit.

The decision was made in a test case which challenged both constitutionality of portions of the Government's loyalty program and the power of the Government to fire Federal employes for membership in groups listed as subversive.

The IWO was described in its suit as an interracial, fraternal benefit and cultural society with 185,000 members in 1880 lodges in 18 States and the District of Columbia when the Attorney General placed it along with some 90 other organizations on the subversive list.

In dismissing the suit, Judge McGuire said:

"It is Hornbook (elementary) law that in order to maintain an action of an equitable character, plaintiff must show an unlawful invasion of some legally protected right . . . It is equally true that not all governmental action, harmful though it admittedly may be to particular individuals, is susceptible of judicial review."

The judge added that the "subversive list" was set up to be used as evidence of an employe's loyalty or disloyalty and is not a control on officials contemplating discharge of personnel.

Auto Workers Defeated by Farm Equipment Union in Harvester Plant Vote

Chicago, April 19 (AP).—The United Farm Equipment Workers Union defeated its CIO rival, the United Auto Workers, in a collective bargaining election today at an International Harvester Co. plant.

The outcome was a setback for the UAW in its campaign to win over workers from FE.

Martin H. Schneid, National Labor Relations Board examiner, gave these results:

FE. 2474 votes; UAM, 2059; Neither, 98; void, 54; challenged, 5.

Merger of the rival unions under the UAW had been ordered by the CIO's executive board. The FE has defied the CIO order.

In a similar election last week, the UAW defeated the FE at two Allis-Chalmers plants in Springfield, Ill. Previousy, the UAW captured bargaining rights which had been held by the FE at the caterpillar tractor plant, East Peoria, Ill., and the John Deere tractor works, Dubuque, Iowa.

Realty Lobby Indictment Ruled Out

District Court Judge Edward M. Curran yesterday dismissed an indictment charging the United States Savings and Loan League with violating the Federal Lobbying Act.

The judge said the indictment was "too vague and indefinite" on one count and failed to cite actual cases of lobbying in two other counts. He said mere agreement to perform a lobbying service does not require a registration and the Government, which brought the action, had not shown an actual case of lobbying in the indictment.

The league is an organization of savings and loan associations and cooperative banks and has taken an active stand on housing legislation. Its executive head is Morton Bodfish, a registered lobbyist, with Abner Ferguson, also registered and former head of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, the Washington counsel.

The indictment was returned by the Federal grand jury here on March 30, 1948, before the league itself had registered.

Benjamin F. Pollack of the Justice Department's lobbying unit said yesterday the department probably will file an information to correct the shortcomings of the indictment pointed to by Judge Curran. Pollack said such a move would make possible trial of the organization despite the judge's action yesterday.

Speaking for the Savings and Loan League, Bodfish declared the organization considered the decision "a complete vindication of our position that we had not intentionally or otherwise violated the law."

Sports Fans Stage Riot At Berlin Bicycle Race

Berlin, April 19 (AP).—Hundreds of Berlin sports fans nursed bruises today after a stormy three-hour riot at a bicycle race in the Russian sector of the city yesterday. A large portion of a crowd of 25,000 was involved.

Cause of the tumult was failure of the management to provide a loudspeaker for the stadium. Fans complained they couldn't follow the race and demanded their money back. A wave of booing developed into a mass of fist-fighting. Race officials were beaten up.

Along Our Street

with Aunt Penny

Anne Lawler called this morning about next week's church supper. She wanted each of us on the committee to call a list of people so we'll know how many to expect.

After I'd finished the breakfast dishes, I sat down at the telephone and started calling one person right after another. I was down to the fourth name on my list before I stopped to think of the other folks on my party line. Here I'd tied up the line for fifteen minutes without a break. Supposing someone else on the line wanted to make a call!

Needless to say, I ended my "calling marathon" right then and there. I'll make the rest of those calls later on in the day, one by one and spaced several minutes apart.

AFL Leaders Assail 'Vicious' Wood Bill

By Sam Stavisky
Post Reporter

Leaders of the American Federation of Labor yesterday denounced the Wood bill as "more vicious and more oppressive" than the Taft-Hartley Act.

The Wood bill is being backed by a Republican-Southern Democrat coalition.

The AFL's legislative conference, in session here yesterday, analyzed the Wood bill and declared:

"Wherever the restrictions of the Taft-Hartley Act are loosened, it is for the most part in unimportant respects, and, on the other hand, the most objectionable of the Taft-Hartley Act provisions — those dealing with injunctions against labor organizations—are considerably strengthened."

Sponsors of the Wood bill argue that their bill, while retaining the basic provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act, eliminates inequities that developed in the Taft-Hartley management-labor relations law.

But the AFL wants nothing of the Wood bill. The Wood bill could "not under any circumstances" be considered an adequate substitute for the Lesinski bill, the AFL leaders declared yesterday.

The Lesinski bill is the Truman-sponsored, labor-backed House measure to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act and restore the Wagner Act with "improvements." The Senate version of the Lesinski bill is the Thomas bill.

The Wood bill throws "several sops in labor's direction," the AFL conference declared, but "in reality the bill enlarges and strengthens" what organized labor dislikes most about the Taft-Hartley law.

One of the Wood bill additions would give the general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board greater power and discretion in obtaining injunctions against unions charged with unfair labor practices, according to the AFL analysis of the legislation.

Safeguards "Eliminated"

Furthermore, Taft-Hartley's "few safeguards" on the issuance of injunctions in cases involving jurisdictional strikes are eliminated in the Wood bill, the AFL said.

The Wood bill "strengthens" the injunction-enforced compulsory 80-day cooling-off period in emergency labor-management disputes, according to the AFL. This provision is perhaps the one most bitterly opposed by organized labor.

Under the Taft-Hartley Act, the President may seek an 80-day cooling-off injunction after he has appointed and received a report from a fact-finding board. Under the Wood act, the AFL says, the injunction could be obtained at any time, even before the fact-finding board reported on the situation.

"The Wood bill would therefore arouse all the antagonisms that are automatically induced by the issuance of any injunction . . . before the President is empowered to even try to bring about conciliation or settlement of the issues," the AFL asserted.

Tax Rise Held Peril to Jobs

The Tool Owners Union said yesterday a dollar of private investment money is 14 times more effective in creating jobs than a dollar of Government funds.

The organization was founded in 1946 by Allen W. Rucker, a business consultant who lives in Lexington, Mass.

In an economic report written by Rucker, the organization predicted a net loss of at least 2,455,000 jobs if Congress approves a proposed tax increase of four billion dollars.

Introduced By Hartley

Former Representative Fred Hartley (R., N. J.), who recently was made president of the Tool Owners Union, issued a statement saying the Rucker report is of "transcendent importance." He said it presents "the first scientifically documented proof of the absolute fallacy of the famous 'pump-priming' theory, as advocated by the late John Maynard Keynes." Keynes was a British economist.

Hartley called a news conference at which Rucker discussed the report. Replying to questions, Rucker said the Tool Owners Union has 35,000 members, who paid dues ranging from $1 to $100 a year.

Organization Described

When asked for a one sentence description of the Tool Owners Union, Rucker said: "You may call it an organization of individuals who own productive property or tools whose purpose is to restore the incentive and ability to save and to invest their savings and in enlarging the Nation's capacity to produce."

He said all stockholders and holders of insurance policies and saving accounts are tool owners.

Rucker told the reporters: "I have been called a Fascist and even a Communist but I am about the same general garden variety of American as you are."

National headquarters of the Tool Owners Union are at Lexington, Mass. Hartley is in charge of a Washington office.

4 New Assistant State Secretaries Approved

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday approved a bill to give the Secretary of State four new assistant secretaries.

The Hoover Commission on Government Reorganization had recommended adding two assistant undersecretaries, and two deputy assistant undersecretaries.

If the bill is approved by Congress, the Secretary then would have 10 assistants.

7500 Ready For Strike at Bendix Today

South Bend, Ind., April 19 (AP). About 7500 workers at the products division of the Bendix Aviation Corp. were ready today to strike at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The scheduled walkout will climax a dispute which began smouldering last January.

The company last night rejected as "unreasonable" three demands presented by Local 9 of the CIO United Automobile Workers.

The union, which had just returned its workers to their jobs yesterday after a week's stoppage, demanded that:

1. Adjustments be made in production standards so workers would have the same take-home pay they had in January.

2. Forty-seven workers discharged from the brake shoe department because of an alleged slowdown be reinstated with full back pay.

3. The company dismiss a lawsuit against the union charging more than one million dollars in damages because of last week's walkout.

Union Leaders Hope To Avert Atom Strike

Albuquerque, N. Mex., April 19 (AP).—Union leaders in a work stoppage involving two of the Nation's top defense plants hoped today to effect a settlement without resorting to picket lines.

Construction was slowed at the Los Alamos atomic energy project and the Army's special weapons project at Sandia Base near Albuquerque.

At present, Los Alamos has 19 prime contractors and 47 subcontractors on construction jobs.

Approximately 1600 construction workers stayed off the job yesterday in support of their demand for a 25-cent hourly raise. They now make $1.15. The New Mexico Contractors Association has offered to renew the present scale.

Strike Warning Given On Hiring Hall Issue

Hoyt Haddock, a spokesman for CIO maritime unions, told Congress yesterday the unions will strike on all United States coasts if their hiring halls are ruled illegal by the Federal courts.

Secretary of the CIO National Maritime Committee Haddock testified before the Senate Labor Committee on proposed amendments to the wage-hour law.

"The unions will not take it,' he said when asked what would happen in event of an adverse court ruling. "There will be a strike on all coasts."

The National Labor Relations Board has ruled unanimously that the hiring hall, as operated by the National Maritime Union, is illegal under the Taft-Hartley Act's ban on the closed shop.

The board directed the union to abandon the practice and has asked the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to enforce its order. A hearing has been scheduled for June 6, nine days before expiration of the union's current contract with ship operators.

Under the hiring hall, employers obtain all their workers from the union.

No Wage Law For Sea Urged

Spokesmen for shipping companies yesterday urged continued exemption of seamen from coverage of the wage-hour law. They said inclusion of their employes would lead to "outrageous pay increases for hours not worked."

But the CIO Maritime Committee, representing several CIO nautical unions, said coverage of their members would provide jobs for 25,000 seamen who are "on the beach today."

The disputing arguments were submitted in statement form to a Senate Labor Subcommittee considering Administration proposals to raise the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour and extend the coverage of the wage-hour law.

The railroads told the committee it is "unnecessary and impractical" to fix a standard workweek by law for railroad employes.

They contended the matter ought to be left, as it is now, to negotiations between the workers and the management.

Jap Coal Miners to Strike

Tokyo, April 19 (AP).—A strike of Japan's coal miners for higher wages was ordered by the miners' union for May 3.

Nearby Va. Held Lax In Mental Health Aid

Northern Virginia is neglecting its mental health problem, a lay group charged yesterday.

In a preliminary report, the Mental Hygiene Society of Northern Virginia said public institutions in Arlington and Fairfax Counties and the City of Alexandria are giving "inadequate" attention to mental health needs.

The report particularly spotlighted failure of area schools and courts to cope with the problem.

Society President Dr. Julius Schreiber, a Washington psychiatrist, said findings were tentative and will be further discussed with area public officials in a meeting Thursday.

In its survey of the mental health program in northern Virginia public schools, the report declared:

1. Most teachers "have not been trained to understand the emotional needs of their pupils."

2. There is little organized instruction on mental health principles.

3. There are inadequate facilities for diagnosis, counseling and guidance, although the report said Fairfax had a "well-developed" program in this field.

Turning to the courts, the study found they lack adequate staffs and facilities to meet mental health needs, despite efforts of judges in the three communities.

Adequate treatment of juvenile offenders is "particularly neglected," according to the report, with no receiving homes available and the jail the only place to hold juveniles.

The survey also struck at inadequate recreational facilities, particularly for Negroes.

The society has invited court, school and welfare officials from northern Virginia to discuss the problem at 8 p. m. Thursday at the Arlington Health Department, 1800 N. Edison st.

He has subsequently been a member of the President's Committee on Civil Rights and adviser to the American delegation to the United Nations Conference on Trade and Employment at Havana. He is now a member of the State Department Advisory Committee for Foreign Service.

Hospital Fire Hazard Cited In Oil Paints

Heavy coats of oil paint and inflammable curtains are two major hospital fire hazards, Dewey H. Palmer, research director of the New York Hospital Bureau of Standards and Supplies, told purchasing agents from 50 hospitals yesterday.

"The recent catastrophic fire in an Illinois hospital reemphasizes the ever-important problem of reducing fire hazards," Palmer said.

He was addressing a five-day institute for the hospital buying agents, held at the Wardman Park Hotel, and sponsored by the Maryland and District Hospital Associations.

Several noninflammable paints, which merely blister under heat, are on the market, Palmer said. The best of these, however, has a sharp odor that restricts its use to such places as elevator walls, laundry chutes and basement storage rooms, he continued.

Palmer recommended fire-resistant fiber glass as a safe curtain material.

Theater Ceiling Falls on Audience; 30 in Hospital

Houma, La., April 19 (AP).—The acoustic ceiling of a new theater crashed down on the audience tonight. Some 30 persons were rushed to a hospital for treatment of injuries. None was believed critically hurt.

Wade Scott, Houma newsman, said all the plaster and net wire on the ceiling crashed downward on the theater goers, leaving only bits of insulation and the roof itself intact.

Mayor Gary said an hour after the crash that all the injured had been removed from the debris.

I HATE DANDRUFF!

Double DANDERINE GUARANTEES DANDRUFF RELIEF

Kills dandruff-causing germ*—on contact!

Refreshingly fragrant Double Danderine is so effective that even in some of the most severe cases, results with it have been remarkable!

You can't look your best if you have dandruff. But you can do something about it. Just use Double Danderine. It's simple, quick and pleasant—and gives real relief.

This may be hard for you to believe if you've become discouraged using ordinary preparations that merely remove loose dandruff. However, the truth is that they're no more effective than plain water and brushing. For they don't destroy the germ which authorities explain is the cause of the most common kind of dandruff. But Double Danderine actually kills this germ on contact!

That's why we say Double Danderine guarantees dandruff relief. Try it. If you're not completely satisfied, return the empty bottle and your money will be refunded.

*Pityrosporum Ovale, the germ which leading authorities say is the cause of the most common kind of dandruff.

Double DANDERINE

PIN-WORMS NOW CAN BE BEATEN!

A new, scientific treatment now offers real relief to the millions who suffer from the maddening rectal itch and other miseries caused by Pin-Worms. And experts report that at least one out of every three persons is infected with these ugly pests. Whole families may have Pin-Worms and never even know it.

But now you can and should do something about this common condition. Jayne's P-W Vermifuge contains a special, medically-approved ingredient that attacks Pin-Worms in the intestine and removes them from the body.

Play it safe! At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for P-W, the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by the famous Jayne Co., specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years. Destroy those Pin-Worms . . . relieve that itch!

Just Remember: P-W ⑥ for Pin-Worms!

It must be good to grow so fast!

Sales of Mount Vernon have more than doubled in 12 short months. In some sections it has almost tripled in popular favor.

Here, there and everywhere people are learning that Mount Vernon is an exceptionally mild and flavorful blend. It has to be to qualify among the leading brands of whiskey as the fastest-growing on the market today.

Next time you order at your favorite bar or liquor store, say, "Make mine Mount Vernon." Then you'll see for yourself why this light, tasty blend is the one more and more people buy—and tell others about.

Petition for Houston Given to White House

A petition by the District branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People favoring selection of Charles H. Houston as District Commissioner was taken to the White House yesterday.

A delegation headed by the Rev. Stephen G. Spottswood, head of the unit, presented the petition to David K. Niles, an administrative assistant to President Truman. One member of the group said Niles promised to pass on the recommendation at once.

The group pointed out that it is customary for the District Board of Education to include three Negro members. The statement declared the distribution of jobs here under "dual system" in Washington would "suffer no injury if made more equitable by more equal representation of Negroes" on the Board of Commissioners.

The petition declared the Negro attorney has been indorsed for the post by three local AFL and one CIO union and by the National Farmers Union. It also said he has the indorsement of Senator Humphrey (D., Minn.) and of numerous other public figures and groups.

Others in the group presenting the petition were Edwin B. Henderson, Joseph H. B. Evans, William D. Nixon, Mrs. Ida G. Reid, Clyde C. Bannister and John B. Duncan.

D.C.-Los Angeles Daily Trip Added By American Line

American Airlines announced yesterday it will inaugurate on Sunday a new daily one-stop flight between Washington and Los Angeles.

The flight, known as the Advance Mercury, will leave Washington at 3:30 p.m. (EDT) and arrive in Los Angeles at 9:55 p.m., (PST) a scheduled time of 10 hours and 25 minutes. The return flight will leave Los Angeles at 8 a.m. (PST), arrive in Chicago at 5:30 p.m. (CDT), leave Chicago at 6 p.m. (CDT) and arrive in Washington at 9:30 p.m. (EDT), consuming nine and a half hours.

The new service, using DC-6, 52-passenger flagships, will provide a second daily non-stop round trip by American between Washington and Chicago. The Advance Mercury and the American Statesman, leaving daily except Saturdays at 5:30 p.m., will make the trip to Chicago in two hours and 40 minutes.

On its return trip, the American Statesman will leave Chicago daily except Sundays at 8 a.m.

Tito and Trizonia Agree to Trade

Frankfurt, Germany, April 18 (U.P.).—Western Germany and Yugoslavia have agreed to exchange more than 34 million dollars worth of goods this year, including machine tools for Tito's country and food for the Germans, allied officials disclosed today.

The trade agreement is the biggest to be signed between Trizonia and an iron curtain nation.

The negotiations were opened at the request of Marshal Tito's government shortly after his split with the Cominform, trade specialists said.

The machinery for Yugoslavia includes Diesel engines, spare parts for steelmaking equipment, machine tools, metal working and wood working equipment.

Calder Gets Offer Of Top Army Job

Curtis Ernest Calder, corporation officer and former director general of the War Production Board, has been offered the post of Secretary of the Army, it was learned yesterday. Whether he will accept or has accepted was not made clear.

Calder, now chairman of the Electric Bond & Share Co., would succeed Kenneth C. Royall of North Carolina, whose resignation long has been in President Truman's hands.

It was said that newly appointed Secretary of Defense Louis A. Johnson is being largely permitted to select his own heads of the armed service departments. Johnson had a 30-minute conference with President Truman yesterday.

Royall's stepping out is expected to be accompanied or followed shortly by the departure of Secretary of Navy John L. Sullivan. For his position, Jonathtan Daniels of North Carolina is reported under consideration. Daniels thus would hold the post occupied by his father, the late Josephus Daniels, during World War I.

President Truman is reported to have said he intended to give Jonathan Daniels an important appointment here, but the latter is understood to be hesitant to take the Navy secretaryship if it is likely, along with the Secretaryships of Army and Air Force, to be relegated to a status of undersecretary of Defense.

Sons Killed By Dad's Pistol

Associated Press WIREPHOTO

TRAGEDY—Kenneth, 10, and his brother, Stephen Kaye, 5, died in Scranton, Pa., Hospital yesterday, shortly after their mother found them in their home, each with a bullet in the head. Police said a preliminary investigation indicated the boys were wounded accidentally while playing with a war souvenir Belgian semiautomatic pistol owned by their father, Albert Kaye

Drive for Old Clothes Begins

Got any old clothes, unwanted sewing machines, or dust-collecting piles of unused records around the house?

Goodwill Industries, which employes 150 handicapped persons in the District to repair such articles for resale, can use them.

Discarded articles of every sort—just as long as they're repairable—are picked up gratefully by this private, non-profit organization, at a call to Metropolitan 5940.

Launching its spring collection drive in a big way yesterday, the Goodwill trucks collected more than 600 unclaimed lost and found articles, donated by the Trans Lux Theater.

Truman Opens Bond Drive

dent's home town and the place "where once the pioneers joined into large caravans for the westward trek"—to visit each of the States, "where they will become the focal point of Savings Bond sales activity."

The Air Force will first fly the covered wagons from Cedar City, Utah, where they are being made, to Independence for a parade on May 16, then will fly them to their various destinations, a Treasury Department official said. He said there would also be a covered wagon for the District.

Back of the long speaker's table in the Presidential Room were the flags of the States and above it a huge replica of a $25 savings bond with a montage of a covered wagon — symbol of the bond campaign. The symbol has been chosen because this year is the centennial of the Forty-niner gold rush.

The President, in a short extemporaneous speech following his prepared address, said he was glad the covered wagon had been picked as symbol for the drive. During the 1840's and '50's, he said, most of the covered wagons were made in Independence, his home town, and Westport, now a suburb of Kansas City—"which is a suburb of Independence, as you know."

Bonds, the President said, would provide our citizens with an "anchor to the windward."

Laughlin's Arrest Ordered by Court would be content to let things die down.

"The record," retorted Bowie, "will show that I initiated the whole investigation—including trying to get him out here, which I am still trying to do—and have made every effort humanly possibly to follow it through."

Bowie challenged Laughlin to "come out here and make his charges to the court."

Laughlin became involved in the county gambling investigation when he represented Mrs. Anna T. Keleher in a divorce action in District Court recently.

During the divorce trial, Laughlin charged that his client's husband, John B. (Sport) Keleher, once convicted gambler, conducted widespread gambling operations just over the District Line in Mount Rainier, Md.

Testified Two Hours

Subsequently, Laughlin and Mrs. Keleher were invited by Bowie to appear April 8 before the county grand jury. Both were at Upper Marlboro on that date but did not testify. They returned on April 13 and Laughlin testified before the grand jury for about two hours.

According to Laughlin, the grand jury inquired about letters in his possession relating to gambling activities in the county. Laughlin said he told the grand jury he had considered the matter and arrived at the conclusion that the letters were privileged and he could not reveal their contents without the consent of their writers.

Laughlin said he was asked to consider the matter further and, if possible, to send them to the foreman of the grand jury by April 25.

After reconsideration, he said, he again concluded the letters were privileged and on April 15 so informed the grand jury foreman, F. Bowie Addison.

According to Laughlin, after he testified on April 13 he was handed two subpenas by the sheriff as he left the courthouse. One called for Laughlin's personal appearance and the other for production of the letters.

Laughlin said he turned to Bowie and reminded him that he had appeared before the grand jury voluntarily and by law was immune from process.

"He then agreed with me," said Laughlin, "and accordingly the subpenas were withdrawn. At Mr. Bowie's request they were returned to the sheriff."

In a statement issued yesterday, Laughlin said he wished to make these three points: (1) that the letters were privileged, (2) that he was immune from process, and (3) that the subpenas were withdrawn and no subpenas were left in effect.

Up to Court, Bowie Says

Bowie declined to comment on the three points made by Laughlin.

"That matter is now in the hands of the court," he said. "The question of whether he is legally under summons to appear here is a question for the court to decide. That question will be decided as soon as he is available in the court here."

However, he disagreed with Laughlin on the version of the subpenas being served and said he had not requested they be returned to the sheriff.

The grand jury convened in the courtroom at 10:30 a. m., then repaired briefly to the private grand jury room. At 10:45 a. m., the jurors returned in a body to the courtroom and Foreman Addison handed Judge Marbury a report.

The report said that on April 13, Laughlin had been subpenaed to appear before the grand jury at 10 a. m. on April 18 and bring with him all letters received by him since January 9, 1949, relating to gambling in the county.

The report added that Laughlin had failed to appear on April 18, and stated that his failure to appear and produce the required documents "is interfering with and delaying the proceedings of said grand jurors."

Judge Marbury studied the report and then the two subpenas handed Laughlin on April 13.

"Both seem to be in proper order," he said, then directed that an attachment be issued requiring Laughlin to be brought into court when apprehended by the sheriff.

Nobody seemed to know whether the writ of attachment could be served on Laughlin in the District. The best bet seemed to be that it couldn't. However, Bowie said the question was being studied.

Laughlin said the sheriff's office telephoned him at noon yesterday and asked him if he would come to Upper Marlboro so the writ could be served.

"I told him I couldn't accommodate him to that extent," said Laughlin.

Judge Marbury was asked if the writ could be served in the District. "I can't tell you that," he replied.

"I don't know whether it can be served in the District," Deputy Sheriff E. Earle Sheriff told reporters. "We'll have to get an opinion from the court. This is the first time in 12 years that such a situation has come up."

Terror Made Wife Kill Mate, Counsel Says

Towson, Md., April 19 (AP). — Mrs. Monette Burns, 40, pumped several shots into her estranged husband while terror-stricken from a beating he was giving her last March 6.

That was her attorney's statement at the opening of Mrs. Burns' murder trial in Baltimore County Circuit Court today.

The State countered with the assertion that Burns had on his coat and was leaving his wife's Parkville home when the fatal shots were fired.

John G. Turnbull, defense counsel, told the two-judge court and jury, however, that the slain man was "wild with rage" and mistreated his wife. He said Mrs. Burns then went upstairs for a .25-caliber pistol in an effort to get away from the house.

Burns threatened to remove a joint bank account which Mrs. Burns claimed was hers, made a menacing move, and the shots were fired, the lawyer said.

A statement obtained from Mrs. Burns said she had come home with Capt. Daniel Lynch, whom she had met at a night club a few hours before, and found her husband behind the bedroom door.

Rescue Effort Hero 'Fine' After Operation

Pasadena, Calif., April 19 (AP). H. E. (Whitey) Blickensderfer, one of the heroes in the tragic Kathy Fiscu srescue effort, was reported doing "fine" tonight after a hernia operation.

The surgery was performed free today by a doctor who declined to give his name. Huntington Memorial Hospital is donating 42-year-old Whitey room and board during his convalescence.

Flanders Reports Senate Move to Form 'Little U. N.'

Montpelier, Vt., April 19 (AP).—Senator Flanders (R., Vt.) said today a proposal is being drafted in the Senate to form the 12 signatories to the North Atlantic Pact into a "Little U. N." within the United Nations.

A "considerable" group will attempt to attach this "little U. N. of the free world" to the treaty when it reaches the Senate floor for ratification by the United States, he said in an interview.

"The defense forces of the North Atlantic states could well be organized on the basis upon which it had been originally hoped to organize the police force of the United Nations," Flanders declared.

The Senate group's proposal would alter the pact in such a way that the "little U. N." could function within the United Nations, he said—and it might ultimately strengthen the U. N.

of America's Finest cars

THE MOST MODERN COSTS $875 TO $2,428 LESS* TO BUY

IN ONE NEW car today, the Nash Ambassador, you will discover an ease of handling, and comfort, and roadability exceeding anything you have known before.

Here is the one car of America's finest four that offers you all the advantages of a Unitized body-and-frame, the most important structural advance made in a car in forty years.

In the Nash Ambassador, the center of gravity is lowered for new-found roadability at all speeds. Greater rigidity and safety are obtained without useless weight. Greater beauty and complete aerodynamic efficiency are achieved, with all four wheels enclosed.

The result is a complete new feel to an automobile. And power-efficiency and quietness for which there is no comparison. As evidence, the Nash Ambassador—compared with the other three fine cars—delivers as much as 30 per cent more miles on a gallon of gasoline.

And it offers the very maximum of passenger and luggage space, and all the speed and power you would want to command. Yet it costs, in comparison, from $875 to $2,428 less* than the other three.

The superiority of the Nash Ambassador can best be appreciated by those who have driven the other three finest cars.

Your Nash dealer invites you to make this comparison, and will gladly place a Nash Ambassador at your call.

ONLY THE MOST MODERN OF AMERICA'S FOUR FINEST CARS OFFERS ALL THIS

Boy Cries for Dead Parents After Crash

All day long the sandy-haired, 7-year-old boy, hovering between life and death in room 44, Suburban Hospital, kept asking for "Mother and Daddy."

"They're both sick with colds," his grandmother said.

Or at the most, "they've been hurt," the nurse said.

No one yesterday could tell 7-year-old Lewis Edward O'Hara, jr., that both his parents and his 5-year-old sister were killed, victims of a collision Monday night near Rockville in which he himself was hurt.

They were returning from an Easter outing when their car collided with an Army trailer-truck.

Grandmother Prays

In the Government project where they lived at 10116 Brunett ave., Silver Spring—a home empty now but for herself—Mrs. Beulah Price, 46, the grandmother, sat and prayed for the recovery of the one grandchild who is "all I have left in the world."

"I am going to take care of him," Mrs. Price said. "I will not give him up."

The lad, who is in the second grade at Four Corners Elementary School, had always said he wanted to be a doctor when he grew up although everybody else had predicted he would be an artist.

The sudden, deadly crash, which wiped out all but him of his immediate family, occurred a mile north of Clarksburg, Md., on Route 240.

Hit By Army Truck

The trailer part of an Army tractor-trailer loaded with tires and driven by Pvt. Robert J. Coleman, 18, of Camp Lee, Va., apparently swung out across the road, Montgomery County police said, crushing the O'Hara car.

The father, Lewis E. O'Hara, 33, a repairman for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., his wife, Catherine, 29, and their daughter, Sandra, were killed. Easter eggs and baskets were scattered over the car, for the family had spent Easter with the father's mother in Frederick.

How Lewis Edward, jr., the lone survivor in the family car will come out, doctors could not say. His condition was called "critical."

His leg was fractured, his skull possibly fractured, and doctors had removed a piece of shell from the cornea of one eye. They would not say yesterday what effect it may have on his sight. His other eye was closed by a big bruise.

He kept calling for his mother and his daddy, not understanding why they weren't there when he needed them so, and then for "Nanna," the grandmother, who would come and hold his hand.

Coleman, driver of the trailer-truck, was charged with manslaughter and held in Montgomery County jail under $1500 bond. The other occupant of the truck, Corpl. Grover Smith, 26, also of Camp Lee, was held under $1000 bond as a material witness.

Byrd Predicts Equality in Md. Schooling

Annapolis, Md., April 19 (AP).—Dr. Harry C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, tonight urged Negro leaders to go slowly in seeking admittance of Negro undergraduates to the university.

"It will be only a short while before the Negro people have the same opportunities as the white people" in Maryland colleges, he told an audience of 100 at the Annapolis town meeting.

Byrd and Dr. Martin D. Jenkins, president of Morgan State College for Negroes, discussed the subject of "The Future of Negro Higher Education in Maryland" at the monthly forum.

Both speakers said it was not a debate, but they took opposite sides on the issues.

Byrd, in reply to a barrage of questions, said the university has a legal right to admit Negroes to College Park but that it would "fly in the face of State policy."

Jenkins quoted from a statement he said the university board of regents issued last October to the effect that students "are now being accepted or rejected" . . . "regardless of race, color or creed."

Byrd commented that "it is true, we are not going to exclude any student because he's a Negro. What the board did not say is where he is to be educated."

Jenkins said he opposed plans for regional universities as proposed by the Southern Governor's Conference under the leadership of Governor Lane, and charged that this was just another way of getting around the Negro education problem.

Jenkins said he felt Negroes would have no trouble getting along with white students at College Park.

Ex-Professor Jailed On Contempt Charge

Seattle, April 18 (AP).—Ralph Gundlach, dismissed University of Washington professor, was sentenced today to 30 days in the King County jail and fined $250 and costs.

Gundlach was convicted recently on a charge of contempt of the State Legislative Un-American Activities Committee. He was accused of refusing to tell the committee at a hearing last summer whether he was or ever had been a member of the Communist Party.

Examined the new DE SOTO? You won't know what's happened until you do!

"The Car Designed with YOU in Mind" is changing a lot of minds!

Crowds of people have visited our showrooms since the first announcement of the new De Soto. It has been very interesting to watch their reactions.

First of all, of course, they walk all around the car and admire its smart, low lines and its sleek appearance. They tell us they like its looks because it is "modern but not modernistic."

But the big surprise comes when they open those big wide doors and step inside. Lo and behold, the roof does not hit their hats. There's lots of headroom. The steering wheel is angled so it doesn't hit the driver's knees. And because the luxurious seats are chair-high, you can see everything on the road without craning your neck.

Get in. Front seat or back, they're both wider. There's more leg room for all passengers, too. And you get all this extra space without sacrifice of convenience, because the outside dimensions of the new De Soto are not increased. You can still park with ease. And you needn't rebuild that garage.

Before you make any decision about any new car, come in and let us show you the interesting new features in this De Soto. Let us explain the famous Tip-Toe Hydraulic Shift with Fluid Drive, that lets you drive without shifting. We invite you to compare this car with any other at any price . . . for beauty, comfort, safety and value.

Tune in "Hit the Jackpot" every Tuesday night over all CBS stations

Dogs Or Children

Nearly 6000 dogs are destroyed each year at the District pound. It is ridiculous, in light of this fact, that District medical schools and research institutions have to dicker with questionable individuals on a sort of black market to purchase live animals at great cost for experimentation. We think that the Committee for Health and Research, which is supported by many District medical leaders, is entirely right in asking that the current medical needs of 525 dogs a year be met from the pound.

This request represents the first counterattack of the medical profession on the antivivisectionists who not only have prevented use of pound dogs, but also are seeking to prohibit experimentation on live animals in the District. The counterattack has long been necessary because of the overdose of sentimentalism that has been allowed to enter the whole question of vivisection.

Doctors, against whom the antivivisection campaign is directed, are dedicated to the saving of life. They scarcely can be regarded as sadistic in their desire to experiment on dogs for the protection of human life. Why, for that matter, are dogs more sacrosanct than the animals that daily are killed for meat? The issue is not, as some persons would make out, the sacrifice of anyone's individual pet. It is, rather, whether a relatively small number of stray dogs are more important than the children and adults whose lives may depend on medical experimentation.

Supercarrier

Defense chieftains, we suspect, entertain many of the same doubts as afflict the general public over the justification for the Navy's new giant aircraft carrier. And the inability to resolve those doubts was perhaps the principal reason why work was allowed to proceed on the 189-million-dollar, 1090-foot craft. If anyone could be sure that intercontinental bombing would suffice as the country's main strategic weapon, that the carrier would not serve a strategic and tactical purpose in the event of war, then the decision would be easy. However, no one is willing to take upon himself the responsibility for such a judgment.

Some of the claims made for the carrier convey the impression, to be sure, that the Navy is striving desperately to find a mission for itself by clinging to a World War II weapon. The carrier pretty patently is designed for more than mere control of the sea; it will accommodate planes of B-29 size capable of carrying atomic bombs. For all its armor and maneuverability, a carrier of this size could prove pretty much of a sitting duck for enemy aircraft or submarines—if they found it. It might be a pretty expensive target, too, for the one-ocean carrier (it will be too big for the Panama Canal) will cost as much, unsupported by escort ships, as 60 B-36s.

Like some of the propaganda over the carrier, however, there has been a lot of confusion over the B-36. The Air Force now lauds this flying city block as a true intercontinental bomber. But the real question is not whether intercontinental bombing is theoretically possible, but whether it is the most practicable strategy. Mid-air refueling, for example, is at best an imperfect, costly and vulnerable technique. The advent of jet bombers in particular raises the question whether overseas bases may not be necessary whatever the capabilities of long-range bombing.

Thus the choice is not between the carrier or long-range bombing, but how both can be used most advantageously. Undoubtedly it was this consideration which led the Joint Chiefs of Staff to approve the construction of one supercarrier. We support the experiment on the ground that it is not wise to tie the country to a single inflexible strategy. Aside from its sea mission, the carrier conceivably could be useful in providing fighters to escort land-based bombers and in helping to acquire bases as well as in furnishing opportunities for quick strategic attacks. The job of the Joint Chiefs ought to be to plan for the integrated use of all instruments, including the carrier as well as the long-range bomber.

Virtues Of Liberty

In his address to the DAR convention Monday evening Senator Mundt suggested, as he has been doing in speeches around the country recently, the formation of a network of "American Enterprise Committees." These, as he sees it, should in various ways see that the virtues and advantages of American democracy are continuously and effectively presented in each community, and should expose Communist propaganda wherever detected. He advocates that the committees among other activities keep close watch over school textbooks—and, we presume, school teachers, too—in order to prevent anti-American instruction.

We are assured by the Senator that he does not have in mind, and indeed abhors, the erection of a system of vigilante committees or censorship bodies to enforce a rigid uniformity of thought. No doubt he is sincere. Nevertheless, his proposal is a dangerous one—not because of what it is so much as because of what it can so easily become. And that is the very sort of educational straitjacket in which democratic freedom of thought cannot exist.

Is it anti-American for a teacher to point out defects in practical democracy? To question the perfection of the capitalist system? To interpret the Declaration of Independence as meaning equality for Negroes? To elucidate the possible advantages of Government ownership and operation of the railways? Of Federal aid for slum clearance? Of national health insurance? Some communities could be found where one or more of these ideas are thought to be "made in Moscow" and where a teacher or textbook that did not agree would be considered un-American. And almost anywhere the teacher or textbook that undertakes to explain what communism is risks excommunication as communistic.

What we need is not less teaching about communism, but more. Americans who are carefully isolated from knowledge about communism or fascism or any other competing system cannot judge the real advantages of democracy. We need, as General Eisenhower suggested in his inaugural address at Columbia University, more professors of communism if Americans are to know the world they live in and the comparative virtues of the democratic way.

American Politburo

As an adventure in imaginative politics Arthur C. Millspaugh's book Toward Efficient Democracy may stimulate discussion in academic circles. But it is so far removed from any practical reform of our constitutional system that its publication by the Brookings Institution occasions a good deal of surprise. Dr. H. G. Moulton, president of Brookings, disavows any institutional backing for Mr. Millspaugh's concoction and offers it only as a device "to stimulate, clarify and focus discussion" on a number of "highly debatable issues." That abdication of responsibility for the Millspaugh thesis only deepens the mystery as to why Brookings Institution considered it worthy of sponsorship.

The central idea of the Millspaugh scheme is to replace the President and Congress by a National Council of 21 members. The Senate would be retained as a sort of House of Lords with power to delay but not to modify the decisions of the proposed council. The council would be elected by the people at large, without geographical representation. In it would be lodged both the legislative and executive power, for it would choose the President and dismiss him at will. Mr. Millspaugh frankly describes his proposed council as "a substitute for dictatorship, as well as for the traditional parliamentarism."

Such an all-powerful council would likely become a sort of American politburo. Mr. Millspaugh was led to propose this astonishing concentration of political power because of his impatience with the inefficiency of our present constitutional system. We share his impatience with many of the delaying-operations and compromises of representative government. But, with all its defects, this system has enabled the American people to attain a degree of freedom and well-being that has seldom been equaled anywhere in the world. The Millspaugh plan, in its preoccupation with efficiency, would destroy the safeguards from which our liberty in very large measure has stemmed. Even if it were practical to consider the substitution of an untested panacea for the going concern of American constitutional democracy, this proposal would carry no appeal. For the concentration of all powers in the hands of a few individuals, as one of our great men has said, is the very definition of tyranny.

Undoubtedly the Federal Constitution is outmoded in many respects. We have often noted the defects of the electoral system, of the requirement of a two-thirds vote for approval of treaties by the Senate, and of the difficult machinery for amendment of the Constitution. But it is one thing to remedy the weaknesses of a constitutional democracy and another thing to make it over in the image of dictatorial governments of the past. What we should like to see is a body of experts comparable to the Hoover Commission at work on modernization of outmoded sections of the Constitution without upsetting its basic principles.

Mutilated Freedom

Precisely the sort of press restriction that might receive United Nations sanction under the Mexican amendments to the convention on freedom of information is illustrated by a bill now before the Netherlands States General. This bill, according to press reports from The Hague, would make it a penal offense to report and publish false information. It would punish editors and reporters—with sentences up to life imprisonment—for "deliberately giving false or irresponsible information or deliberately behaving in a manner contrary to the standard expected of them." The bill, especially the last phrase, seemingly would establish working conditions alarmingly similar to those enjoyed by the comrades on Pravda. Since complaints could be filed by any interested person as well as the government, the inhibitions would soon become enormous.

The fallacy of the Dutch effort, and all other attempts to legislate a responsible press, is that they run smack into the question of who is to define responsibility. If the agency is the government, as inevitably it must be under such proposals, then the press becomes a controlled press intimidated from publishing anything the government will look upon with disfavor.

The same sort of governmental tampering with free information is implicit in the Mexican proposals to sanction censorship for reasons of national dignity and prestige and to compel newspapers to publish "corrections" requested by governments. The fact is that any effort to limit the field of free information lessens the likelihood that truth will emerge through the competition of ideas. "Press responsibility" is an easy slogan, but the real responsibility of the press is to its readers—and through them to a free society—rather than to government.

Iranian Cloud

The cloud overhanging Iran-Russian relations has been darkened by the recall from Tehran of the Russian Ambassador and the closing of four Russian consulates in the Iranian province adjoining Russia of Azerbaijan. The Iranians seem to be afraid that the Russians may soon invoke the 1921 Iranian-Russian treaty permitting intervention whenever Iran presents a threat to Soviet Russia. It was inspired by Soviet fears that White Guardists might mount an invasion on Iranian soil. The fresh occasion is the presence in Iran of American missions which are in advisory relation to the imperial gendarmerie and the Iranian army and Iranian purchases of American arms. How the missions could be a menace to the brooding Colossus of the North is past understanding, but this the Russians allege, and they are expressing their "alarm" in a virulent press and radio campaign aimed, of course, at the intimidation of Iran. The excuse will deceive nobody, let alone the Iranians. The Russians all through their history have had a lust for an exit at the Persian Gulf, and this ambition, as was shown in the aggression against Iran in 1946, is entertained by the successors to the Czars.

In 1946 the Iranians showed a splendid nerve in coping with the squeeze from the north exercised from Moscow. Again their nerves are being tested. In preparing for the ordeal, they are said to be about to void the 1921 treaty, so as to remove the misunderstanding that this treaty has created. That treaty and other similar treaties are subject to the United Nations Charter, which pledges the signatories to refrain from the use of force and to settle their disputes by peaceful means. Article 103 specifically recognizes that these obligations "prevail over all other obligations under any other international agreement," as, for example, the 1921 Iranian-Russian treaty. Soviet recourse, if it feels that it has a grievance over the presence of American military missions on Iranian soil (the contracts of which were filed with the United Nations secretariat), is to refer the matter to the Security Council. Unilateral action will certainly be resisted by the Iranians, and, in view of the strategic position of Iran and the obligations of the Charter, such resistance would have to be supported by the Western allies. In the meantime it would be well for the State Department to give the American people an exact statement on the American missions in Iran and the amount of American arms contracted for by the Iranians.

The Cancer Test

If all or even most of the claims made concerning the new blood test for cancer are sustained, the point is within sight when this terrible and mysterious disease can be brought under control as smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid fever have been. Thus, assuming the accuracy of the claims, it must be counted among the great historic triumphs of medical research and second perhaps only to discovery of bacteria and their relationship to infectious disease. Thus it is hardly any wonder that physicians and surgeons, and many others, too, are waiting with intense excitement for the news from Detroit, where the discoverer, Dr. Charles B. Huggins of Chicago, will explain the test in detail at the meeting of the American Association for Cancer Research.

Dr. Huggins' discovery does not, of course, amount to a cure for cancer; but, assuming the accuracy of what has been said concerning it, the detection of the disease in its early and curable stages has now become possible. The technique is said to be as simple and as accurate as the Wassermann test for syphilis, and, in fact, is somewhat similar to it. The existence of a malignant growth anywhere in the body can, it seems, be determined by a chemical condition of the blood produced by certain enzymes acting as a catalytic. The condition, it is said, disappears when the growth has been excided. Thus doubtful cases can be eliminated and the question of recovery or recurrence definitely established in the absence of other symptoms. The original experiments are said to have been made upon mice and then to have been tested upon human patients. One complication appears to have arisen from the fact that similar blood reactions were found in patients suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis and other inflammatory diseases, but these cases could be quickly detected and separated by other diagnostic methods.

The actual cure of cancer, of course, will remain largely in the domain of surgery. But it seems clear that a great step has been taken toward the discovery of the nature and causes of cancer. When these are known, the discovery of means of preventing the disease should follow as a matter of course.

Communist DPs

In the interest of fair play, permit me to point out that there are two sides to the displaced persons problem. Your editorial and cartoon published April 18 seems to give only a one-sided picture.

In your cartoon, Senator McCarran's Senate subcommittee is pictured sitting on an innocent little girl representing the displaced persons problem, while two indignant men representing the Democratic and Republican Parties demand an end to the cruelty.

Those who have read Dorothy Thompson's article in the Saturday Evening Post, April 16, entitled "How I Was Duped by a Communist," might view the displaced persons problem not as an innocent little girl but as a potential Communist sent or allowed to come here from behind the "iron curtain" to dupe other Dorothy Thompsons.

It might be that one reason why Senator McCarran's Senate subcommittee does not wish to let into this country 400,000 displaced persons without very careful investigation is because the Senate committee has been able to discover few reliable records concerning the background of such a large number of displaced persons. The present law already permits 200,000 displaced persons to enter this country. How many of these will be innocent little children, as pictured by your cartoon, and how many will be Communists or sympathizers, who will dupe other Americans besides Dorothy Thompson, will remain to be seen.

In any case, there are two sides to the displaced persons problem, and anyone wishing to know the Senate subcommittee's side might read the report of the findings of the Senators who went to Europe to study the problem: Displaced Persons in Europe, Report No. 950, 1948.

Answer To Communists

Constantly we read in our papers and hear broadcasts over our radios of the threat of communism to our way of life.

Extreme caution premeates the utterances of our liberals and mortal fear has gripped our conservative speeches, while daily the Communist howls loud and long.

If our democracy is worth defending—and it is—then let us start demonstrating this fact to the Communist by speaking out boldly. Let us open our mouths and speak up for the democratic principles we cherish and believe. Let us not be so afraid of being called pink or red!

"Agency Shop"

It is being advocated by some that the institutional demands of labor unionism will be less obnoxious if its chosen instrument of aggression, the "closed shop," is, with some changes, rechristened the "agency shop." This plan is to meet the argument that a "free ride" is given the nonunion man when there is no closed shop.

Before we are led too far astray under the spell of semantics, we should reckon with this. The corollary of the "agency shop" is: (1) The income of the union must be taxed. Otherwise, the union succeeds in increasing the already substantial "free ride" it enjoys presently upon society. (2) The union becomes a public utility. It is protected, by law, from competition once it is established. It places a tax, with the sanction of the law, upon the most vital necessity of living, namely, work.

Accordingly, under the "agency shop" method the union's books must be open for inspection and checking by all people.

Certainly the union would not tolerate that. It is second to none in its endless protestations that it is the guardian of democracy in industry. Or does it really mean its institutionalism which, like all institutionalism, is the deadly competitor of individual liberty wherever it is not limited by a bill of rights?

War Waste

For seven minutes the fast train approaching Carquinez Bridge, California, passed rank after rank of moored warships and moored tankers. One of the pilots engaged in bringing them in up from the Golden Gate said the 503d ship had just been anchored. He estimated pilots' fees alone ran over $60,000. This is but a drop in the ocean of the wastage of war.

One wonders if, in the future, while we are preventing World War III, if we could spare just the equivalent of that pilotage bill for air-carrying kiddies in winter, from cities like Chicago, Detroit, New York to desert sunstations, as at Palm Springs, Calif.

Farm Socialization

The "new" Truman farm program is in fact "old stuff." For the past 16 years the Socialist schemers in the Department of Agriculture have been planning the complete regimentation of the American farmer and the socialization of the country as a whole.

Most of these schemes are designed to bribe the farmers into socialistic servitude by means of Government-guaranteed farm products prices while the consumers are handed the old baloney that low food prices will be assured if they will pay heavy taxes (direct or hidden) to give farmers subsidies to keep up production. Of course the economic planners do not mention that some 10 to 20 per cent (for the support of useless bureaucrats) is abstracted from the tax take.

Any sensible, patriotic farmer must know that an honest, 100 per cent American Administration would offer the only sound, practicable agricultural program which can stabilize farm prices and lower food prices to consumers. Such a plan would eliminate farm subsidies, encourage farmers to attain more efficient and economical distribution of farm products through cooperatives and (in the immortal words of my patriotic Western cattle-raising friend, Charlie Collins), "give the farmers a damn good leaving alone."

Socialized Medicine

I would like to take this opportunity of congratulating Frank Gervasi on his excellent article of April 17 on socialized medicine in England.

As an Englishman recently arrived, I am hoping that some of the mistaken facts on the scheme—held by quite a few people that I have had the pleasure of meeting here—will be dispelled.

Before anybody argues "for or against" socialized medicine as practiced in England he should most certainly read Mr. Gervasi's article.

Women's Voting Rights

I have just had the opportunity to see a letter which appeared in your esteemed paper on April 1 and which referred to my work in Lebanon as United States delegate to the third session (just concluded) of the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women.

The authors of that letter appear to be under the impression that I opposed the idea of a world-wide treaty on political rights for women, proposed by the delegate from Mexico and modeled on the Treaty of Bogota recently signed by 14 American republics. Quite the contrary, we both supported it and joined in a resolution adopted unanimously by the commission, except for the U. S. S. R., to that effect.

Among the questions which the commission discussed in connection with the proposed treaty was the time when to present it to the General Assembly. The General Assembly will shortly have before it a proposed covenant on human rights, as well as several conventions relating to freedom of information, and the Commission on the Status of Women is itself proposing to present to the Assembly a convention on the nationality of married women at the earliest possible moment. The commission also discussed the question of the number of countries to which a treaty on political rights might apply.

The present Treaty of Bogota, which the United States has signed and which is now before Congress for ratification, is open to accession by all the states of the Americas. Of the 21 countries (by recent count) where women do not have the right to vote, 9 are located in South America.

That leaves only 12—namely: Afghanistan, Egypt, Ethiopia, Greece, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Saudi-Arabia, Switzerland, Syria, Transjordan and Yemen, to whom a treaty world wide in scope would be applicable.

Only 8 of these 12 are member states of the United Nations. All of them are located in the Middle East, which is where our commission has just been meeting for the express purpose of creating increased interest in political rights among these women.

The response to our efforts has been gratifying and we are hopeful that Greece, as well as some of the predominantly Arab and Moslem countries, may soon give women the vote. It is possible, therefore, that before the cumbersome machinery of world-wide treaty making can be invoked we may no longer need it. That is our hope.

"Fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion," these are the watchwords of our commission. I have not deviated from them and do not propose to.

Antidote For World Jitters

By Malvina Lindsay

Cradle Precaution

ANOTHER STEP in the growing movement to develop stabler adults by catching them early has been taken in the appointment of Dr. Martha M. Eliot of the Children's Bureau as assistant director general of the United Nations World Health Organization. Both Dr. Eliot and Dr. Brock Chisholm, director general of the organization, strongly believe that the making of a peaceful world lies in the cradle. The jittery, unsettled state of people today, Dr. Eliot recently pointed out, was largely traceable to their being brought up without learning to adjust themselves to their fellow men.

As yet the World Health body is concerned chiefly with physical health. But there is growing realization that emotional ills, like physical ones, are catching, and that emotional epidemics are even more deadly than those of typhus or smallpox in that they can lead directly to war—a warning sounded at the recent meeting of the American Orthopsychiatric Association. A program of mental health, also one in general health education, may be added to the World Health Organization's department of operations, of which Dr. Eliot will be in charge.

But in her work of promoting maternal and child health on a world basis Dr. Eliot will be helping build a foundation of sound emotional health—and its complement, reasonable men. For mental frustration, resentment and hate often are related to childhood malnutrition and disease. And persons under par physically—or mentally—succumb most readily to propaganda.

DR. CHISHOLM, a psychiatrist, repeatedly has declared that the world's only hope for permanent peace is to bring up children who "won't be the kind of people who fight wars every 20 years." That always brings forth the question: What is the use of some countries doing this if other countries cultivate aggressiveness?

Assuming that any countries could and would develop civilized, emotionally grown-up populaces while others didn't, it would still mean strength instead of weakness for the enlightened nations—also a better chance for the world to escape war. For the emotionally mature peoples would be less likely to become victims of fear, panic, other emotional epidemics, and would be better able to understand and meet sacrifice if it were needed.

More important, they would be better equipped to prevent war. For the juvenile escapism and shirking of responsibility by nations of peaceful instincts may do as much to bring about war as the swashbuckling of aggressors. If Americans had shown more mature facing of facts, more responsible international behavior during the last 40 years, two world wars might have been halted.

ALL RECENT studies of what makes mental health in children and emotional maturity in grown-ups stress the assuming of responsibility. Among other qualities cited are the ability to see an undertaking through to the end, and the ability to adapt to people and to cooperate with them.

The characteristics that help bring on wars—jealousy, overweening ambition, egomania, aggressiveness—have their basis largely in the unresolved fears and conflicts of childhood. Nursery rages often continue to express themselves through dictators, legislators, judges, so-called diplomats and other adults of influence and power.

Naturally any work against emotional disease will be slow. Already results have begun to show in the campaign against malaria, tuberculosis and venereal disease the World Health Organization is conducting. But Dr. Chisholm has estimated it will take several generations—possibly several centuries—for the development on any appreciable scale of parents sufficiently grown up to rear children who will become emotionally mature adults. But if the world in the next critical quarter century can escape destroying itself by its emotions, the chances are it may begin to get a grasp on them.

Dogs For Vivisection

It should be pointed out, in discussing Mrs. Alma T. Opal's "antivivisection" letter of April 15, that animals are not subjected to unnecessary pain in vivisection. The more normal an animal is, the stronger are the results of the experiment. Experimental results are usually next to worthless if the animal used is writhing in agony. The dogs and other animals kept for experimental purposes are treated better than the pets of many an "animal lover."

As for the contention that animal experimentation is worthless: what about the technique of the "blue baby operation" which was perfected on dogs? How about the discovery that deficient pancreas is responsible for diabetes? Also the discovery of the cause of myxodema, cretinism, Addison's disease, and many others which were worked out by experiments on animals. Perhaps Mrs. Opal and some of her club members would prefer that humans be used in cancer research.

To me it's obvious that animals are needed in research and I think that it's better that they be gotten from the pound than from "collectors" who steal people's pets.

Matter Of Fact

By Joseph Alsop

This Is Where We Came In

IT WAS only a little more than three years ago, in the winter of 1946, that Secretary of State James F. Byrnes made his momentous decision. Mainly because the Soviets were threatening to take by force the Iranian Province of Azerbaijan, Byrnes abandoned conciliation and adopted his famous policy of "patience and firmness." From that decision flowed all the great events of the intervening period.

Now, three years later, it is reliably understood that the American Ambassador at Tehran, the able John Wiley, has for some time been reporting renewed danger of Soviet aggression against Iran. The Kremlin still wants the same province of Azerbaijan.

Having watched the successive death throes of two of the Baltic states, Wiley may permit us all too vivid memories of the past to color his estimate of the present. Here in Washington, at least, there is relatively little fear of extreme Soviet measures at the moment. Yet the background situation is nonetheless instructive and significant.

Very briefly, an American mission has been helping to train the Iranian army for some time; and on February 1 this year, American arms purchased under an American credit also began to arrive in Tehran. This American assistance to the Iranians has long been the subject of a thunderous Soviet campaign of propaganda and diplomatic threats.

Two main themes have been stressed by the Soviets. First, the American aid to the Iranian army has been ludicrously said to transform Iran into an "American base." Second, many references have been made to clause 6 of the Russo-Iranian Treaty of 1921. This provides that the Soviets may invade Iran if a third power attempts to use Iran as a base against Russia. Thus, by implication, the Soviets have openly menaced the aggression that Wiley fears.

THE SOVIET Ambassador at Tehran, Sadchikov, is pretty good at menaces, his chief diplomatic talent being to simulate apoplexy. He has gone so far as to state that the presence of the Americans in Iran was a "dishonor," and to add that the Iranians' refusal to give the Soviets oil rights in northern Iran was "intolerable."

In addition, the Tudeh Party, the Communist front in Iran, has been lavishly financed in a renewed campaign of agitation. Appeals have been made to Iran's troublesome Kurdish tribesmen, both by a Soviet-sponsored Pan-Kurdish underground headed by Badr Kahn, with headquarters in Syria, and from Russian soil by the refugee Mullah Mustapha Barzani. An Azerbaijanian "government-in-exile" has been ostentatiously organized across the Russian border. And there have been stories of recruitment of an Azerbaijanian "liberation army," from the million or so Soviet citizens of Azerbaijani stock.

Concurrently the Red army has also been actively engaged in creating incidents along the ill-defined Russo-Iranian border. Bodies of as many as 500 men have been employed in forays into Iranian territory. Demonstrations of tank forces have occurred. An Iranian blockhouse has even been attacked, and Iranian prisoners have been taken.

This war of nerves and provocation reached a preliminary climax early in February when a Soviet agent attempted to assassinate the stout-hearted young Shah of Iran. The aim, of course, was to plunge the country into chaos and to give the Tudeh Party the chance for a coup d'etat, before American arms could put the Iranian army on a footing of displeasing efficiency. The same motive appears to lie behind the subsequent intensification of threats and provocations on the border and elsewhere.

AS A result, careful consideration has been given, both in Washington and Tehran, to declaring clause 6 of the 1921 treaty no longer operative. This would remove the Soviets' Hitler-style appeal to "legality." Contrary to recent reports from Tehran, the step has not actually been taken. But alarm in Tehran has recently been intensified by the abrupt, simultaneous departure to Russia of Ambassador Sadchikov and all the Russian consuls and consular staffs.

While Tehran may be alarmed, it must be reemphasized that Washington continues to discount any immediate danger. Yet officials here clearly admit the distinct possibility that by means of a fake "Azerbaijanian liberation army," or some similar device, the Russians will later attempt to install their own puppet government in northern Iran. Meanwhile a war of nerves which includes attempted assassination of a chief of state is not to be laughed off.

All this must be contrasted, of course, with the possibility that the Russians may lift the Berlin blockade, long ago reported in this space. What is happening in Berlin and in Europe is happening, of course, only because Russian aggression has been met there with firmness. What is happening in Iran is happening, equally of course, only because the Soviets feel there is less resistance at this point.

We can expect threats and dangers of aggression in Europe to begin again whenever the rearming Soviets feel stronger than the West. There is no safety in weakness, even collective weakness.

Truman Signs Bill to Give Nearly 5½ Billion Aid Abroad

President Truman yesterday signed into law a $5,430,000,000 "second installment" foreign aid bill to carry the European recovery program full speed ahead through the "critical" period between now and mid-1950.

The bill authorizes the program almost exactly as the Administration requested, and provides for a one million dollar Reconstruction Finance Corporation advance to cover immediate spending.

The rest of the funds must be voted later in a separate appropriation bill, and economy-minded Congressmen are planning a fight to cut the total of actual cash.

Mr. Truman signed the historic measure at a White House ceremony attended by Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson, foreign aid chief Paul G. Hoffman, roving ambassador W. Averell Harriman, the ranking members of the Senate and House Foreign Relations Committee, and other officials.

Smaller Corps Expected

Meanwhile Ambassador Harriman said yesterday that Europe's food corps probably will be smaller this year but it is "too early" to say whether more U.S. relief grain will be needed.

He told a news conference, however, that recovery nations are making progress in industrial production, trade and in inflation controls.

Here for a two-week visit, Harriman said the outlook for Europe's grain harvest is not good because of dry winter weather. Crop conditions range from "bad" in Portugal to "fair" in Britain, and France is not expected to produce as much as last year.

Harriman said France is showing "real progress toward controlling inflation" and ECA is keeping a close watch on this phase of its recovery. He said retail prices have declined somewhat and exports were up 25 per cent over last year during the first three months of 1948.

German industry continues to show progress, particularly in the manufacture of small parts for machinery, he said. Some materials are being exported to other European nations greatly in need of them.

To Attend Geneva Session

Harriman said he is returning to Europe May 8 to attend a meeting of the Economic Committee for Europe in Geneva.

In signing the ECA bill, Mr. Truman scrawled his name a letter or two at the time, using eight pens, distributed as souvenirs to the witnesses. He set aside one pen for Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.), who was unable to attend.

Mr. Truman remarked jokingly that he changed pens so often "my signature probably looks like a forgery — but it isn't."

The bill, approved by big majorities in both House and Senate, will carry the 4 1/4-year recovery program just past the half-way mark. It provides for spending $1,150,000,000 between now and June 30, 1949, the end of the current fiscal year, and $4,280,000,000 for the following 12 months.

The only money authorization the Administration asked that is not in the bill is 50 million dollars in contract authorization powers to carry the program forward into the 1951 fiscal year. The House cut out that item on the ground that it should not be voted until next year.

The original Marshall Plan legislation lapsed April 2 while the Senate was still debating the renewal bill, but there was no break in shipments to Europe because purchase orders already in the works kept the supply "pipeline" filled.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Accommodation In Berlin

OUT OF Berlin are coming ever broader hints that the Russians are looking for some way to lift the blockade of the U. S.-British-French sectors of the city. Naturally they would like to find a formula that would avoid public confession of failure.

Childs

American policy, in my opinion, far from resisting these efforts as sometimes seems to be the case, should do everything possible to help them along. The remarkable success of the Berlin airlift checkmated the Russian move to drive out the Western allies. At the same time it was a tremendously effective demonstration of U. S. air power.

Today there are urgent reasons—both practical and ideological—why the airlift should be ended. That is another way of saying it is urgent to find a mutually satisfactory formula for lifting the blockade.

On the practical side, the Air Force has had more than enough of what has long since become a burdensome routine assignment. They have proved everything they set out to prove, including the demonstration the other day, when 12,940 tons were carried in 24 hours, that more could be transported by air than was ever moved by rail before the blockade.

IN SPITE of the remarkable safety record set by the airlift, there have been losses. These losses loom particularly large in view of the weakness of this country in transport planes. The latter have been seriously neglected both on the commercial and the military side.

Most of the Air Force's transport planes are on the Berlin airlift. Not long ago the Air Force allocated $39,422,000 for 23 Boeing strato-freighters to replace some of the worn-out C-54s that have made a total of 116,277 flights since last June 26, hauling 1,057,725 tons.

Under intensive maintenance the C-54s have a useful life for the airlift of 8400 hours. Maintenance is costly in an increasing ratio as the lift goes on.

In hauling coal, for example, dust sifts into the fabric of the plane and abrasion becomes a problem. The cost is no small item. The total to March 25 was $137,904,200. But as the budgeteers figure it, considerably more than half of this would have been spent for salaries, upkeep and so on if there had been no Berlin airlift.

The famous Churchillian phrase about the airlift demonstrating that we could stand on our head while Russia sat in an easy chair applies more than ever today. Standing on one's head for an indefinite time induces paralysis or worse.

THE CASE from the ideological point of view is, if anything, more urgent. It is becoming far too easy for Moscow to document its charge that the United States is engaged in a war-mongering campaign with the ultimate aim of aggression against the Soviet Union.

The Soviet propagandists get all too much assistance from the kind of irresponsible raving that Representative Clarence Cannon of Missouri gave forth on the floor of the House last week. Cannon talked about plans for raining down atom bombs on every Russian city. All that Moscow had to do was to broadcast what he said without any additions at all. During coming weeks when the pact and the Administration request for arms to implement it are being debated, we will hear a lot of that kind of talk. The emphasis will be on arms and security and how much the United States can afford to spend.

If this is coupled with what appears to be United States rejection of Russian overtures to end the blockade, then this country will be outmaneuvered in the cold war. It will seem to the world as though United States policy-makers had no alternative for a divided Germany and a divided world.

The profound fear in western Europe is of another war, another invasion, and another occupation. The influence of the United States thus far has rested on the belief that American policy is aimed at preventing a war and securing the peace, as in its broad aspects it is.

If that belief is undermined by what is done and said here, then communism will have an opportunity it has not had thus far. The Communist bogey of Uncle Sam as an imperialist warmonger has frightened almost no one not already immersed in Communist doctrine. Let's not give the Russians the chance to prove that that bogey has any reality.

13 Nations to Be Represented At Metal Unions Conference

Representatives of the metal industry unions of the Atlantic Pact nations will meet here today to work out a program for bulwarking the Western democracies' battle for peace.

It will be the first meeting on American soil for the 56-year-old International Metalworkers Federation, made up of key metal trades unions in 11 western European countries, Canada and the United States.

The sessions will be held in the council room of the Machinists Building here, headquarters of the host IMF member, the International Association of Machinists, an independent American-Canadian union of some 750,000 members.

Comrade Ilg, secretary of the IMF, said that the delegates to the meeting of the IMF Central Council hope to demonstrate that the European unions, as well as those in America, have put aside their isolationism of the past.

"We believe it is of outstanding importance that the free trade unions of the really democratic countries unite to build up the power needed to create a bulwark for peace and freedom."

Unity of the free trade unions, Ilg added, "constitutes the best obstacle against the menace of totalitarianism which is threatening the democratic world."

The metal union chief will press for labor representation in any plan for permanent control of the Ruhr, now in the British zone of Germany, Ilg said.

It is the Ruhr which has provided the sinews of war—coal and iron—for the Prussian junkers and the Nazis, he said. Only by bringing the labor unions into the control machinery over the Ruhr can there be a guarantee for "peace and prosperity" in Europe, the IMF official declared.

The metal trades department of the AFL, representing nearly two million workers, and the CIO's auto, steel, and aluminum unions, representing two million more, will be invited to join in the IMF.

Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin and AFL President William Green will speak at a banquet for the Central Council to be given Thursday evening.

Truman Sends Wheat Treaty To Senate, Asks Early Action

President Truman sent the new international wheat agreement to the Senate yesterday with a plea for early ratification.

The pact is aimed at stabilizing world prices for wheat during the next four years. It was signed by the United States and 40 other nations after a 57-day conference ending March 23.

The Senate failed to act on a similar treaty last year. Mr. Truman made that an issue in the presidential campaign. A two-thirds vote of the Senate is required for ratification.

In a brief message accompanying the new agreement, Mr. Truman asked for early Senate action so the treaty can be put into operation during the next crop year.

The President also noted that the pact must be ratified by a majority of the signatory nations by July 1 to become effective.

Under the agreement, the United States and four other wheat-exporting countries are to sell 456,283,389 bushels a year to importing countries for four years.

The top price in each of the four years will be $1.80. The minimum drops 10 cents a year from $1.50 in 1940-50 to $1.20 in 1952-53.

Argentina and Russia took part in the conferences but did not sign the pact.

Wheat, Flour Removed From U. N. Scarcity List

Wheat, wheat flour and nitrogen fertilizer are being dropped from the list of shortage supplies under allocation by the United Nations, it was announced yesterday.

The U. N.'s international emergency food committee said a brightening outlook in the supply of all three commodities made the action possible.

Wheat and wheat flour were deallocated, effective immediately. Rice is now the only cereal left under international allocation.

On nitrogen fertilizers, the effective date is next June 30.

The committee said its decision on wheat and wheat flour was based on the approximate balance in 1948-49 between world wheat supplies and import requirements, as measured by ability to pay for wheat imports.

Fighting Renewed On Mandalay Rule

Rangoon, Burma, April 19 (U.P.)—Fighting broke out anew in Mandalay today in a dispute over administration of the city captured from rebel forces April 3.

White Band Communists of the peoples volunteer organization which aided government troops in recapturing Mandalay, demanded that the city's administration be turned over to them.

The government refused, and fighting broke out after the Communists ignored an ultimatum.

U. S. Lumber Now Exported

The Government has joined in efforts to promote overseas sales of lumber—once so scarce that the shortage threatened to slow the postwar United States building program.

The Commerce Department said yesterday American foreign service posts abroad have been told that "substantial quantities of lumber are now available for export" since supplies at home "are greatly improved."

Shipments of lumber from this country during the past 9 or 10 months have been only about 1½ per cent of total production. Prewar exports normally amounted to about 5 per cent of total output.

"American lumber exporters are now actively engaged in promoting overseas sales and the Department of Commerce is cooperating," the announcement said.

It pointed out that export controls have been dropped from logs, lumber, plywood, veneer and flooring.

Soviet Spurs Farm Output

Moscow, April 19 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today a three-year plan to improve its backward animal husbandry.

A decree of the Council of Ministers and Central Committee of the Communist Party set the goal of a 50 per cent increase by the end of 1951 in production of meat, animal fat, milk butter, eggs, leather and wool.

It calls for a big boost in numbers of cattle, hogs, sheep, goats and poultry in collectivized herds and state farms. The plans does not concern animals owned individually by peasants on collective farms or other individuals.

The plans embrace an increase in good breeding stock and greater use of artificial insemination, special prizes for development of new high production breeds, construction of tens of thousands of barns and sheds, development of mechanization and labor-saving methods to increase feed supplies, and more attention to education of animal specialists and veterinaries.

Animal specialists will receive pensions amounting to 50 per cent of their wages at the age of 50.

Handful of Film Actors Attend Beery's Funeral

Glendale, Calif., April 19 (AP). Only a handful of Wally Beery's fellow film stars attended his funeral today but 3000 of his fans—mostly women—were there.

Beery died Friday night of a heart ailment.

The fans listening over loudspeakers stood behind ropes outside the brownstone church in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Interment was private.

Geico Net Hits New Peak in First Quarter

By S. Oliver Goodman

Record first-quarter earnings for Government Employes Insurance Co. (Geico) were reported yesterday by President Leo Goodwin.

Goodwin

Stock of the Washington auto casualty firm in recent months has been the talk of the financial district, with a runup of more than $20 a share. Current bid price is $43.50 compared with $27 at the start of the year.

Net for the first three months, Goodwin said, totaled $286,696 or $2.29 a share. If a Federal tax refund of $50,221 were included, net would have been equivalent to $2.70 a share. In the first quarter of 1948, Geico's net amounted to $150,460 or $1.20 a share.

From unofficial sources, it was learned that Geico has completed negotiations for the purchase of a large 14th st. office building now occupied by a Government agency. If the Federal agency can move out in time, Geico may be able to occupy its new quarters by September 1.

Present quarters are in the Investment Building, but the company's rapid expansion has necessitated more space.

As of March 31, Geico had 100,859 stockholders, an increase of more than 4000 for the first quarter this year. Net premiums written totaled $1,581,672 for the first period, a new record for any three-month period in the company's 13-year history and compared with $1,228,714 in the first 1948 period.

RAIL GROSS OFF: The Association of American Railroads estimated yesterday that railroad operating revenues in March were 6.4 per cent lower than in March, 1948. The report indicated a 5.6 decline in freight revenues and a 10.8 per cent decline in passenger revenues.

WILL BE HONORED: Three Washington area Ford dealers will be honored by the Ford Motor Co. at a luncheon today in the Hotel 2400. They will receive certificates of merit in recognition of their performances during the past year under Ford's nationwide plan of "industrial citizenship" and "four letter awards." Those scheduled to be cited are R. G. Parker, Parkway Motor Co.; Frank Small, jr., of the dealership bearing his name, and Frank P. Palmer, Billhimer & Palmer Motor Co. Howard W. Cook, Washington District sales manager, will present plaques.

BANK EXHIBIT: The Old Dominion Bank of Arlington, Va., is exhibiting this week the first of a series of 26 enlarged reproductions of original documents important in the State's history. The documents, selected from the State's archives, will also be shown in the bank's branches at Ballston and Cherrydale. Each manuscript, accompanied by a historical background story, will be displayed for one week, according to President Edwin T. Holland.

ODD LOTS: Chrysler Corp. stockholders voted to increase the number of common shares from 15 million to 20 million and to restate their par value at $25 instead of $2.50 . . . Stockholders of Delaware Power & Light Co. authorized the doubling of preferred shares and an increase in the unsecured debt . . . Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, will be host to the regional public speaking contest on April 30 for the A. P. Giannini endowment prizes . . . Business failures declined to 184 in week ended April 14 from a revised total of 230 the preceding week, Dun & Bradstreet reported . . . Price of zinc was trimmed 1 cent a pound yesterday, establishing the market at 13 cents . . . Price of coke for household heating was cut $2.15 a ton in Buffalo . . . Hanna Furnace Corp. "adjusted" prices of pig iron 50 cents to $1 a ton lower . . . March fire losses were estimated at $67,218,000, a rise of 7.7 per cent over February.

20TH BIRTHDAY: Today marks the 20th anniversary of the Prudential Building Association which recently moved into new quarters at 1338 G st. nw. Assets are at a new high of $7,500,000. The institution is headed by Luther C. Steward as president, and Elmer J. Carlson as secretary, both of whom helped to established it in 1929.

EARNINGS: General Electric Co. reported net income of $26,702,978 or 93 cents a common share for first three months this year, compared with $25,389,149 or 88 cents a share in like 1948 period. Other earnings statements:

Court Refuses To Block Sale Of Farnsworth

New York, April 19 (AP).—Supreme Court Justice Bernard Botein today dismissed two suits brought to prevent the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. from acquiring the assets of the Farnsworth Television & Radio Corp.

In an hour-long opinion read from the bench, Justice Botein said that while a hard bargain may have been driven, it "was not an unscrupulous bargain."

The court said:

"The truth of the matter is that Farnsworth entered the conference room stripped of its most potent trading asset, a competing alternative to selling out to I. T. & T. It may be that I. T. & T. representatives were aware of this situation and drove a hard bargain. Businessmen are not sentimentalists and deals are made under such circumstances daily in the business world . . ."

The court passed upon actions brought by Robert W. Kenny, a former attorney general of the State of California, and Harry Hecht, both Farnsworth stockholders.

In his petition for an injunction, Kenny alleged that "Farnsworth and International wrongfully entered into a conspiracy and concerted program to cause Farnsworth to go out of business contrary to the interests of Farnsworth's stockholders."

Justice Botein noted that Farnsworth lost 10 million dollars in the four years ended last January, currently was losing $10,000 daily, had from time to time sold capital assets, and that cash on hand as of January, 1949, was "less than $20,000."

Chicago Grain

Chicago, April 19 (AP).—Grains bounced up with the best gains for any day in the past couple of weeks on the Board of Trade today. May wheat set the market's pace, jumping more than 3 cents in at one time and going to a new high since last January.

Trading got off to a very slow start and it looked as if it would be another dull day of minor price changes, probably with a slightly weaker undertone. But around midway in the session May started moving higher. It kept right on doing so to the close.

Volume did not pick up a great deal on the advance, although it was heavier than in the morning. Some buying, particularly in May wheat, came from previous short sellers.

At the close, wheat was 1¾ to 2⅞ higher, corn was 1⅜ to 2¾ higher, oats were 1¼ to 1⅝ higher, rye was 1⅛ to 2¾ higher, soybeans were 2¾ to 3¾ higher and lard was 30 to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Downs Takes Over As Cont. Life Head

L. McCarthy Downs, former member of the Virginia Corporation Commission, took office yesterday as president and general manager of the Continental Life Insurance Co.

There was no special ceremony as Downs took over the job. He succeeded H. A. Bartholomew, who has been elected board chairman.

Friends and well-wishers from many parts of Virginia sent flowers to the new president in his Investment Building office.

Downs served for more than four years on the State Corporation Commission and prior to that for 12 years as State auditor.

He said he will bring his family here later when he finds a place to live.

New York Cotton

New York, April 19 (AP).—Cotton futures were firm and active today, featured by heavy covering operations in nearby May, prior to first notice day next Tuesday. Buying was stimulated because of the large unliquidated open interest in May, plus the fact that certificated stocks available for delivery against futures are small. Nearby May futures advanced to 32 cents a pound, or within 12 points of the season's high. Offerings increased at that level. Traders estimated about 25,000 bales of May contracts were liquidated at 33 cents, with the over-all reduction in the May interest for the day placed around 50,000 bales. Final prices in futures were 20 to 75 cents a bale above the previous close.

Judge Assailed For Criticizing 2 Policemen

Members of the District Policemen's Association last night assailed Municipal Court Judge Armond W. Scott for his recent reprimand of two Second Precinct policemen. They ordered that a letter criticizing his action be sent to him from the association.

On April 13, the jurist accused Benjamin F. Howze and John C. Ostrom, policemen from the Second Precinct, of brutally beating a drunk, and called them a "disgrace to the police department." The criticism occurred during the trial of Eugene Brooks, 39, of 909 O st. nw., who was charged with assaulting the policemen and who was ruled guilty by Judge Scott.

Some members called Judge Scott a jurist "who uses every means in his power to get himself in print." Inspector Milton D. Smith, assistant superintendent of police, said there had been "entirely too much" criticism of District policemen coming from the courts.

Group to Investigate

The association also appointed a committee to investigate the remarks made by Judge Scott and to report their findings to the Public Order Committee of the Washington Board of Trade.

Ras Neilson, president of the association, said that if the remarks made by Judge Scott were as quoted in the newspapers, the Board of Trade committee would be asked to review the records of the police department to determine the extent of police brutality and to make a public report.

On a motion made by Pvt. John C. Vincent of the Accident Investigation Unit, the association appointed a committee to discuss with Police Superintendent Robert J. Barrett the feasibility of installing riot guns or shotguns in scout cars and cruisers.

At the same time, the committee was asked to consider provisions to supply standard equipment for motorcycle policemen. Red warning lights, saddlebags and leather gloves are now purchased at the discretion of the individual policeman and are not furnished by the Police Department.

Pay Ruling Sought

The association approved a request by Sergt. Francis H. Dunn of the Traffic Division that a letter be sent to Major Barrett asking the District Commissioners for a ruling on holiday pay for District policemen.

According to Sergeant Dunn, policemen at the present time do not get an additional day off for working on a holiday and are charged with holidays when they fall during their annual leave periods.

The policemen met at the Odd Fellows Hall, 419 7th st. nw. More than 90 members were present.

First Nesting

Prairie Lark Made History In Rockland

Pearl River, N. Y., April 19 (NYHT).—The first recorded nesting of the prairie horned lark in Rockland County was completed here this afternoon on the vast lawn of the Lederle Laboratories when three fledglings left the nest to take up independent lives.

The presence of the unusual family was unknown to all but a select few of the 2000 employes of the laboratories who drove their cars within 20 feet of the nest twice each day.

Partial credit for the successful rearing of the family naturally goes to the parent birds but greater credit goes to members of the Rockland County Audubon Society, chemists, gardeners and others in the know who guarded the nest through a series of dangers and crises which beset birds nesting on factory lawns.

The prairie horned lark is slightly larger than a sparrow. It is pinkish-brown on the back, white underneath and with black and white markings on the head. It has two tufts of dark feathers which stick up to resemble horns. Altogether is is a jaunty bird and gay.

Once it was confined to the open prairies of the north, particularly Canada, but with the clearings of the forests it gradually moved south. It had been known on Long Island and in other section not far from New York City but had never been known to nest in Rockland County.

Almond Silent On VA Claims

Richmond, Va., April 19 (AP).—Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond, jr., reserved comment today after a conference with Major General Richard J. Marshall, superintendent of Virginia Military Academy, on VMI's $100,000 dispute with the Veterans Administration.

Almond said only that he had reached no official opinion but had the matter under study.

VA officials contend VMI owes the Government about $100,000 in student money for tuition because VMI credited the money to veterans for expenses other than those technically chargeable to tuition. The mixup resulted from the fact that Virginia students at VMI are not charged tuition.

General Marshall has said the disputed money was allotted through the Institute specifically to veteran students by name and that it all went to veterans.

Future Space Ships Face Heat Factor

Weathermen probing upper reaches of the earth's atmosphere have uncovered another element, heat, to plague space ship travelers of the future, it was reported here yesterday.

The "heat" at highest sounding wasn't too hot — a straight zero reading on the Fehrenheit scale —but even higher it may reach the boiling point, said Dr. C. J. Brasefield, civilian scinetist of the United States Signal Corps.

Dr. Bresefield reported on the findings of last September's record scientific instrument ascent of 140,000 feet, in current meetings of the American Meteorological Society here.

Before weather balloon flights into the ozonosphere (100,000 to 150,000 feet up) it was generally believed that temperatures dropped steadily at increasing altitude, said Doctor Brasefield. Normal weather balloon readings, at their 40,000 to 60,000 feet range, bore this out.

The record ascent, he told assembled weathermen yesterday, showed that while earth's residents were enjoying a pleasant 68-degree (F) temperature at the Signal Corps base, at Belmar, N. J., the reading was minus-70 (F) at its low point, 60,000 feet up. From then on up, he said, the temperature rose steadily to zero at the 140,000-foot point.

The instrumented findings, along with studies made by scientists investigating sound waves, has led to a new belief that at 200,000 feet the temperature may approach the boiling point, Dr. Brasefield said. After that, it's anyone's guess.

Dr. James E. Miller, professor of meteorology at New York University, was awarded the society's highest honor, the Meisinger Award, at a special luncheon here yesterday. He was cited for his achievements in studies in vertical motions, one of the lesser forces of tornadoes and cyclones.

Tax Hike Plan Is Condemned In Arlington

Opponents of an Arlington tax increase dominated a public hearing last night on the county's $9,115,000 budget for 1949-50.

Twenty minutes before the county board hearing on the budget began, every seat in the Circuit Court room was filled.

Seat holders, most of them property owners, real estate men and long-time Arlington residents, loudly cheered speakers who condemned a proposed 89-cent tax increase.

The usually vocal Better Schools faction, in the county, which jammed a similar budget hearing March 24, got few seats and was forced to stand in the aisles and the doorway.

Speakers against the tax rate increase, all warmly applauded, included W. S. Hoge, jr., a real estate man; Apartment Owner William Ames who said the tax burden would "load up our children;" Realtor Judson Reamy, jr.; and C. I. Kephart, former Arlington Public Utilities Commissioner, who said the country is entering a recession "and this is not the time to raise taxes."

Speaking on the other side, Ivan A. Booker, an official of the National Education Association, said taxes should have been raised several years ago.

Others who favored any tax increase necessary included Warren Cox, 2808 S. Ives st., representing the Hume School P-TA; E. R. Draheim, president of the county council of P-TAs; and Harley M. Williams, chairman of the County Better Government League.

The county board must approve the new budget by April 30.

The proposed 89-cent increase in the tax rate — from $3.25 to $4.14 — would give 50 cents more to schools and 39 cents additional for county purposes.

Spectral 'Jenny' Highly Physical

By Richard L. Coe

"PORTRAIT OF JENNY," at the Trans-Lux, is a mighty physical fantasy.

Which is something that is odd for a movie about a dead girl to be. Hedda Hopper has been quoted as saying that this picture is "indescribable."

I wouldn't go that far, nor does the Selznick office, which claims that "Portrait of Jenny" offers "spectacle," "comedy,' "mystery and suspense," "spiritual quality and great musical quality."

Those claims apart, "Portrait of Jenny" is at least different. Its heroine has been dead for some years, though the way she clings to Joseph Cotten's chest you'd hardly believe it. Joseph is the only person who can see her, except those millions of us not in Robert Nathan's story. Jenny is Jennifer Jones, and in the course of a few months she drifts back into terrestial shape, growing years each time, until she's just the beauty to inspire Cotton to paint her portrait for the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

As I say, this certainly is a "different" sort of plot. In my blessed, impressionable youth I relished the Nathan novel, which was fragile, warming, or so it then seemed. Nathan's books are slight things—"One More Spring" (which became a successful film) and "Journey of Tapiola," to name a couple. His style is delicate and there is a satirical tone running through his quiet charm.

But a gentle, quiet style is what "Portrait of Jenny" has not got in abundance. Mr. Selznick fondly compares its final storm with "the hurricane of 'The Hurricane,' the earthquake of 'San Francisco,' the parting of the sea in 'The Ten Commandments,' etc." Suggestion, impressions do come through once in a while, but Mr. Selznick's handling has been too literal for the gossamer quality this fantasy requires.

A Scarf for Remembrance

Cotten comes across his model in Central Park, when she is 12 and he is just about eating as a dogged artist. Art Dealers Ethel Barrymore and Cecil Kellaway see some promise in him, encourage him. They like his sketch of the child when he next sees her she's grown some years and in their few meetings he realizes that she's living in the past. Just when he hopes he'll have her for a lifetime, she's drowned off the Massachusetts coast in a terrible storm, which kindly repeats itself on the stroke of the hour some years later. Cotten almost loses his life and has only a scarf to show for his lost lady.

Now such a story as this must be told in such a way that you believe it and do not ask questions. But Miss Jones' affection for Cotten is obviously a mighty physical thing, as is the storm which twice destroys her. The physical is impressed upon us—not the philosophisings of life, time, space and death, to which the foreword refers and at which the film only occasionally hints. It is probably the sort of story a poet with a broken-down camera might successfully film; but technique care and overscored Debussy in the hands of a merchant prince make you think of its absurdities, not its possible charm.

Miss Jones looks as ethereal as ever in her earlier scenes, particularly as the child, but by the time Love Dawns, you know she's Jennifer Jones, lovely, virtuous, but hardly Jenny. Cotten is pleasantly perplexed, as well he might be. Ethel Barrymore is splendid as the helpful art connoisseur and you'll note Lillian Gish as a nun who remembers Jenny. The chap who plays Cotten's taxi-driving pal is David Wayne, Henry Fondo's ensign in "Mister Roberts."

ADMIRAL BYRD will read one of the last letters of an earlier South Pole explorer tonight at the American Cancer Society's benefit opening of "Scott of the Antarctic" at the Playhouse . . . The American, whose "The Secret Land" was released just last year, will be reading a letter Scott wrote about 13 days before he died . . . This dramatic sidelight will make tonight's benefit memorable for six celebrated international movie-makers in the house: J. Arthur Rank, Eric Johnston, Sir Alexander Korda, Nicholas Schenck, Sir Henry French and Barney Balaban.

BOB HOPE'S air-junketing show has switched its matinee at Constitution Hall on Thursday the twenty-eighth to 4:30, which is good news to Uncle Sam's laborers who get off in time to make it to the DAR temple . . . Tickets for both the matinee and evening show at 8:30 are on sale at the Willard agency in the Willard Hotel lobby.

BOAST: E. M. Loew's Drive-In on the Richmond Highway has a boast—a first-run, something supposedly unique in the drive-in worldl; some of the bloom comes off when you read it's a first-run re-release, which means "first time out this trip" for a couple of old favorites: "Submarine," with Richard Dix, and "Dirigible," with Jack Holt. The bill is slated for a full week beginning Sunday.

STICKING: "Gone With the Wind" is staying at the National for a second week, which should surprise no one . . . "The Red Shoes" moves into the Bethesda for a three-day run at continuous performances . . . Mr. and Mrs. John Agar, Shirley Temple to most of us, arrive at Keith's today in a light comedy, "Adventure in Baltimore."

TREND-SETTER RETURNS: Some historians lay the start of the Top-Budget Western cycle to this favorite of 10 years ago—"Stagecoach," John Ford's splendid picture of a lively jaunt across the desert. Tomorrow the Metropolitan brings back this memorable triumph. Here are John Wayne and Louise Platt. Others in the cast are Thomas Mitchell, Andy Devine, John Carradine, Claire Trevor, George Bandcroft, Donald Meek

NEW YORK.—Diane Hopkins, daughter of the late Harry Hopkins, is attending school in Switzerland. She is the beneficiary of a $100,000 trust fund recently set up for her by a former Cabinet member . . . Ludwig Bemelmans, the author-artist who started in America as a bus-boy at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in New York, is heading a syndicate negotiating for the purchase of this hotel. Bemelmans has disposed of the European hotel-chain he inherited, and his new acquisitions include the White Turkey Inn in Danbury, Conn. . . . Louis Bromfield, the novelist who made his Malabar, Ohio, farm famous, has just bought a farm in Wichita Falls, Texas.

Sam Zimbalist, the film producer, saw an attractive 18-year-old actress and sighed: "I could go for her—if I were 15 years older" . . . Oscar Levant's advice on How to Be a Prodigy: "Lie about your age."

Sir Charles Mendl tried to build a cabana at the Trancas Beach property he owns, but was stopped by the building restrictions which forbid the construction of any edifice costing less than $6,000. Last week Sir Charles prepared to build a beach-house, instead of the cabana, because he now has the required money—inherited from Atwater Kent . . . Arthur Tait, the Australian impresario who popularized lunchtime concerts—from 12 to 12:40 and 1 to 1:40—is in New York now to produce such shows here.

Chester Erskine, the producer-director, in discussing the sentiments of Broadway veterans who work in Hollywood, told of Alison Skipworth who, while working in a movie on a Saturday afternoon, suddenly paused and sighed . . . "What are you sighing about?" Erskine asked her. "At the salary you're getting, each sigh costs the studio $100" . . . "I know, I know, the salary's nice," Miss Skipworth sighed. "But I can't help thinking that this is Saturday afternoon—and somewhere in the world there's a matinee, and I'm not in it."

Jed Harris, producer of "The Traitor," and John Ringling North, producer of the circus show, were comparing notes on their respective hits. "You have a cast of 1100, and 300 animals and 300 stagehands," said Harris. "I have only a cost of 18, and 7 stagehands—and it keeps me awake nights. How can you sleep?" North explained: "Do what I do—produce shows with your brothers. My brothers don't sleep, but I do"

Boy, Dog Unhurt As 13-Car Train Runs Over Them

Winnemucca, Nev. April 19 (AP). A train ran over 13-year-old Billy Marrs and he wasn't hurt. But he broke his arm when he fell off the railroad trestle after the train passed.

The boy was playing near a railroad trestle on the Western Pacific mainline tracks. As a train approached, Billy's dog ran out on the trestle. Billy dashed after the dog and picked her up, then stumbled.

But Billy remembered what his father, William T. Marrs, a railroadman, once had told him. Holding Queenie firmly, Billy flattened himself between the rails and shut his eyes. A Diesel locomotive and 13 freight cars passed over him.

Then Billy fell off the trestle and broke his arm.

Nats Beaten by Yanks on Henrich Homer in 9th, 3 to 2; Browns Chase Feller and Wynn, Upset Cleveland, 5 to 1

This Morning

With Shirley Povich

NEW YORK, N. Y., APRIL 19—Baseball's claim to fame as the worst-run big business in the world has been solidified by the Yankee's inept handling of the Joe Di Maggio case.

He's sitting on the Yankee bench today in street clothes with no idea when he'll be back in uniform, a worried, harrassed million-dollar piece of property.

POVICH

The Yanks got him the best doctors, and on that score are blameless enough, but otherwise they took no precautions to protect DiMaggio, a moody guy, from himself or an inquisitive press.

Smarter operators would never have permitted an introspective fellow like DiMaggio to go it alone in Baltimore while he was taking treatment for his painful heel spur, and worrying his head off. An organization with hundreds of employes, they didn't detach anybody to keep him company or fend off the curious.

In the hospital, at least, DiMaggio was protected from the clamor of celebrity seekers and news reporters, but the Yanks stupidly permitted him to become an out-patient and live at a downtown hotel where he was a target for the same old questions of which he was weary.

The Yanks had nobody on the scene to overrule hospital authorities when they refused the request by news services to issue a daily bulletin on DiMag's progress and thus there were attempts to get into his hospital room.

IT WASN'T NICE for DiMaggio to explode, as he did to reporters—"You're driving me batty; this thing is beginning to get mental with me"—but that's what he did and he could be forgiven. P The Yankees didn't see fit to give him a press attache to take the load off him.

One of DiMaggio's troubles is that he is no ham and there is no phoney in him, and he speaks out, facts that the Yankees should have known. He doesn't meet people easily, and driven by pain he gets morose and churlish.

He was a worried guy that day when a photographer upped and asked him "When are you going to quit?" and he hated that question. It was a time when the Yankees should have provided him with press relations, but they were leaving him on his own.

DiMag's value to the Yankees is easily a million dollars. With him in action last year, they made two million dollars. This year, without DiMaggo, they could even drop out of the first division, and with their enormous overhead, could drop a million in income in one season.

Joe is forgivably impatient with the doctors. They told him he'd be in the opening game lineup, and there's great doubt now that he'll make it by June. "They tell me I'm all right," he once said, "but they don't have to walk on this heel of mine."

THE YANKEES SPENT more than a million beautifying their park, but with the man who can make it pay they have been short-sighted all the while. They gave him a nice contract for $90,000, but knowing the need for another operation on his right heel, they let more than a month lapse after the end of the 1948 season before ordering him into the hospital.

The irony is for DiMag, that his left heel, operated on in January, 1947, was supposed to be the more serious operation. That entailed a skin-grafting job, with maggot therapy, and has left Joe with ugly scars, in contrast to the clean incision on his right heel. But it is the latter that has given him the most trouble.

If DiMaggio is impatient with his tough luck, that is completely understandable. He has had a rotten run of it, with ailments keeping him out of six Yankee openings since he came into the majors 13 years ago. And despite his $90,000 salary for 1949, he is not as well-heeled financially as he'd like. His divorce settlement cost him dearly, and the Yankee firm has a very unhappy convalescent on its hands.

Garver Holds Champs to 7 Hits; Paige Fans 3 of 6

St. Louis, April 19 (AP).—Those upstart St. Louis Browns walloped the World Champion Cleveland Indians, 5-1, today in a season opener featured by the pitching of baby-faced Ned Garver.

The turnout of 12,817 appeared small compared to the crowds at other opening day games but it was the largest for a Browns opener at Sportsman's Park in more than 15 years.

Veteran Bob Feller, the losing pitcher, had trouble finding the plate and was jerked after two innings by Manager Lou Boudreau. The only hit off him was a triple to the right center fence by Rookie Jack Graham, leading to the first Browns run, but Feller walked three.

Early Wynn Nicked

The 23-year-old Garver, who may prove to be the strong man of Manager Zach Taylor's weak pitching staff, was effective when it counted most. He gave up only seven hits in going the route and had six strikeouts.

The Browns nicked Early Wynn, the second of four Tribe pitchers, including ancient Satchel Paige, for their four other runs.

One of the features of the contest was the two-inning stint by Paige, who struck out three of the six men he faced.

Cleveland Signs Benton for Relief

Cleveland, April 19 (U.P.).—Big Al Benton, veteran major league right hander who was given his unconditional release by the Detroit Tigers last winter, today was purchased from Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League by the Cleveland Indians for an undisclosed sum.

The deal also included the optioning of Rookie Infielder Freddie Marsh from the Indians to Sacramento. Cleveland officials emphasized that the 6 foot 2 Benton would join the club "strictly as a relief pitcher."

Erratic Cards Bow to Reds, 3-1

Cincinnati, April 19 (AP).—Two costly errors by Nippy Jones and Tommy Glaviano let three unearned Cincinnati runs across the plate today as the Reds opened their 1949 National League baseball season with a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rip Sewell Beats Leonard In Battle of 40-Year-Olds

Chicago, April 19 (AP).—Rip Sewell, always a Chicago nemesis, won a pitching duel of 40-year-olds today as the Pittsburgh Pirates nicked Emil (Dutch) Leonard for an unearned ninth-inning tally and an opening day 1-0 over the Chicago Cubs.

A crowd of 29,392 watched the Wrigley Field inaugural in which Leonard's five-hitter wasn't quite as good as Sewell's eight-hit shutout.

Garver Holds Champs to 7 Hits; Paige Fans 3 of 6

St. Louis, April 19 (AP).—Those upstart St. Louis Browns walloped the World Champion Cleveland Indians, 5-1, today in a season opener featured by the pitching of baby-faced Ned Garver.

The turnout of 12,817 appeared small compared to the crowds at other opening day games but it was the largest for a Browns opener at Sportsman's Park in more than 15 years.

Veteran Bob Feller, the losing pitcher, had trouble finding the plate and was jerked after two innings by Manager Lou Boudreau. The only hit off him was a triple to the right center fence by Rookie Jack Graham, leading to the first Browns run, but Feller walked three.

Early Wynn Nicked

The 23-year-old Garver, who may prove to be the strong man of Manager Zach Taylor's weak pitching staff, was effective when it counted most. He gave up only seven hits in going the route and had six strikeouts.

The Browns nicked Early Wynn, the second of four Tribe pitchers, including ancient Satchel Paige, for their four other runs.

One of the features of the contest was the two-inning stint by Paige, who struck out three of the six men he faced.

Sherman Lollar, the former New York Yankee, started as the Brownie catcher but pulled an arm muscle while at bat in the second and was replaced by Les Moss.

But Denies He May Retire Temporarily

Bob Feller Scared By Chronic Shoulder Pain

St. Louis, April 19 (U.P.).—Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians admitted concern over shoulder trouble tonight, but vehemently denied any intention of temporarily retiring.

The Cleveland fire-ball ace lasted only two innings against the St. Louis Browns today and then was removed by Manager Lou Boudreau.

He said his shoulder had caused him "some trouble" during the spring, but he did not think the condition serious.

The Cleveland Press, however, quoted Feller that his shoulder trouble is deep-seated and chronic. The paper further quoted him: "All spring I have hoped that the kinks would work out. So far they haven't. When I throw hard it is like a knife sticking in my shoulder."

According to the paper, Feller said "if it doesn't work out I'll have to go in conference with the ball club and decide what to do."

[In St. Louis, the Associated Press quoted Feller after today's game: "Every time I had to rear back, I would feel pain. It hurt so much sometimes that I had to flinch. I guess that's why I was having control trouble. It would hurt when I would start my delivery and throw me off."

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians said he would have Feller examined tomorrow by Dr. Robert F. Hyland, St. Louis specialist.

"We think there is muscular soreness because it is in the back of the shoulder, but we aren't taking any chances," Boudreau said.]

Eddie Joost hammered a homer into the left-field stands for what became the deciding run.

Those Wondrous Nats

SO OUR NATS lost one. We played a great game, didn't we? You can't expect us to win 'em all.

After all, we're playing .500 ball. And we're doing it against clubs that were picked to finish far ahead of us.

What's gonna happen when we go up against clubs like the Brownies and White Sox?

Two of our guys are proving that their great showings in spring training were no flukes, aren't they? I mean Sid Hudson and Gil Coan, of course.

Hudson was scored on in only one inning during the training sessions and he showed the same stuff yesterday. A great curve and lots of poise with the men on bases.

AND IN THE SECOND inning, two more Yankees got into scoring positions, and our boy dug in again. This time it was against that pesky little Snuffy Stirnweiss, who always gets a piece of the ball, and once led the league in hitting. Sid poured a third strike past him, too.

Sure, Sid lost the game. But how? Henrich had already left six men stranded, so in the ninth Tommy took a strike. Then he figured he had nothing to lose, closed his eyes, and swung. The law of averages was on his side. Tommy hit a homer.

BUT how 'bout our Coan. He was already hitting .600 So what did he do yesterday? He got three-for-four, and upped his average to .667. That oughta lead the league, huh.

And let's not forget Eddie Robinson. He's the power hitter we've been looking for for years. That homer yesterday was no bunt. That gives him one homer in two games. At that rate, he could hit 77, though we don't quite expect him to do that well.

2 Groth Homers Pace Tigers' 5-1 Triumph

Detroit, April 19 (AP).—Johnny Groth, the Detroit Tigers' rookie outfield whiz from Buffalo, blasted two home runs today as Hal Newhouser tamed the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 1, on three hits. The crowd of 53,435 fans was an opening day record for Detroit.

Groth belted his homers in successive times at bat off Allen Gettel in the fifth and seventh innings. The first one was an inside-the-park blow to right field and the second a smash into the upper left-field stands.

AT HAVRE DE GRACE

DEAR FOLKS:

Havre de Grace Race Track, Md., April 19—Jimmy Jones, Calumet Farm trainer, is on record as saying 130 pounds should be the top weight for any handicap. Coaltown was assigned 132 for the Philadelphia Handicap, Wednesday feature, and stays in the barn. However, Coaltown gets in Saturday's Burke with 130, so there is a possibility that Jones will put him in the field. The Philadelphia, without Coaltown, is a wide open affair. Apprentice Nolan Griffith made his first competitive appearance in silks aboard Brindisi in the third race. He is 17 and a Hagerstown, Md., boy under contract to G. C. Smith. Jockey Carson Kirk went to New York to ride Big Dial at Jamaica. Remember the mare Upper Level? She's been bred to Air Hero, reports J. P. Jones of Charlottesville—BILL.

Turbine 3d In Muddy Feature

By Walter Haight
Post Reporter

Havre de Grace, Md., April 19. High Trend, a son of Jack High, was shifted into high gear by Jockey Mike Basile and proved a going-away winner in the $3500 Susquehanna Purse, featuring the Tuesday program at this turf point.

Carrying the colors of Samuel Greenfield, Baltimore attorney, High Trend led Flying Weather, owned by D. K. Kerr, jr., of Washington to the wire by three parts of a length. S. M. Newmeyer's Turbine was third in the field of eight.

Despite the fact that High Trend whipped Flying Weather when last they met here, the crowd of 8500 allowed the 5-year-old gelding to go postward at 10-1, and he paid almost those identical odds—$22.40 to be exact.

Track Is Heavy

The track was heavy as the result of rains last night. However, High Trend stepped the 6 furlongs in a fair 1.13 3-5.

What was believed to be the longest delay in studying the photo of a finish since the camera was inaugurated at American tracks took place here in the second race when the judges required approximately 17 minutes before coming to a decision. Two photos were consulted before the officials could decide.

The final result showed Brookfield Stable's Ism beating Archmere by an inch. Ism paid $11.40 and Archmere was a long shot.

After the long delay in studying the picture the "objection" sign was flashed, causing a further delay.

Apprentice W. Willie Downs, on Archmere, claimed Apprentice H. McGuigon, on Ism, rode him close through the late stretch. The stewards took no action.

Third honors in the field of 11 maiden 3 year olds going six furlongs, went to the favorite, Zerlina, which came in five lengths back of the second horse. Ism was timed in 1.16 3/5.

The payoff on the winning daily double combination of Suleiman and Ism (6-5) was $35.80. All wagers made on Buvel were refunded.

WOMEN FIND LOCAL MEN
Looking Better, Handsomer!

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20—So many women have been commenting on the improvement in male appearance hereabouts that we put a sleuth on the story. He snooped, he interviewed, he checked all over town. Here's his scoop: "The men who look better are using Pal Hollow Ground razor blades 100%. I've talked to dozens and the story's the same—Pal Hollow Ground. They tell me they shave better, cleaner, with no irritation to tender skins. Pal still gives you 4 for 10¢, 10 for 25¢, 21 for 49¢, and 44 for 98¢—Single or Double Edge. So I bought some myself. How do I look?"

The news is traveling by leaps and bounds!

Orioles Roll Over Wild Middies, 9-1

Annapolis, Md., April 19 (AP).—The Baltimore Orioles defeated Navy, 9-1, today in their annual preseason exhibition game with the Midshipmen.

The International Leaguers took advantage of Pitcher Bill Hawkins' wildness to fashion six tallies in the second inning off five walks, two hits and a Navy error.

14 Sprinters Vie Today in $10,000 'Cap

Havre de Grace, Md., April 19. Fourteen excellent sprinters vie tomorrow in the $10,000 Philadelphia Handicap. The sprint of 6 furlongs is without an outstanding favorite.

Greentree Stable's Blue Border and William G. Helis' Mr. Ace are likely to receive the most support from the midweek crowd.

Mr. E. DuPont Weir's Royal Governor, an invader from New York, is expected to go well in the feature and so is Mrs. O. L. Nyberg's consistent mare Irisen.

Calumet Farm will have two representatives—Faultless and Pep Well and Mrs. A. E. Augustus' Seven League will have his share of followers.

Blue Border is not the most consistent horse in training, but when he takes it into his head to run he can really move. His effort in the recent Paumonok Handicap at Jamaica wasn't bad. If he is in a running mood, Blue Border will be hard to beat.

Mr. Ace, after a second to Better Self at Jamaica, came here and won the six-furlong Harford Handicap last Wednesday easily. The son of Case Ace and Lady Glory was campaigned at Santa Anita through the winter and there should be no excuse for his fitness.

Royal Governor finished back of Blue Border in the Paumonok and then was a winner at Jamaica.

Irisen won her last two starts at Bowie. She is holding her edge well.

Faultless hasn't started since the Hialeah meeting. His winter form was very good. Pep Well was a beaten favorite here recently. Seven League got considerable support in the Harford Handicap, his first start of the year last Wednesday, but ran as though he needed the race.—HAIGHT.

Griffs Lose On Henrich's Homer, 3-2

opening start against the Nats last year, held Washington to eight hits, and kept them at bay with a one-hit job in the last three innings.

Lewis Misses Signal

Hudson was in trouble in the opening inning after Stirnweiss and Rizzuto opened up with a pair of cheap hits, but he escaped grandly by striking out both Henrich and Hank Bauer. And in the second, he fanned Rizzuto for the third out with two on.

But the Yanks got to him for a run in the third after Rizzuto and Woodling opened up with singles. Henrich popped up but Bauer's long fly to Coan moved Rizzuto home from third.

The Nats got nothing out of the first inning after Dente singled to right with one out, because Buddy Lewis muffed a hit-and-run sign and Dente was out stealing.

In the fourth, though, Hudson personally drove in the run that tied the score at 1-1. He singled over second base after Al Evans gained credit for a double with a hit to Bauer who stumbled on the wet turf in an attempt for a shoestring catch.

Robby Blasts Homer

Two were out in the sixth when Robinson suddenly lifted the Nats into the lead. Obtained from the Indians last December for just such purposes, Big Robby walloped a long homer yards beyond the 344-foot sign in right field.

Hudson's wildness caught up with him in the seventh. He walked Rizzuto and Woodling with one out. Henrich flied out, but the Yankees inserted Yogi Berra to pinch-hit for Bauer and it was an excellent choice. Squatty Yogi pumped a single to center and Rizzuto was home with the tying run.

The closest the Nats came to scoring after the sixth was with two out in the seventh when Coan singled to center for his third straight hit and stole second. Dente left him there with a grounder to Rizzuto.

The Yankees were doing themselves no particular good either, until all of a sudden with the game presumably going into extra innings, Henrich unloaded that monumental homer.

NOTES.

Paul Calvert, whose name wasn't on the Washington roster when the Nats opened spring training, is bobbing up as their starting pitcher against the Yankees tomorrow.

Calvert, a refugee from the Mexican Winter League, with past major league experience at Cleveland, is a desperate sort of choice of Manager Joe Kuhel who suddenly finds himself shorthanded in pitching.

Kuhel vetoed the idea of starting Mickey Haefner against the Yanks, pointing out his traditional ineffectiveness in Yankee Stadium, where the Nats have won only three games of the 23 played since 1946.

So critical does Kuhel find his pitching situation because of injuries and ailments of Walter Masterson, Milo Candidi and Ed Klieman, that on Thursday he will pitch Rookie Dick Welttroth against the Yankees.

Facing the Nats tomorrow will be Vic Raschi, 19-game winner of last season, and No. One man on the Yankee staff.

. . . Gil Coan, who is supposed to have a batting weakness against left-handed pitching, rapped Ed Lopat today for three of the Nats' eight hits . . . Clyde Vollmer, hero of Washington's opening-game victory, didn't get a ball out of the infield . . . before the game, the Babe Ruth Foundation handed over to the American Cancer Society a check for $100,000 to be used combat the disease among children . . . Catcher Al Evans vigorously protested the base on balls to Woodling that led to the tying Yank run in the seventh, insisting that he had swung at a 3-and-2 pitch . . . before the game, the Yankees attempted to talk trade with the Nats, with a view to getting Eddie Robinson in exchange for Bill Johnson and a pitcher . . . it was futile.

Hunter Henry Beckett Is "Jumped" by Stag; Survives

Henry Beckett, of Chase City, Va., has had many a hunting thrill—but this tops 'em all. "Hunting rabbits in the snow, I stumbled on a big buck deer. He let out a bellow and charged, antlers down. My Marlin .22 was light for deer, but I got in five fast shots. The deer knocked me down, and fell on top of me—dead! Bashed the wind out of me—and no wonder, that buck weighed 178 pounds."

"My fast-firing Marlin saved my life," adds Mr. Beckett, "and fast-shaving Marlin Blades save me time and money too. Both products suit me 100%." Single or Double Edge—12 for 25¢; Economy Packs 25 for 50¢, 60 for a dollar.

4 D. C. Golfers Eliminated In North-South

Pinehurst, N. C., April 19 (AP).—All four Washington, D. C., hopefuls fell by the wayside in the North-South Amateur Golf Tournament here today.

Marvin (Bub) Worsham, former Washington Post Schoolboy Golf Champion, now captain of the Wake Forest team, lost a heartbreaker, 1 up in 19 holes, to C. A. Snow of High Point, N. C.

Karl Corby, a Columbia Country Club standard-bearer, also was nosed out, 1 up, by Frank E. Dens of Lumberton, N. C.

Charles McCarthy and Howard Jobe, a pair of Georgetown University golfers, who shot 82's in the qualifying match play, were eliminated in the 11-way playoff for match-play berths.

Defending Champion Harvie Ward, the University of North Carolina Junior from Tarboro, N. C., his 1948 finals victim, Frank Stranahan, of Toledo, Ohio, and the other prime choices moved into tomorrow's double-barreled round almost without incident.

Swedish Champ Wins Marathon

Boston, April 19 (AP).—Long and smooth-striding Karl Gosta Leanderssen, the 31-year-old Swedish champion, ran a front race for the last 15 miles today to win the Boston A. A.'s fifty-third Boston Marathon in 2 hours, 31 minutes, 50.8 seconds.

Episcopal Wins High Track Meet

Episcopal's trackmen won a quadrangular high school meet yesterday on the winner's oval in Alexandria. Episcopal had 66 points, Roosevelt 35½, McKinley Tech 21½, and Western 18. Jack Dilweg scored 26 points for Episcopal by taking four first places and two seconds.

Mt. Vernon Beats Gonzaga, 11-3

Ben Blue

The somewhat startled, faintly puzzled gentleman whose countenance meets your eye directly below likely would have gone through life without that particular expression on his pan had he not once lived in Washington.

For it was here, sometime around the First World War, that Ben Blue got his start. Since then you've seen him in the movies, on the stage, in night clubs.

Currently, with Patti Moore and Ben Lessy, he's appearing in the hilarious "All For Fun" review at the Statler's Embassy Room.

Sad-eyed, match-thin Blue, born in Montreal in 1901, moved with his family to Baltimore at the age of 10. When schooling palled on him, he came to our fair city. At 16, he was dressing windows in a local haberdashery.

It was about that time that he met destiny in the shape of Sammy Lewis, oldtime vaudevillian and now Patti Moore's husband and recent creater of the "All For Fun" revue. Sammy, an expert hoofer, taught Ben to dance. And Ben embarked on his entertainment career.

The revue at the Embassy Room is brand new. The musi-comedy trio made its debut in February at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco, while Blue was between pictures. Miss Moore and Ben Lessy, on the other hand, have been a night club combination since 1940. They put in seven years at Slapsy Maxie's.

Now, we're told, the Blue-Moore-Lessy team is proving so big a hit that Blue and Lewis are considering buying a nightery in Hollywood to feature the act. Meantime, through April 30, at any rate, you can catch it at the Statler.

Last winter, Rita Anne Artiste, who began a return engagement at the Neptune Room's piano a few days ago, spent her vacation in Florida. The vacation was in name only, mostly—it turned into a full season of work, with engagements at Palm Beach's Taboo Club and the Broadmoor in Miami Beach.

They liked her at both spots so much that she's booked at them through the winter season of 1949-50. That is, if she can get away from the Neptune Room, where the customers like her very much.

JOTTINGS . . . Chef Gabriel Christol, at Michel's, is serving a special bread these days. He double-bakes it to crispness and then spreads it with a secret concoction containing herbs, cheese, olive oil and other ingredients. Try it . . . Normandy Farm's new chef and hostess are from southern France. They're M. and Mme. Luque. While he's working in the new kitchen, she's out front chatting in her native tongue with French-speaking residents of this area. Evangeline Balfour, the graphologist, is headquartering at Normandy Farm Fridays and Saturdays . . . Maurice Rocco, who stands up to play the piano, is packing the Crossroads (at the Peace Cross in Bladensburg) these nights . . . The "Eight Diplomats," headed by Bud (Hot Lips) Smith, are making the Saturday night dances at Greenbelt's American Legion Hall a must with dance and music fans thereabouts . . . Water Gate Inn's guestbook is sporting two unusual names—one of which appears to be in an unknown language until you hold a mirror to it. Turns out to be "J. R. Ryan." Dr. W. W. Peters rubber-stamped his name, then added an inscription in Chinese. The Water Gate management hopes it's complimentary. ROBERT P. JORDAN.

Murray Bill to Affect Nearly a Million U. S. Employes Directly

The Murray bill to revise the Classification Act would have a direct effect on nearly a million Federal workers. The Administration will indorse the measure which means serious study will be given to it in Congress. Chairman Murray of the House Civil Service Committee is planning early hearings on the legislation.

The chart in the adjoining column would cover present classified employes with two big exceptions: (1) the 105,000 employes in the present Crafts, Protective, and Custodial Service would have their salaries set up in a separate schedule which will appear here shortly, and (2) the 50,000 classified mechanical employes would have their salaries fixed by local wage boards.

Employes in these agencies would be brought in under the adjoining schedule: RFC, Federal Housing, all Agriculture credit agencies, Virgin Islands Co., Export-Import Bank, HOLC, Federal Reserve System, Displaced Persons, Soldiers' Home, Philippine War Damage, Inter-American Affairs, and customs clerks and immigration inspectors.

The primary aim of the legislation is to bring about a proper relationship between Federal jobs and salaries. The 31 CAF, P and S-P grades would be merged into a new and single schedule of 18 grades, ranging in salary from $2100 for Grade 1 to $15,000 for Grade 18.

The average salary increase would be $49.95 a year for the people covered by the bill. No employe would get a salary cut; a few would get the same salaries, and the increases would range from $1.72 to $290.50 a year. The total cost of the adjoining schedule would be about 35 million a year.

An employe in the first 10 grades would be eligible for longevity increases. He could get an additional in-grade raise for each four years after reaching the top of his salary grade up to a maximum of three such raises. This provision would be retroactive and it would be a help to thousands of employes in "dead-end" jobs.

The amount of the increases would be $80 in Grade 1 through 4 and $125 in grades 4 through 10. An additional within-grade increase of $200 is provided in new Grades 11, 12, 13, and 14.

With the two exceptions noted above, classified employes now paid up to $10,330 would be automatically covered into the new grades. However, jobs in the two new super-grades, Grade 16, $11,500 to $12,500, and Grade 17, $13,000 to $14,000, would have to be approved in advance by the Civil Service Commission.

In the case of Grade 18, a single rate of $15,000, the President alone would be authorized to make the allocation, but on recommendation of the Civil Service Commission.

Employes could be allocated to any job in the first 15 grades by their agencies, subject to published standards and approval of the Civil Service Commission.

Intimidation Charges Filed By Union, Firm

Union and management have charged each other with intimidating the employes of the Canada Dry bottling plant at Silver Spring, it was learned yesterday.

A field investigator of the National Labor Relations Board is probing the countercharges, according to the Baltimore regional office. It is comparatively rare for both management and union to file the same "unfair practices" charges against each other under the Taft-Hartley Act.

The countercharges stem from a strike called February 17 against the Canada Dry plant, located on the East-West hwy. at Blair Mill rd., by Local 67, Beverage Drivers Union, affiliated with the AFL Teamsters.

The union is still conducting strike activities against the company. Management asserts that most of the strikers have returned to work. The strike started over a contract dispute.

Management filed two charges of Taft-Hartley Act violation against the union: Intimidation of its employes and use of an illegal secondary boycott.

The union has countered with three charges against management: Intimidation, discriminatory discharges and refusal to engage in collective bargaining.

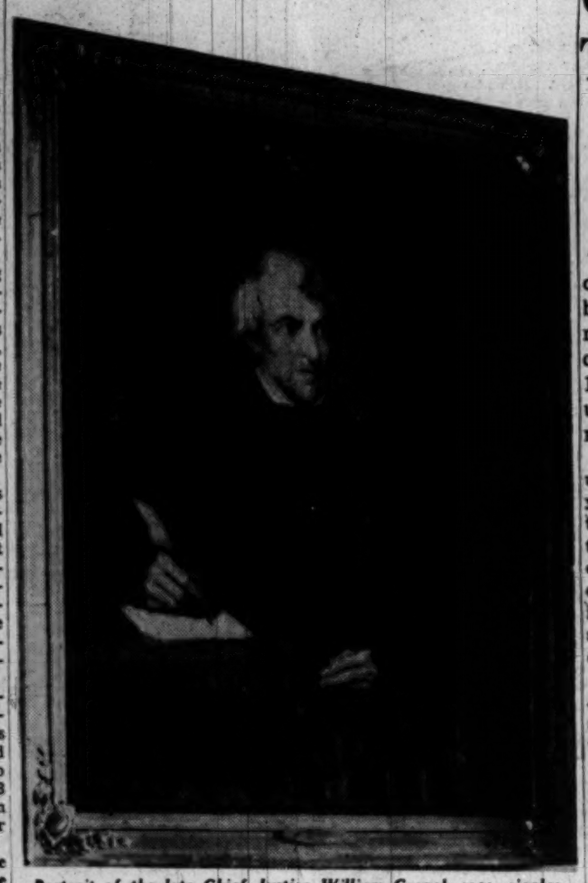
Historical Art Deteriorating In Court for Lack of Care



Portrait of the late Chief Justice William Cranch sags, ripples and is filled with tiny holes

More than a score of "historically important" portraits are deteriorating for lack of care in District Court.

Included are unsigned portraits of George Washington and Andrew Jackson, as well as some of the most prominent jurists in the history of this city. Many of the works are dingy, spotted, scratched, torn or cracked.

Recognizing the waste due to the lack of upkeep, the court authorities have appointed Judge Matthew F. McGuire to look into the problem, it was learned yesterday.

"Representations have been made to the National Gallery of Art to have these historically important works of art examined by an expert. It is planned to store the paintings properly, if possible to restore them and then to put them on exhibit in our projected new courthouse," Judge McGuire said.

It was pointed out that some of the paintings, if deemed of sufficient importance, may eventually be placed in an art gallery for exhibit.

At the present time, Judge McGuire said, there is no appropriation available which can be used to improve the physical state of the paintings, some of which are perhaps more than a century old.

Needed in many cases is expert restoration work, new frames, identity of many of the artists and in a few cases of the subjects themselves. There is some doubt, also, as to the dates attached to the nameplates of some portraits.

Historically important figures portrayed include Henry Clay and W. W. Corcoran.

Fire Egress Code Delayed Till Summer

50 Major Changes Are Being Added to Regulations for District Buildings

Addition of 50 major changes in the District's new building egress and fire safety regulations will delay the code's effectiveness until July 1 and give building owners until August 1 to make corrections.

The code went into effect January 1. However, it was learned yesterday that the District Inspections Department has held up distribution of reports on inspections of 3300 structures to see if they complied with the new rules. The reports make action correcting the shortcomings mandatory within 30 days.

Lieut. Col. Thomas J. Hayes 2d, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, said the reports will be shelved until July 1. This, he said, is being done to incorporate the 50 major changes in the rules and publication of the entire group of regulations in printed form.

Public Hearing in May

A public hearing on the proposed changes will be held about May 11, Colonel Hayes said.

A Commissioner's Advisory Committee on Building Codes has been working for several months to iron out inconsistencies in the rules and to clarify language, Colonel Hayes said. In addition, the Board of Special Appeals, which has been holding hearings on egress problems arising in new construction, has made additional suggestions for changes.

May Change Whole Code

A further source of delay is the recently enacted Housing Licensing Act in which revised definitions of multiple housing were incorporated. These require similar changes in the egress rules, Colonel Hayes explained.

The advisory committee has been considering changes in the entire Building Code and the present plan of the Engineer's Department is to incorporate the revised egress rules in a newly published version of the code, the official said.

Police Weigh Secrecy on Informants

Supt. Robert J. Barrett said yesterday he is considering a case of a policeman who refused to disclose to a superior officer a source of information.

The Corporation Counsel's office yesterday released an opinion, requested by Barrett, finding Pvt. Harry C. Lee in violation of police regulations for refusing to tell Inspector Clarence H. Lutz about his informant in arrests last November at an alleged disorderly house.

Two women and a man were arrested by Lee at 922 O st. nw. and held for investigation before being released. Barrett said they complained of the circumstances of the arrest, whereupon Lutz was appointed to investigate.

When Lutz on December 18 asked Lee where he received his information, the opinion says Lee replied, "If I told you who gave me the information it would lead to fights, cuttings and shootings."

Lee said four days later he wished to correct his earlier remarks. In a written statement, he said he was "advised by counsel that (where) information (is) received by a police officer in confidence, the police officer does not have to divulge to superior officers the identity of the informant."

The opinion, written by Assistant Corporation Counsel Ralph Quinter, found that "information relayed by Lee to his superior could not violate the confidential nature of (such) communications for the same would remain of a confidential nature in the police department, and of this Lee was advised by Inspector Lutz."

Lutz and Barrett, who said they have been studying the opinion for several days, agreed that the matter involves a principle of discipline and administration in the department. Barrett said disposition of the case would be made as soon as Inspector Lutz prepares his recommendation.

$15,000 Pay Proposed for Gallinger Job

An annual salary of $15,000, the highest in the District government, would be paid the holder of a proposed new post at Gallinger Hospital, combining the present positions of superintendent and chief of staff.

The District Commissioners yesterday approved drafting of legislation permitting combination of the two posts at the $15,000 salary, after Dr. George C. Ruhland, District health officer, recommended it.

At present, the superintendent receives $9975 plus $1500 in lieu of quarters at the hospital and, under the 1950 budget, the chief of staff will be paid $9975.

Dr. Ruhland wrote the Commissioners that a "diligent effort" had been made since last July to find a person qualified to fill one or both of these jobs, but the salaries offered by the District "do not compete" with those paid by private institutions.

He wrote the Commissioners that a "well qualified candidate" had been found for the combined position, provided $15,000 was offered.

Later, however, he identified the candidate as Dr. William B. Talbot, an experienced New York hospital superintendent, but said he received a letter yesterday from Dr. Talbot saying Talbot had accepted another position and is no longer interested in the Gallinger job.

Prince Georges Renews $1.97 Realty Levy

Residents of Prince Georges County will pay the same tax rate during the coming fiscal year as this year—$1.97 for each $100 assessed valuation.

This was announced yesterday by the county commissioners at conclusion of their weekly meeting.

The $1.97 rate was estimated to bring $3,843,659 into county coffers for the coming fiscal year. Added to this will be $178,850 in surplus funds, bringing the estimated overall revenue to $4,022,509.

Currently, and through June 30, Prince Georges County is operating on a $3,070,278 budget—raised from the same tax levy per $100 valuation—plus another $631,966 in surplus funds. Over-all total is $3,702,244.

Valuation Jumped

While the $1.97 tax rate remains the same for 1949-1950, nearly $775,000 more will be incoming, because the county's present assessed valuation has jumped from 155 million dollars to 195 million dollars.

Just before announcing the tax rate, the commissioners appropriated $10,000 to hire a county-wide recreation director and staff. To be named is a four-man recreation board to be in charge of the year-round program.

The commissioners voted to abolish the county's former summer operation of 25 white and seven Negro playgrounds for the eight-week period. The vote was 3 to 2, with Commissioners Harry W. McNamee and Leonard Dyer voting against ending the summer program.

Schools Got Two Million

Under the fiscal 1949 budget, the school system will get two million dollars—which is $325,000 more than the current appropriation but $333,000 less than asked by the school board.

Superintendent of Schools G. Gardner Shugart said the cut in the board's request will mean that school buildings in need of repairs and maintenance will not get them.

"There may even be insufficient teachers," he added.

McNamee, chairman of the board, of commissioners, said the board felt the county's taxpayers "couldn't stand a tax increase at this time," and that "we had to cut the school budget and all others except those set by State law."

The only tax increase in fiscal 1949 over the county as a whole, it was noted, was the Metropolitan Area Tax, which was raised from 4.4 cents per $100 assessed valuation to 6¾ cents.

In addition, the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission tax — currently a straight 5 cents—was raised to 8 cents in the Metropolitan District, and cut to 3 cents in the Regional District.

Rodeo Child's Case Going to Court Today

An 8-year-old tight rope walker, Shirley Gretona, has become the center of a Washington child labor controversy which will have an airing in court today.

Shirley, booked as one of 52 attractions at the Texas Rodeo, which opened here Sunday at the National Guard Armory, appeared in only three performances before police warned Larry Sunbrock, the rodeo producer, that her performance was in violation of the District child labor law.

Police Sergt. Arthur Cross, who gave Sunbrock the warning Monday, said that Shirley "went on" for a fourth performance anyway. He then arrested Sunbrock, who posted $100 collateral at No. 5 Precinct Station for a court appearance today.

Calls It "Exploitation"

Assistant Corporation Counsel Una Rita Morris of Juvenile Court called the Gretona incident "a clear case of exploitation." She said Sunbrock "has not been cooperative and because we can only give a $25 to $100 fine for first offense and $50 to $200 for second offense of a violation of the child labor laws, I am sending this case over to the United States attorney's office for possible prosecution under the Cruelty to Children Act."

(This act provides a two-year prison sentence and a $250 fine for persons employing children under 14 as rope walkers, acrobats, gymnasts, etc.)

Yesterday morning, Sunbrock issued a public announcement that Shirley would appear at every performance "if I have to be arrested each and every time she performs."

Later, however, Sunbrock and Shirley's father, Otto Gretona, agreed not to put the child on if it would bring any action against her.

Police Give Warning

Police officials who attended yesterday's matinee warned Gretona that if she performed, they would assume custody of the child. She did not appear at the matinee. Said Otto Gretona:

"If they take the kid away, I might forget myself. Then I'd be in jail."

Said Sunbrock:

"If it's just a case of my being arrested, I'll put her on. But if she is to be molested, we won't show her."

Otto Gretona told reporters yesterday that Shirley is in the fourth grade at Rochester, Ind., in the winter, and had received special permission from her school to accept the week's Washington booking.

The Gretonas' other child, Gloria, 4, is at home with Mrs. Gretona in Rochester and, according to the father, is already practicing tight rope walking.

Citizens Unit Votes to Halt Liquor License

The Citizens Forum of Columbia Heights last night voted to have J. H. Miller, 1350 Perry pl. nw., represent the group at an ABC hearing in opposition to an applicant for a liquor store license in the 1400 block of Park rd.

The organization also asked John A. Savage, apartment operator, to attend a District Building hearing on Monday to report on discussion of a proposed sale of Potomac Electric Power Co. bonds.

The meeting was held at the Columbia Heights Christian Church, 1435 Park rd, in the vicinity of the proposed liquor store site. A representative of the church will also attend the ABC hearing to oppose the application.

Young Gets Backing Of Citizens Group

The Cathedral Heights-Cleveland Park Citizens Association last night indorsed John Russell Young as a candidate for reappointment to the Board of Commissioners.

At its meeting in St. Albans Guild Hall, Wisconsin and Massachusetts aves. nw., the association also lent its support to the Harris bill for erection of a stadium for the District on East Capitol st.

It adopted a resolution expressing appreciation to two members of the group, Eustace L. Florence and Mrs. S. M. Moore, for their efforts in communicating with members of Congress for a "favorable" vote on the sales tax issue.

Petworth Citizens Back Sesquicentennial Plans

Meeting at the Petworth Library, Georgia ave. and Upshur st. nw., the members asked the Commissioners to study possible methods of preventing suicide leaps from the city's bridges by a means of parapet barricades.

Association President Thomas J. Manning announced the resignation of Earl W. Cooper as secretary of the group and the election of Van B. Sullins to succeed him.

Anacostia Group Asks School Be Torn Down

Anacostia Citizens Association last night urged that the Van Buren Elementary School, now used for storage of District property, be torn down and be replaced by a recreation center.

The association, meeting in the YMCA, 17th st. and Good Hope rd., called for repairs of the following streets: 15th st., between V and W; V st. above 16th; Galen, Green and Maple View sts., Anacostia.

Bill for D. C. Home Rule Introduced By Kefauver

City-Manager Regime Proposed in Measure Favored by 9 of 13 Committee Members

By Edward F. Ryan
Post Reporter

Senator Estes Kefauver, (D., Tenn.) yesterday formally placed the Washington home rule bill before the Senate for action.

He filed the measure, which is sponsored by 9 of the 13 Senate District Committee members, along with the committee's report recommending passage.

The bill calls for a city-manager and council form of government for Washington. Nine members of the council would be elected, and the other two appointed by the President.

It also calls for a sweeping reorganization of city agencies, into 12 major departments under the manager, and schools under an elected Board of Education.

The report cited these three objectives of the bill: (1) to relieve Congress as much as possible of the burden of District affairs, without surrendering its constitutional powers; (2) to create a representative local government for the District chosen by the qualified electors, and (3) to provide an efficient and economical government for the District.

The council, the report points out, would have power to write proposed laws for the District. These would take effect unless Congress, by a concurrent resolution passed within 45 days, disapproved a council action, and unless within the succeeding 10-day period the President disapproved.

"The bill will provide an efficient and economic government properly attuned to the District's needs," the report said. "The council-manager form of government, which is successfully operating in more than 800 cities, has been chosen as the best framework upon which to build a sound, modern administration."

Other sponsors of the bill are Senators J. Howard McGrath (D., R. I.), chairman of the Senate District Committee; Robert C. Hendrickson (R., N. J.), Lester C. Hunt (D., Wyo.), Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wisc.), Bert H. Miller (D., Idaho), Matthew M. Neeley (D., W. Va.), Andrew F. Schoeppel (R., Kans.) and Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith (R., Me.).

The report said that the home rule government needs a well-organized setup for successful operation. "The present administrative organization of the District government and the financing of governmental services in the District is confused, complicated and administratively cumbersome," it added.

3 New Members Are Elected to Symphony Board

The election of Hugh K. Duffield, Mrs. Philip G. Strong and Mrs. Benjamin Warder Thoron as new members of the board of directors of the National Symphony Orchestra Association was announced yesterday.

Duffield is general manager of the Washington stores of Sears, Roebuck & Co. and former chairman of the Indianapolis Symphony.

Mrs. Strong is prominently identified with American Aid to France and the National Symphony Women's Committee. She is a member of the board of the Washington Committee for Education on Alcoholism.

Mrs. Thoron has been active in the affairs of the National Symphony, the Red Cross, the Community Chest and the sustaining fund of the Washington Cathedral. She is also a member of the board of the Instructive Visiting Nurse Society.

Man Growing Blind Pens Note To Wife, Then Leaps to Death

"I'm sorry to do this to you," Carl U. Lewis wrote, straining his eyes, which had been growing blind for three years.

"You have been so good to me . . . played your part well. . . . But my sight is growing worse and I can't go on. . . . May God bless you always."

Then he signed his final words to his life partner—"Your loving hubby . . . please forgive me, I pray God will."

Carl, 58, went to Rock Creek Park. He climbed the stone railing of the Massachusetts ave. bridge, teetered there for several minutes—then leaped.

Carl U. Lewis, who for 25 years had served with his wife, Irene, as a butler-cook team in the best homes—General Patton, the late Supreme Court Justice Stone—was pronounced dead at 2:55 p. m.

Worker at New School Fractures Arm, Leg in Fall

The man, Bernard Mawyer, of 618 I st. nw., was walking on a strut brace at a school being built at Nichols ave. and Sumner rd. se., when the support gave way, police said.

He fell 30 feet down an open stairwell before striking an iron reinforcing rod, police said. He then dropped another 4 feet to the bottom of the stairwell.

Mawyer was admitted to Casualty Hospital.

Doctor Hunts Woman Driver To Clear Him in Auto Death

A gray-haired woman with a hearing aid is sought by Dr. Robert R. Morris, Rockville, Md., psychiatrist, as a defense witness for him in a manslaughter case.

Dr. Morris, director of the Montgomery County Mental Hygiene Clinic and a staff psychiatrist at Chestnut Lodge, said his car bumped the woman's on Rockville Pike April 10 near Georgetown Preparatory School, Garrett Park, Md. The two stopped, found no damage, and did not exchange names, he said.

Later, Dr. Morris was arrested by Montgomery County Police on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Judy Fleck, 17, of Youngwood, Pa. Police said Dr. Morris' car struck an auto in which the girl was riding, causing it to swerve head-on into an oncoming car.

The witness can verify that he stopped and that this was the only accident he knew about, Dr. Morris believes. He said the car in which the girl was may have struck his rear fender at the time he bumped the woman's auto, but he was unaware of it.

The automobile, Dr. Miles said, was a black Dodge or some similar priced car, of about 1936 make. It had four occupants, he said, two of them children. He said the woman's hearing aid was of the type attached to her waist.

Textile Test

'Wear Map' Charts Pants Seat Service

A wear map is the seat of junior's pants. It also is his trouser knee, his elbow covering and mayhap even his trousers cuff.

They take a piece of cloth. And they put it in an abrading machine until it is pounded as much as junior would when he sits on it, kneels on it, scuffs it, or pokes his finger through it.

Then they do the same thing to another piece of cloth. Then they subject both fabrics to electric impulses. Whichever fabric shows least wear is the better fabric for junior, and this is going to be a very useful thing for textile manufacturers to know who are interested in the durability of their clothing.

The map is a series of lines that show wear. It also measures air space, the electrical capacity of the unworn fabric, and the capacity of the worn fabric.

Carolina Girl, 2, Dies in Hospital Here of Leukemia

Two-year-old Barbara Ann Hinson, brought here from Goldsboro, N. C., for treatment of leukemia, died yesterday at Doctors' Hospital.

It had been hoped at first that the child might be saved with injections of aminopterin, a new drug that in many cases has proved successful in keeping the blood disease under control.

Barbara Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hinson, was admitted to the hospital here about two weeks ago. She had been suffering from leukemia for about a month.

An aunt, Mrs. E. L. Daniels, lives at 3106 N. Military rd., Arlington, Va.

Jewish Appeal Names Lyon Unit Chairman

The United Jewish Appeal of Greater Washington yesterday announced through its general chairman, Joseph Cherner, the appointment of Richard K. Lyon, Washington attorney, as chairman of the lawyers' division for the 1949 campaign beginning next Monday.

Assisting Lyon as associate chairmen will be: Sol M. Alpher, Albert Arent, Maurice Friedman and Joseph Bulman.

Max Gorgaliz, 1452 Euclid st. nw., attached to the Peruvian Embassy, had tickets for no parking from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., for parked overtime and for failing to park to curb, all canceled by Capt. Anthony Richett of the Third Precinct by virtue of Gorgaliz's diplomatic immunity.

Other diplomats who had tickets canceled were: Alberto Cardero, 810 18th st. nw. (Peru); Arno W. Hansen, 3006 Albemarle st. nw. (Denmark); Umar Yassin, 2825 25th st. nw. (Iraq); Guillermo A. Guevora, Chastelton Hotel (Argentine); Fernando Paraud (Peru); Ksenja Skeva (Yugoslavia) and Jacque Floersheim (France).

Baker Fined $25

Leonard Brandis of 247 15th st. se., was fined $25 in Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of having an insanitary bakeshop at the 15th st. address.

According to health inspectors, on April 1 in the shop they found a cat rubbing against greased bake pans, chickens in a flour storage room, traces of mice on a workbeach and gnats over a sink.

Brandis, who had no previous similar offense on his record, blamed the inspectors for letting the cat and chickens in.

Fire Laid to Cigarette

Fire, said to have been caused by a cigarette tossed away by a laborer, yesterday destroyed a granary on a farm of former Rockville Judge Harold C. Smith, near Poolesville, Md. Firemen said the granary plus farm equipment destroyed totaled $3500 or more.

Honesty Pays Off

A hotel clerk's honesty yesterday cost him $15, but it may have saved him both time and money.

Police said Russell Tyree, 45, of the Edison Hotel, 1114 13th st. nw., reported early yesterday morning he had been held up and robbed of $98 by two men in the hotel at 4:20 a. m.

On being questioned, Tyree confessed he had lost $78 of the hotel's money and $20 of his own in a blackjack game, police said.

He was charged with making a false report. Philip Brophy, assistant corporation counsel, took note of his cooperation and permitted Tyree to forfeit $15 collateral.

Lieut. King Retiring

The District Commissioners yesterday approved the retirement of Police Lieut. Bagby R. King, 62, the man with the longest tenure of service in the department.

Lieutenant King, who was appointed to the force on April 24, 1912, will be retired April 30 for physical disability incurred in line of duty. He will receive $178 a month retirement pay, starting May 1.

Montgomery Council Votes New Agencies

Organization of two new departments, public works and finance, was approved yesterday by the Montgomery County Council, meeting in Rockville.

Creation of the two departments is provided for in the county charter and County Manager Irving G. McNayr presented detailed plans for the set-up.

McNayr said his choice for director of the finance department will be submitted at the meeting of the council next Tuesday.

The public works director probably will be named within two or three weeks, he said.

Two Offices to be Abolished

The formation of the finance department will abolish the offices of county treasurer and county comptroller. Whether Treasurer John B. Diamond or Comptroller Alex K. Hancock will be placed in the new set-up was not disclosed.

The finance department will be divided into the bureaus of assessment, collections and disbursing, accounting and auditing. Public works will have five divisions: highway engineering, trees; highway construction, maintenance and equipment; traffic engineering and county buildings.

The council named Edward B. Landry, Bethesda; Clark F. King, Garrett Park, and Nathan R. Gilbert, Chevy Chase, as members of the county safety board. Landry is president of the Washington Safety Society, King is an assistant corporation counsel in the District and Gilbert is chairman of the county P-TA safety committee.

$1200 Transfer Authorized

The council authorized transfer of $1200 in surplus from other county welfare board funds to the foster home care fund. The funds were surplus as follows: administration, $300; general public assistance, $450; aid to needy blind, $150; and old age assistance, $300. Slashes in State appropriations had caused the deficit, McNayr reported.

Any bonds issued for school or other construction must be paid for by increasing the tax rate, Mrs. Dorothy Himstead, a council member, commented, reporting a 54 million dollar estimated increase in the county's assessable tax base will yield but $1,015,200 which would be needed for other county purposes.

Mrs. Lioy May Thieme

A funeral service for Mrs. Lioy May Thieme, Pennsylvania author, was held Wednesday in Philadelphia, according to word received here yesterday.

Born in Pottsville, Pa., she was the daughter of the late Benjamin Hoke and Mrs. Ella Rebecca Hoke. She was the author of "Misplaced Glory," an account of the lost soldiers of 1847-1865 in the Pennsylvania oil region.

She leaves her husband, Lhoe O. Thieme, of the Philadelphia trust estate firm bearing his name.

Fellow employes presented him with a leather desk set at the party held in the association's offices in the Albee building. Everett came to the Washington office from New York in 1941. He lives with his wife at 3314 Newark st. nw.

Rabbi Wise, Zionist Leader, Dies at 75 in New York City

Noted Figure Held Top Position in Free Synagogue

New York, April 19 (NYHT).—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, 75, president of the American Jewish Congress and Senior Rabbi of the Free Synagogue here, died at Lenox Hill Hospital at 4 p. m. today.

Dr. Wise entered the hospital March 30 for treatment of a malignant stomach ailment, and underwent an operation on April 7. His condition became critical Saturday.

The funeral service will be conducted in Carnegie Hall at 2 p. m. Friday.

Dr. Wise died without realizing his keenest wish, which was to see the new nation of Israel. A lifelong leader of the Zionist movement, he had been unable to visit Palestine since the new state came into existence, but had hoped to go there this summer.

In his more than 50 years as an American rabbi, Dr. Wise became a leading world spokesman of Jewry. An independent thinker and a forceful speaker, a liberal in both religion and politics, he succeeded in impressing many of his views on the minds of thousands of persons besides the members of his own faith.

Championed Free Thought

Virtually at the outset of his career, Dr. Wise gained national prominence as a champion of free thought. In 1905, after he had established a reputation as a forceful young rabbi in Portland, Oreg., he was invited to become the spiritual head of Temple Emanu-el, New York's best-known synagogue. In a letter declining the post, he said:

"If your letter of December 1, 1905 be expressive of the thought of the board of trustees of Congregation Emanu-el, I wish to say that no self-respecting minister of religion, in my opinion, could consider a call to a pulpit which, in the language of your communication, 'shall always be subject to and under the control of the board of trustees of the congregation.'"

He came to New York then to establish the institution which was closely associated with him and his work—the Free Synagogue.

He was born in Budapest, Austria-Hungary, on March 17, 1874. He was fond of recalling that he was born on St. Patrick's Day.

Dr. Wise was the seventh rabbi in direct succession in his family. His father, Dr. Aaron Wise, came to New York in 1875 as rabbi of Temple Rodeph Sholom, a position he held until his death in 1896.

Arouses Philadelphia

Dr. Stephen Wise played a prominent part in many of the public discussions and controversies of his time. In a Fourth of July address in Philadelphia in 1900 he excoriated that city's administration with such vigor that he was accused of violating its hospitality.

In 1908 during an address in New York he characterized a dinner given for Richard Croker, former Tammany leader, and attended by 12 justices of the State Supreme Court, as a "night of shame."

Croker had just returned after a 10 years' absence from America. Soon after Dr. Wise's speech Croker went back to Ireland.

Later, Dr. Wise had much to do with arousing and directing public resentment over the administration of Mayor James J. Walker.

Politically, Dr. Wise was a Democrat. He was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in New York in 1924. He often served as a representative of labor unions in arbitration proceedings.

Dr. Wise's wife died in 1947. They had two children, James Waterman Wise, author and lecturer, and Mrs. Justine Wise Polier, justice of the Domestic Relations Court of the City of New York.

Reburial services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. in Arlington National Cemetery for Pvt. Winston Liddell (Tommy) Jones, 38, who was killed in Germany in 1945 while serving with Patton's Third Army.

Pvt. Jones

Private Jones, who lived in Washington for nearly 20 years before entering the service in October, 1942, was born in South Mills, N. C. He came to Washington when he was 15 years old and had been employed as an automobile mechanic before joining the Army Quartermaster Corps.

He first served as a maintenance man for the American Volunteer Group, the "Flying Tigers" in China. During his ten months with that outfit, he sustained a shrapnel wound when the Japanese moved into Rangoon.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Florence Jones, of 2111 18th st. nw.; a daughter, Mrs. Betty Carol Villiotti, and a son, Tommy Jones, jr., all of Washington; his parents, Mrs. and Mrs. J. W. Jones of South Mills, N. C.; a sister, Mrs. R. C. Learey of Fairlington, Va., and two brothers, W. B. Jones of Hampton, Va., and J. B. Jones of Washington.

Dr. De Vito, D. C. Surgeon, Dies in N. C.

Dr. DeVito

Dr. DeVito won public notice for his construction of an artificial esophagus for Celia Sharon Dunayer, 4, at Children's Hospital, in a series of 15 operations.

Less spectacularly, he was credited for reconstruction operations on an estimated 8000 other patients needing skin-grafts, scar removals and facial molding during his 12 years of practice.

He was associate professor of plastic surgery at Georgetown University Medical School since 1946, and on the staff at Georgetown, Emergency Providence, Gallinger, Suburban, Children's and Mount Alto hospitals.

Born at Port Reading, N. J., he attended public schools there and graduated in 1932 from Georgetown medical school.

In 1941, Dr. DeVito entered the Army and an estimated 4000 servicemen received surgery at his hands.

He leaves a daughter, Patricia Ann, 11; his mother, Theresa; three brothers, Anthony, a dentist; Alfred, a pediatrician, and Dominic, a lawyer, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary DeTory and Mrs. Lillian Pacelli, all of Asbury Park and Bradley Beach, N. J.

Funeral services will be in Asbury Park.

Mrs. Nettie Laubach

Mrs. Nettie Laubach, 65, widow of Harry L. Laubach, former Pennsylvania Railroad engineer, was found dead yesterday afternoon in her home at 618 Park rd. nw., apparently of a stroke.

Her son, Norman H. Laubach, who shared the Park rd. home with his mother, said he discovered her death about 4:40 p.m. when he returned from work.

A native Washingtonian, she was married in 1904 to Mr. Laubach, who died in 1942. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Cotton Group Meeting

Edwin D. White, assistant to Agriculture Secretary Brannan, will head a 10-man American delegation to the eighth meeting of the International Cotton Advisory Committee opening April 25 at Brussels.

Pilots Killed Together to Be Reburied Here

Two Flying Fortress pilots, friends since flight training days, who died together over Germany, will be reburied side by side in Arlington Cemetery Thursday at 3 p. m.

The Army fliers were First Lieut. Marion U. Reid of Florida and his copilot, Second Lieut. Lewis T. Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey T. Carter of 624 Lexington pl. ne.

They died on their twelfth mission over Berlin, May 19, 1944, when a bomb released by another B-17 flying above them in formation, sheared off the tail of their ship in its descent.

Lieutenant Carter, born in Loudoun County, Va., was brought here as an infant, graduating in 1940 from Eastern High School. He attended Maryland University for a while, then enlisted in the Air Corps in 1942.

Lieut. Reid Lieut. Carter

The men met at Euphrata, Wash., in 1943. They served abroad together with the Eighth Air Force, 331st Bomb Squadron.

Lieutenant Reid leaves his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. U. E. Reid of Lantana, Fla.; two brothers and a half-brother. Lieut. Carter is survived only by his parents.

Robert Garland

Pittsburgh, April 19 (U.P.).—Robert Garland, 86, father of daylight saving time, died today.

The retired industrialist, who launched the campaign that resulted in Nation-wide daylight time to step up production during the First World War, died in the Masonic home at Elizabethtown, Pa.

Funeral Rites For Dr. Runk On Thursday

Mrs. Roxetta Landis Runk, M. D., for 21 years head of the department of ophthalmology and otolaryngology at the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, died Monday at the sanitarium after an illness of six months.

Dr. Runk

Dr. Runk, who retired from active practice at the sanitarium two years ago, lived at 301 Lincoln ave., Takoma Park, Md. She had been associated with the institution since coming here in 1926.

Born in Brushey Run, W. Va., she studied nursing at Battle Creek Sanitarium and Hospital in Battle Creek, Michigan, and received her medical education at American Medical Missionary College, Battle Creek.

She was graduated in 1906 and a year later was married to Dr. George Runk, a classmate in the college. Later she studied diseases of the eyes, ears and throat in Vienna, Austria.

Dr. Runk and her husband taught at Emmanuel Missionary College, Berrien Springs, Mich., and later at the Seventh-day Adventist Sanitarium and Hospital in Madison, Wis. After her husband's death in 1910, Dr. Runk returned to practice at the Battle Creek Sanitarium.

Dr. Runk had been active in Seventh-day Adventist church work all of her life. She was a member of the Sligo Seventh-day Adventist Church, Flower and Carroll aves., Takoma Park.

A brother, J. W. Riggleman of Akron, Ohio, two nephews and several cousins, including Miss Zella Landis of Bethesda, Md., survive her.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Thursday at Takoma Park Seventh-day Adventist Church, with burial in George Washington Memorial Cemetery, Hyattsville, Md.

There's More to the DAR Than the Ability to Trace Your Ancestors 'Way Back

By Mary Van Rensselaer Thayer

WITH Washington hotel lobbies awash with orchid-bearing Daughters of the American Revolution, their activities, apart from congresses and resulting tea imbibery, have piqued the curiosity of local uninitiates.

Why a D. A. R.? What does she do? What—except the achievement of superiority by joining an exclusive organization—does a member get out of it Here, boiled down, are the three main D. A. R. objectives.

1. To perpetuate the memory and spirit of men and women who achieved American Independence, by acquisition and protection of historical spots, erection of monuments, encouragement of historical research in relation to the Revolution and publication of results; by preservation of documents, relics, records of individual services of Revolutionary soldiers and patriots, and by promotion of celebrations of all patriotic anniversaries.

2. To carry out Washington's injunction in his farewell address to the American people "to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge," thus developing an enlightened public opinion, and affording to young and old advantages to develop in them the largest capacity for performing duties of an American citizen.

3. To cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty.

The D. A. R.'s more obvious patriotic gestures are pretty well known. But less spotlighted is their promotion for correct usage of the American Flag. They distribute copies of Flag laws passed by Congress, Flag Codes, leaflets, posters. But while there are laws governing flag usage, there is no power to enforce them and no laws to protect the Flag from desecration. So the D. A. R. has sponsored an active campaign to secure passage of legislation which has been introduced into Congress designed to prevent mutilation. Besides pageants, broadcasts, quizzes and sponsored essays, in the past three years some 40,893 Flags have been given away and some 76,480 Flag codes distributed in addition to the leaflets.

Aid to Aliens

SINCE 1919 the D. A. R. has been active in explaining and infusing our Government's principles among the country's foreign born. A special committee helps aliens prepare for naturalization examinations, following up with advice and aid when needed. They see that aliens as well as native born attend classes to reduce illiteracy. The committee's program includes sponsoring playgrounds, neighborhood centers, dental and medical clinics, assisting in settlement houses, day nurseries and teaching in night schools. The committee is also trying to raise Naturalization Court requirements to fourth grade English in order to have applicants more fully able to grasp the laws applicable to them on becoming citizens.

The D. A. R. assembled and sponsors a most useful Manual on Americanism. First published 27 years ago, it has since been translated into 16 different languages. Literally millions of copies of this basic text on naturalization have been given away to immigrants, hospitals, labor camps, every kind of welfare group and adult education class. There's a new one, too, for foreign war brides eligible for naturalization, after a two-year residence in America.

Good Citizens

ON THE home front they sponsor Good Citizenship Pilgrimages. Girls are chosen annually from accredited public high schools on their qualities of leadership, dependability, service and patriotism. Each State winner is given a trip to Washington with all expenses paid. Girls who enter the contests but fail to win are then known as Good Citizens, presented with a certificate of award and receive a pin. Each year during the Continental Congress these 49 girls, one from each State and the District of Columbia, meet for three days in Washington, as guests of the National Society. The contest is increasing in popularity, and in 1947 a total of 5591 schools participated.

Though it's less than two years since public opinion perked to attention about our neglected Indians, the D. A. R. has been helpfully plugging away since 1941. The Daughters have stressed pride and appreciation for the American Indian's past help to our country and his contemporary contribution.

The committee is helping the Indians in a practical way, providing nurse training for three girls at the University of Minnesota, giving annual money grants to Bacone College in Oklahoma, St. Mary's College in South Dakota, sending them supplies of beads, quilts, materials, layettes, books, dress goods. Money from the sale of articles from these materials is used for the students' education. In the Washington D. A. R. Museum, a room is used solely for the exhibition of American Indian handiwork.

Since 1938 the D. A. R. has had a National committee working for public appreciation of American musical compositions, of this country's patriotic and folk music, including Colonial, mountain, Negro and Indian songs. American music is used whenever possible at D. A. R. meetings, State songs have been encouraged, a file of thousands of names of native composers is maintained for those interested.

Educational Program

THE MOST important D. A. R. program is educational and has been conducted through 14 schools and colleges. Two are mountain schools, Kate Duncan Smith in Grant, Ala., and Tamassee in Tamassee, S. C., both founded and dependent on D. A. R. support. These schools supply a need where no other educational advantages are available.

Members and chapters have given buildings, land, money, clothing, to these schools. Over $400,000 has been sent to these schools during the past three years. The children educated have become useful citizens. One Tamassee graduate served as a White House secretary, another as efficiency expert for the Woolworth stores in the South, and four others are on the D. A. R. Washington staff.

Out in the Philippines back in 1915 a scholarship fund was started with Mrs. Caroline Holt as chairman. A $20,000 fund was raised by 1926 and used to give worthy Filipino girls postgraduate study in nursing and public hygiene in the United States. Since then four nurses were graduated from Columbia University with B. S. degrees and returned to the Philippines.

The D. A. R. program is twofold, concerned with conservation of human and natural resources.

It has been in force 39 years. In the first category, hundreds of needy boys and girls receive aid which enables them to keep in school. They are known as "the Becker boys and girls." Under the same heading D. A. R.'s work in hospitals, with the Red Cross, Scout troops, boys' and girls' homes.

In the conservation of natural resources program 312,349 trees were planted, many Victory trees in memory of boys killed in the war; 73,500 seedlings and 27,398 packages of seeds were sent abroad. Fruit, meat, vegetables were canned. The society is now sponsoring a parcel of land in the National Tribute Grove of primeval redwoods, and a descendant of the Washington elm was presented and planted in each city where the D. A. R. met during the war years when congresses were held outside Washington.

Other D. A. R. projects include a D. A. R. student loan fund which is operated through the various chapters and States. Because of GI grants the fund is held until lean years. But in the past three years the State funds have amounted to $775,375, the chapter funds to $277,508.

National Defense

INFLUENCING public opinion, the D. A. R.'s have set up a national defense committee, press bulletins which broadcast State and national projects and, in two years, made some 3136 broadcasts over 512 stations. Right now the D. A. R.'s are plenty belligerent. "America must rule the air," said the president general, Mrs. Roscoe O'Byrne in the opening address to the D. A. R. Congress now in session, "We want smashing air power and plenty of it. This is the stand of the D. A. R."

Yep, the Daughters of the American Revolution are plenty busy!

SOME 5,000 delegates and members of the Daughters of the American Revolution stood three deep in a line that circled Constitution Hall last night to greet Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne, president general of the DAR, and other national officers. Occasion was the president general's annual reception for delegates to the Continental Congress now in session here. In the receiving line are (left to right) Miss Ann Eastman of Arlington, Va., Miss Lucy Ann Sisler, personal page to Mrs. O'Byrne; Mrs. O'Byrne and Mrs. James B. session, delegates imposed a gag rule on their speakers, by voting to limit all speeches. No member will be permitted to speak more than once daily or more than three minutes on the same question, "without leave of the assembly, granted by a two-thirds vote without debate."

Nominations Tonight

Nominating speeches, which are scheduled for tonight, will be limited to two minutes and seconding addresses are ruled out. Nine vice presidents general will be officially nominated then.

In her report to the Congress, Mrs. O'Bryne declared "publicity has been unusually good this year. Favorable headlines have been given us in newspapers across the country . . . and the various aids we give to citizenship have received favorable comment."

In a prepared report, Mrs. Rex Hays Rhoades of this city, treasurer general, revealed that the 19-year-old Constitution Hall still makes money for the Daughters. The report showed receipts totaling $82,864 for the year ending February 28, 1949, and expenses amounting to $51,801. Taxes on hall events were $11,446.

Smiling President

Mrs. O'Byrne set the mood for the evening reception, smiling as she was introduced to the 5000 or more regents, delegates, alternates and pages who had formed a triple line in the corridors surrounding the assembly hall.

Receving with the president general were the national officers and State regents of the DAR.

Mrs. Donald B. Adams of New York, senior president of the Children of the American Revolution, was an unofficial member of the receiving line. The CAR senior president wore a corsage of white orchids on the shoulder of her black gown with gold sequin embroidery.

Flowers were abundant, with orchids of all colors predominant. Even those who responded to Mrs. O'Bryne's appeal to wear "greenback corsages" for later donation to the society's building fund, chose (as did the President General herself), to wear flowers also.

One of the guests—Mrs. David Wright of Florida—wore the flowered currency, not only as a corsage, but also as a tiara, whose delicate green shade matched her gown.

Keep Dollars Rolling

At the fund-raising morning session, approximately 125 building aides from every State in the Union lined up in the center of the auditorium to sing a "Building Fund Song," dedicated to Mrs. O'Byrne, president general; Mrs. Rex Hays Rhoades, building finance chairman, and Mrs. Holcombe.

To the Caisson tune, the hall reverberated with "Keep Those Dollars Rolling Along" as the building aides enthusiastically sang:

"Some from here,
Some from there,
We'll get money everywhere.
Keep those dollars rolling along.
Reach that goal,
It's no dole,
Let's get on that honor roll.
Keep those dollars rolling along."

Mrs. Rhoades, of this city, treasurer general and building finance chairman, reported that DAR chapters across the country had overpaid $728 and called for a vote to donate the amount to the building fund. The approximately 5000 delegates gave a unanimous aye to the suggestion.

She also revealed that the Negro personnel of the DAR contributed $100 toward the building fund, most of which was made on concessions in Constitution Hall.

The District of Columbia DAR chapters were among the first 10 States with their pledge and contributions of $10,075.33.

A Maine DAR chapter pledged $165 in honor of Senator Margaret Chase Smith.

Mrs. O'Byrne announced the completion of the National Tribute Grove project in California and said that sufficient funds have been received to start construction of the Tamassee DAR School auditorium at Tamassee, S. C. She also revealed that the contract for the construction of the Memorial Bell Tower at Valley Forge has been signed.

"The tower will be erected as far as we have money for it, which will include the Memorial Room at least," she explained. "For further funds, we have to depend upon the sale of Christmas cards and cookbooks."

Members of the national society plan to raise part of the $260,000 for the memorial tower through the sale of a new cookbook and some 50,000 boxes of Christmas cards. The cookbooks, which contain favorite recipes of the Daughters, went on daily sale prior to the opening of the congress, Monday night, in Constitution Hall.

State Receptions

Probably the largest gathering was the New York luncheon in the grand ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel, where approximately 500 guests gathered to pay tribute to Miss Edla Gibson, the guest of honor and a national vice president general candidate.

Miss Gibson had as her guests 60 members of the DAR who were State regents, national officers or national chairmen. Other guests at the luncheon included three honorary presidents general of the DAR, Mrs. Julius Talmadge, Mrs. William Pouch and Mrs. Grace Brousseau.

Among the State groups who met at the Mayflower for lunch was the delegation from the neighboring State of Maryland, whose 200 natives met in the Chinese Room. DAR members from Michigan lunched in the East Room, while Kansans met in the North Room. And in the Jefferson Room of the Mayflower, Oklahomans held their informal luncheon meeting.

Many Luncheons

At the Hotel Washington about 200 West Virginians lunched in the Washington Room, while the Virginians met at the Willard Hotel. Three New England States, Vermont, Maine and New Hampshire, also met at the Willard.

A little further away from the DAR headquarters, at the Shoreham Hotel, Mississippi, New Jersey and Pennsylvania held luncheons for their own DAR State members and honored guests.

Floridians lunched at the Hamilton Hotel, while the Washington luncheon was held at the Kennedy-Warren and the Wisconsin at the Carlton Hotel.

Texan Daughters of the American Revolution were guests of honor at a tea and reception in the Sapphire Room of the Mayflower Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Preceding the president general's reception, several States held dinners for their DAR members and guests. At the Mayflower Hotel, Colorado, Connecticut and Georgia feted members of their home State while the California and Rhode Island dinners were held at the Hotel Washington.

Pages' Ball

The hard-working pages had a memorable time at the ball given for them at the Mayflower following the President General's reception. There was music by Sidney's orchestra; a profusion of young men, representing the White House staff, patriotic organizations and officers of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps; punch, ice cream and cake.

Most of the young ladies, from every section of the country, wore gowns of pastel tints, or white, while Mrs. William Disque, chairman of the DAR Page Dance Committee, wore an exquisite Hattie Carnegie creation of imported pink lace and an orchid corsage.

On Today's Congress Schedule

Action on a group of resolutions and reports of national committees will be taken at this morning's DAR session, beginning at 9:30 o'clock. Reports of national committee chairmen will be resumed at 2:30 p. m., after a luncheon recess.

Highlights of tonight's meeting, scheduled for 7:30 o'clock, will be nomination of candidates for vice president generals. Nine already have been nominated on an official slate. Other business on the agenda will include reports of State regents. On the entertainment side will be a musical program given by Gertrude Merrill, coloratura soprano, and Dorothy Radde Emery, pianist.

Roderick MacDonalds Mark Christening

Lieut. and Mrs. John Roderick MacDonald of Arlington, Va., entertained at a reception Sunday following the christening of their son, Vincent Castigliola MacDonald at 4 p. m. in St. Patrick's Church.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cronin were proxy godparents for George Castigliola and Mrs. S. V. Castigliola of New Orleans. The baby wore the family christening robe of Mrs. Cactigliola who is godmother for the MacDonald's small daughter, Victoria.

Rings on Their Fingers

Of interest to society is announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Dorothea Marshall Villard to John Hammond. Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Garrison Villard of New York City and Watertown, Conn., announced their daughter's engagement yesterday. The wedding will take place in May.

Mr. Hammond is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo John Hammond of Chicago and Washington. He studied at Dartmouth College and was graduated from the School of Architecture at the University of Pennsylvania. During the war he served in the African and European theaters as a lieutenant commander in the Navy.

Miss Villard was educated at the Brearley School in New York, and she was graduated from Rosemary Hall in Greenwich. She also studied at Smith and Barnard Colleges. During the war she was with the Board of Economic Warfare, and later with the Foreign Economic Administration, and has since resided in Washington.

Mr. Hammond's marriage to the former Miss Sydney Wynne Ffoulkes of Philadelphia ended in divorce in 1947. At present he is on special duty with the Navy Department in Washington.

Why miss all the fun? Lots of full-flavored Florida grapefruit every day will help fight fatigue because they help build a real glow of health. They provide energy-packed fruit sugars. Wonderful for lazy appetites, too. They're mildly laxative—provide plenty of vitamin C. Grapefruit helps lick that "too-tired" feeling!

Mrs. Hurley Tea Hostess For Symphony

AN OPEN fire in the drawing room, warmed guests coming in from the garden at Gen. and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley's house yesterday. Mrs. Hurley was entertaining at tea for a group of women members of the National Symphony Orchestra Association, in the last of a series of three parties. Mrs. Robert Guggenheim and Mrs. Joseph Davies were hostesses earlier in the season to other members of the women's committee.

Among those whom Mrs. Hurley welcomed yesterday were Senora de la Colina, wife of the Mexican Ambassador; Senora de Dillon, wife of the Ecuador Ambassador; Mme. van Kleffens, wife of the Netherlands Ambassador; Senora de Mora, wife of the Uruguayan Minister; Mrs. Gordon Young, who came with Mrs. Hugh Warren; Mrs. Carl Spaatz, Mrs. Stuart Symington, Mrs. Millard Tydings, Mrs. Howard Mitchell, wife of the orchestra's conductor; Mrs. C. C. Glover, Mrs. David Barry and Mrs. Corrin Strong.

If GOP Fails, America Fails, Rep. Harden Tells Party Diners

Claiming that the American people are basically opposed to the present trend of the Federal Government, Representative Cecil M Harden last night called on the Republican Party to assume its responsibility, "If the Republicans fail as a party, America fails as a nation," the Congresswoman from Indiana told members of the D. C. League of Women's Republican Clubs at a dinner meeting at the clubhouse, 1604 20th st. nw.

"The average American longs for a return of rational government without quite knowing how it can be achieved," she declared. "The Republican Party must continue to offer a government based upon laws rather than upon the whims and fancies of men," she said.

Representative Harden urged her listeners to "convince the American people that their liberties are not just in danger, but that they are rapidly disappearing." The country must be convinced that "there is no miracle in the offing, that the only way we can straighten out our economy is through the application of some old-fashioned Republican common sense," according to Mrs. Harden.

"No third party is coming along to do the job of saving America, and the New Deal is not going to change," she continued. "It is wholly our responsibility," Mrs. Harden told her fellow Republicans and assured them that the recent election resuts in Michigan, where Republicans made a strong showing, prove that this country is still predominantly Republican andthat "an aggressive, hard-hitting Republican campaign will win elections."

"Unless we do a better job of selling in 1950 and 1952, we may find ourselves out of the market," Mrs. Harden warned, but concluded that the Republican Party "has a magnificent opportunity to become a party of peace and prosperity, opposed to the party of war and economic disaster."

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Edward A. St. John, chairman of the evening group of the D. C. League of Women's Republican Clubs which was in charge of last evening's program.

15th Immanuel Seminary Fair Set for May 7

The fifteenth annual Seminary Fair, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of Immanuel Church-on-the-Hill, is to be held on Saturday, May 7, on the grounds of the Virginia Theological Seminary, Quaker lane and Seminary Rd., in Alexandria.

Festivities will start with the popular "Turtle Derby" and continue throughout the afternoon with continuous amateur shows, a fashion show, a tea, a pet show, games of skill and pony and jeep rides.

Seminary students will assist the auxiliary in setting up the giant fair and also participate as clowns and entertainers. Proceeds will benefit the parish and missionary projects.

Mrs. Gerard B. Crook, general chairman of the fair, is assisted by Mrs. Harold Hernley, Mrs. Leonard B. Jaudon, entertainment; Mrs. Colin MacRae, Mrs. J. B. L. Williams, Mrs. William Kirk, Mrs. W. H Souder, Mrs. C. H. Duerfeldt, Dr. Colin MacRae, W. Holt Souder, Bob Smith, Mrs. Margaret Carr Thomas and Mrs. Robert E. Latham.

Others are Miss Cecily Cox, Mrs. A. L. Miller, Mrs. Armisted Boothe, Mrs. R. S. Sweeley, Mrs. Dudley Adams, Mrs. Ernest Wiecking, Mrs. Robert L. Rand, Mrs. S. William Livingston, Mrs. Allen Smith, Mrs. Bennet J. Sims, Mrs. William T. Thurman, Mrs. J. Ray Pugh and Mrs. Edward Bawcombe.

Auxiliary members have been working for months on knitted garments and other handmade articles and are planning old Virginia delicacies for the fair. Other booths will handle flowers and plants from neighboring gardens, unusual "white elephants," hot dogs, ice cream, popcorn and soft drinks.

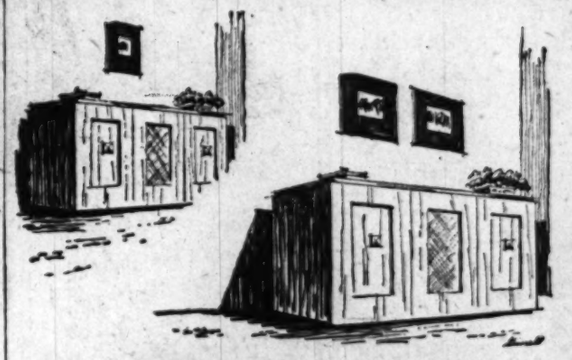
SPEAKING OF Furniture
By WILLIAM BANKS



BALANCE AND PROPORTION
In rearranging your furniture have you ever had the feeling that something was wrong, although the colors blended and the furniture was in good style and taste? The solution could be in the combination of sizes of furniture and pictures used. In grouping pieces of furniture together they should be in scale with one another to have proper proportion. If we hang a small picture over a broad cabinet or chest the effect would be bad. Two small pictures, similar in size, however, if hung side by side as the above illustration, would restore proper proportion.
The proportions of your furniture should be in keeping with the size of your room. For small rooms use small pieces. As a rule, a small room should have light, delicate pieces, small patterns and subdued colors in moderate accent. Not only do small pieces fit the dimensions of a small room, but they prevent the room from becoming cluttered and impassable.
As the present-day home tends to smaller rooms than in the past, there is a trend in the use of unit furniture and sectional pieces. This gives a great deal of flexibility in room arrangement and also helps in keeping good proportion.
We would enjoy discussing your furniture and decorating problems with you. Drop in to

Where to Get Portable Icebox

Could you tell me where I may be able to purchase an inexpensive small portable icebox suitable for keeping baby food and bottles in while traveling across country to California by auto? Any suggestions for keeping baby food cold during a trip of this kind would be appreciated.
L. W. D.

Stores which sell sporting goods and camping equipment have portable ice boxes. One store which has a box 20 by 11 inches can be reached by calling Executive 2626. Your idea of using a portable ice box for food is an excellent solution to the baby food problem. You should have no trouble in getting ice to keep it replenished. Then, too, it will be very handy if you wish to carry food for the rest of the family. Particularly in warm weather, it is pleasant to carry lunch food with you so that you can eat picnic style in parks or along the roadside. Cans of fruit juice on ice for a cooling drink in the heat of the day is very refreshing, too.

Do you know if any of the tiny boxes of matches (to be used in 1 by 1½-inch silver match box covers) that used to be imported from Sweden before the war are being brought into this country again? If so, where may they be purchased here in Washington?
A. M. H.

Yes, a shipment of these matches (called "La Petites") has been received by a large local chain of supermarkets. They are made in Tidaholm, Sweden, and, I am told, come 16 matches to a box measuring 1 by 1⅝ inches, which sounds about the size you had in mind. Some, but not all, of the stores in this chain have them. Among those that do are the store in the 4500 block of Wisconsin ave. nw., and the ones in the 3400 block of Connecticut ave. nw., the 4800 block of Massachusetts ave. nw., the 6500 block of Georgia ave., and the 2100 block of Wisconsin nw.

Can you suggest a remedy for cake failures? I have been baking good, light cakes for years, but recently they fall badly while cooling. They come out of the oven light, brown, pulled away from the sides of the pan. In five minutes they are shrunken flops! What can be the matter?
R. F. S.

Since the cakes fall after being removed from the oven, that suggests to me that perhaps they are not completely baked. Pulling away from the sides of the pan is usually a very reliable test for doneness, but since you are having this trouble, I suggest you also test the cake at the center with a dry toothpick. If it comes out clean, the cake is surely done.

If these cakes are sponge or angel food cakes, do not invert the pan as soon as the cake is removed from the oven? Also, sponge type cakes should be placed in a spot away from drafts to cool and prevent falling.

Insufficient amounts of flour or too much leavening, such as soda or baking powder, would cause a cake to fall, but falling due to these causes usually takes place in the oven before the baking time is up.

Is there any place in Washington where I may purchase some quilted leather or plastic by the yard? I have twin Hollywood beds with the separate headboards and would like to have one slipcover made to fit over the two headboards to give the effect of one.
S. H. W.

The upholstery department of a large department store located at 11th and F sts. has quilted plastic by the yard. It comes in red, white, pink, gray, light blue and yellow, is 36 inches wide and sells for $1.50 a yard.

Recently Married, Much in Love With Bride, Man Reports Festering Thorn in His Side, Namely, Knowledge That She Had a First Love

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am recently married and love my wife very much, but she was in love with another man long before I met her, and I am sure he is the only man she has ever really loved.

As I started courting Myra I soon fell in love with her, but I realized that she was still in love with John, who had married someone else. She admitted once that given a chance to choose between John and me, she would hesitate before deciding on either of us;—but anyway, we did get married.

Since we have been married she has again admitted that if she and John were single she would hesitate before marrying me; but she says that she is content with our marriage and that I should forget about him, as he is married and nothing shall come between us.

Treasures Wife, Despite Anxiety

SHE EXPLAINS that she didn't get exactly the man she wanted for a husband, but that she doesn't feel badly about it and is more than willing to make the most of our marriage. Also she says she loves me, although not as much as I love her; and as the days go by, this fact of her "lesser love" for me is greatly disturbing.

I feel that I am second-best in her life; and I continually brood about this, although Myra says I shouldn't. She says I am looking for trouble, which isn't necessary. But I argue that if she loved me enough to marry me, she ought to care enough to eliminate any desire except to love and cherish me to the fullest.

Somehow I regret having married Myra; and yet if I had the choice to make again, I would still marry her. Perhaps your reply will help us, and possibly others who face a similar problem.

T. R.

Attitude May Kill Chance at Happiness

DEAR T. R.: It seems to me you are setting about to kill any chance you ever had to win Myra's wholehearted devotion. You were willing to marry her, knowing that you were second best; and you admit you would do it again on the same terms, if they were the best you could expect. So what are you kicking about? You don't make sense.

During courtship you were willing to accommodate and overlook Myra's enshrined attachment to a "lost love," provided she would be your wife, or grant you the privilege of permanent married companionship, to solace your heart-hunger for her. In effect, you were asking title to love and cherish her to the fullest.

She set no trap, took no false stand, was honorably honest about her divided sentiments, which might allow no more than "half a loaf" in return for your devotion—and you agreed to settle for that. It was only after the deal was closed that you began to haggle morbidly about John.

Better Earn Love Than Bleat for It

THUS as I see the picture you are being a nuisance, trying to gouge more love-tribute from Myra than she honestly feels; more than she promised; more, indeed, than you are willing to cultivate—by consistent example of rational loving-kindness—now that you have her in double-harness.

You are making ugly self-defeating use of her past confidences, which were an expression of trust in your supposed decency, when you rehash them as excuse to beef about your inferiority feelings. And each time you do so, you are giving her cause to actively dislike you, and to regret having married you.

Your "slick" behavior indicates that she shouldn't have married you; and if you don't correct it, the marriage probably won't last long. So, for advice, go to work on yourself, with psychiatric help, to get the kinks out of your twisted thinking.

Mrs. Middleton, Mrs. Morrison Named to Head Colonial Dames

Mrs. Earl Middleton of Austin, Tex., and Mrs. Frank Morrison of Washington, D. C., were elected president general and first vice president general, respectively of the National Society of Colonial Dames of the Seventeenth Century in balloting at the close of meetings here.

Mrs. Morrison was founding president of the Col. William Branthwayte Society of the Colonial Dames of the Seventeenth Century local chapter of the national patriotic society which was organized in 1937.

Miss Mabel Cooper Gupton of Nampa, Idaho, who has served as national president of the organization for the past three years, has been named an honorary president general of the society for life.

During the course of the triannual meeting, the national society voted to raise funds for a permanent home in Washington, and added the new office of second vice president. The new officer will devote herself entirely to the work of the building committee.

Following the installation of officers Monday, the 75 delegates of the society, which numbers close to 2000 members in 12 States, were entertained at tea by Mrs. Harry Truman at Blair House.

Other newly elected national officers in the Colonial Dames include Mrs. Clarence Fraker, St. Petersburg, Fla., second vice president general; Dr. D. J. Pickle, Austin, organizing secretary general; Mrs. Stacy Howell, Atlanta, Ga., treasurer general; Miss Wilhelmina Lea, Little Rock, Ark., registrar general; Mrs. Frances T. Johnston, St. Petersburg, assistant registrar general; Mrs. A. H. Bridge, New York City, chaplain general; Mrs. Kirby Smith Anderson, Madison, Ga., historian general; Mrs. A. L. Brennan, New York City, librarian general, and Mrs. William V. Johnson, Story, Wyo., curator general.

Court Considers Illegality Plea In Man's Arrest

Legality of the arrest of James Alfonsus Marshall, 21, of 202 New York ave. nw., charged with stealing $39 worth of shirts, was taken under advisement yesterday by Judge Ellen K. Raedy in Municipal Court.

Lieut. Otto Fuss, the arresting policeman, said he apprehended Marshall on the street shortly after receiving a radio call that a man of Marshall's description had taken shirts valued at $60 from a menswear shop at 705 12th st. nw. However, a representative of the shop said she never gave any value in reporting the theft to police.

The defense attorney argued that because of this fact, the information was not reliable and sufficient to be the basis of an arrest for a misdemeanor not committed in the presence of the officer.

Driscoll Ahead In New Jersey GOP Primaries

Newark, N. J., April 19 (AP).—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll took a commanding lead tonight in his bid for renomination as results of today's State primary election began rolling in.

Returns from 1254 of the State's 3710 election districts gave Driscoll 51,585 votes to 13,870 for Robert L. Adams for the Republican nomination.

State Senator Elmer H. Wene was unopposed for the Democratic nomination. Wene, a former Congressman, has the backing of Frank Hague, State Democratic chieftan and Democratic National vice chairman.

Also chosen at today's primary were candidates for seven State Senate posts, all 60 Assembly seats and numerous county and municipal offices.

Last Harlan Policeman Is Dismissed by Judge

Harlan, Ky., April 19 (U.P.).—The Harlan County police force existed only on paper today with the announcement by Judge W. J. R. Howard that he had dismissed the lone remaining patrolman, Melvin Moore.

Judge Howard would not comment on the action. He said he would appoint a successor to Chief Ambrose Metcalfe, county police chief who was shot to death Sunday, "as soon as I can find a man who can handle the job."

OFFICIAL NOTICES 5

GOVERNMENT OF THE DISTRICT of Columbia, Washington 4, D. C., April 14, 1949. Ordered: That Article 10 of the Police Regulations of the District of Columbia is hereby amended as follows: Article 10. Section 9: In line 7 after the word "height" insert the following: "The above shall also apply to rooms in which highly inflammable motion picture film is exposed, repaired, or under examination." Article 10, Section 11: Add at end of Paragraph: "Except that shipping vaults shall not exceed 150 square feet in floor area and 1500 cubic feet in inside dimensions." Article 10, Section 12: Line No. 8, ending "750 feet," insert the following: "Or a heavy metal screen may be installed below the existing roof to limit the interior vault space to the required number of cubic feet." Article 10, Section 32: Delete the entire section and insert the following: "All nitrocellulose film shall be kept in vaults when not actually in transit or in process of checking and sorting. The total amount of film permitted outside of vaults in any one film exchange while in transit or process of checking and sorting shall not exceed 300 single reels, 150 double reels, or 1500 pounds. Quantities of film in excess of the allowable limits in the preceding paragraph will be permitted in shipping vaults which must be constructed in compliance with the sections of this Article pertaining to the construction of inflammable motion picture film storage vaults with the following exceptions. Shipping vaults shall not exceed 150 square feet in floor area and 1500 cubic feet in inside dimensions. Sprinklers are to be provided with one head for each 125 cubic feet of inside dimensions. Vault vent of type prescribed for standard film vaults shall be provided with an effective area of 14 square inches for each 100 pounds of film stored therein. Shipping vaults may be without racks and subdividing partitions. All film in shipping vaults shall be in standard I.C.C. shipping containers which shall not be stacked higher than four feet. Allowable storage capacity of shipping vaults shall not be more than 100 pounds of film to each 14 square inches of vent area. Shipping vaults of smaller dimensions than the type described shall be restricted also to capacities of 100 pounds of stored film to each 14 square inches of vent area." Article 10, Section 33: Delete the entire section and insert the following: "Not more than 15 double reels shall be exposed or under examination or repair at any one time or in any one room. Each examiner may have in the examination room or in a room in which film is repaired not to exceed 481 double reels, provided each reel not under process of examination or repair be enclosed in a separate metal container or be kept in a shipping case of the type approved by the I.C.C. or, in a metal cabinet constructed in accordance with the requirements of this Article. If kept in shipping cases, the covers to the same must be kept closed. The number of persons permitted to work in any one room where film is handled shall be limited to 15 and a floor area not less than 35 square feet per person shall be provided." Article 10, Section 37: Delete the entire section and insert the following: "No smoking or use of matches or open flame shall be permitted in any room where inflammable motion picture film is kept, stored, handled or manufactured, and in each such room signs shall be displayed in two or more places to read as follows: 'Smoking, Use of Matches or Open Flame Prohibited in This Room.' By Order of D. C. Commissioners.' The words 'Smoking, Use of Matches or Open Flame Prohibited in This Room' to be in red letters not less than 3 inches high on a white background."

MEN OF GENUINE SALES ABILITY
An unusual opportunity for a permanent career in a highly paid profession in which earnings range from $5,000 to $25,000 annually is offered by an old established investment house. Nationwide in the scope of its operations and widely known in investment circles, this firm is now interested in expanding the sale of investment trust shares for companies of high repute.
Selling experience in the field of securities is desirable but not essential, because the men who can meet our requirements in other respects will receive an intensive course of training at our expense. Thereafter, they will receive the selling aids essential to the solicitation of new business, including: the complete cooperation of our organization, the use of highly organized investment research facilities, and leads resulting from our advertising campaign. Compensation — commission basis; drawing account contingent on experience and qualifications.
The major qualifications we require may briefly be summarized as follows: (1) A practical working knowledge of the principles of successful salesmanship; (2) Unquestioned integrity that inspires confidence; (3) An educational and cultural background commensurate with the importance of the position.
To arrange for an interview, telephone ME. 3635—or come to Room 132, Washington Hotel, at 2 p. m., Wednesday through Friday.

HOUSES, UNFURNISHED 51

TEMPLETON MANOR

Two hundred and fifty families are now comfortably settled in these exceptionally fine garden-type apartments. We have about the same number still under construction. There are a few choice units ready now, and there will be more coming ready during May and June.

These are truly spacious quarters, with venetian blinds, 6-foot Frigidaire and four-burner oven-control gas range. Locker spaces and metered laundry facilities in basements. Grounds beautifully planted and sodded.

We now have four fully equipped play areas for small children, and there are to be four more. Free recreation room space is being furnished for the operation of a cooperative Teen-Ager Club. We are also turning over one of the apartments for the free use of a cooperative day nursery to be operated by the tenants.

Three-and-one-half room unit consisting of living room dinette, bedroom, kitchen and bath at $76.50. Four-room unit at $86.50 is larger, and has full dining room.

Two-bedroom apartments are priced at $92.50 (with dinette) and $96.50 (with full dining room). Utilities included in above prices.

Court Adjourns to Honor Aide

The District Court was formally adjourned yesterday in memory of the late Rice Hooe, 70, a lawyer and former assistant corporation counsel here who died Sunday at his home, 1427 Chapin st. nw.

Judge Matthew F. McGuire said Mr. Hooe "will be sadly missed among the older lawyers who are noted for their maturity, tolerance and ability." The notice of Mr. Hooe's death was given by Godfrey L. Munter in behalf of the District Bar Association.

We Talk of Peace

We talk of peace at home and in . . . The lands across the sea . . . And promulgate the principles . . . Of our democracy . . . We feel there is no other way . . . To put an end to war . . . Than that of giving all the world . . . The key to freedom's door . . . And surely none can criticize . . . Or boast a better way . . . To conquer selfishness and solve . . . The problems of today . . . We are prepared to argue and . . . To settle every doubt . . . And there are certain nations we . . . Are willing to help out . . . But in the last analysis . . . We draw our lines with chalk . . . And much of what we do toward peace . . . Is little more than talk.

THE DISTRICT LINE by Bill Gold

Like the Bartender, We Haven't Finished Our Sentence Yet

A headline in this newspaper recently summed up a murder trial verdict with the words:

Bartender Facing 15 Years to Life in Ambassador Hotel

The man who wrote that headline hopes that the Ambassador will understand that he meant no offense, and that if the hotel's name had been shorter (The Ritz, for example) the last line would have accommodated the missing word: "Slaying."

PERSONAL NOTES

Mrs. C. E. Fisher: Thanks very much. A postcard like yours is a welcome change.

I SUPPOSE YOU KNEW THIS ALL THE TIME

Wilma Luedke of 122 W. Cameron rd., Falls Church, Va., stopped me cold over the week-end with: "What's the significance of the Easter Bunny?"

With the help of the encyclopedia, I can now answer Wilma's question. The Americana says:

"To the Norsemen, the festival of the divinity of spring which they called Ostara or Eastre was especially the season of new birth. From this festival arose the symbol of the Easter egg and the Easter rabbit, as prolific reproducers of species."

MISCELLANY

My item about the lawyers in the Housing Expediter's office trying to figure out universally applicable grounds for eviction brings a note from John T. O'Brien: "It gave us bureaucrats a good chance to laugh at ourselves—which we don't do often enough" . . . We'd all be better off if we didn't take ourselves so seriously, John . . . Mrs. Arthur E. Beach of 4609 30th st. nw. is sure that Washington's nicest policeman is No. 1030, who gave her a helping hand when her car quit on the 34th st. hill the other morning. Police Department records list No. 1030 as Pvt. David M. Brown of 732 Roxboro pl. nw. . . . L. Toby got a chuckle out of a headline in our morning contemporary. It proclaimed that at a forthcoming church function, a prominent matron would conduct the "Panty Shelf Booth" . . . And Mrs. Bertha L. Black of 2010 Maryland ave. ne. wonders why our sports department said that Elmer Ripley joined the Original Celtics in 1924 and stayed with them until 1826 . . . The Yellow Cab Company's "Yellogram" reprinted my item about the driving idiosyncracies of tourists, but F. B. Holland, HMC, Naval Medical School, Bethesda, Md., registers an objection. He says it's not the tourists who are a constant hazard in Washington—it's the home-town driver, who is capable of practically anything, except giving the proper signal . . . Editor Edward E. Bemar is doing a fine job with the Landon Gazette (Landon School for Boys) but he doesn't give his readers any humor. Maybe he's been watching The Washington Post's experiment with this column, and profiting from the mistakes of his downtown contemporaries.

WONDER WHY?

The direction sign on the stairs at the National Theater points the way to the "Ladies' Lounge" and the "Men's Suite."

But when you get to the top, you find them labeled: "Ladies' Suite" and "Men's Lounge."

THE JUNK MAN WOULD WIN THIS ARGUMENT

Dorothea J. DeLollis of 222 N. Thomas st., Arlington, Va., says that our traffic items have moved her to wonder what would happen in a situation like this:

"Suppose a fire engine, police car, ambulance and mail truck all came charging down on the same intersection at the same time. Which would have the right of way?"

There's a popular notion (shared by me, I'll confess) that the mail truck would have the right of way, on the theory that nobody can impede the progress of the U. S. Mail.

However our local traffic division hoots at such a notion and says that the fire engine truck would have the right of way. "Mail trucks have no more privileges than any other vehicle."

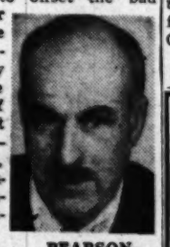
Up to now I've resisted all pressure to consent to the publication of an authorized biography. But, one owes something to posterity, I daresay— "Lives of great men all remind us—"
Remind us of WHAT, Mr. O'Malley?
I confess I never can remember what comes next, but I have no doubt it's most significant.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

GOP Warned to Mend Ways

By Drew Pearson

The Republican National Committee has sent out a frantic warning that, unless the GOP acts quickly to offset the bad publicity over its alliance with the Dixiecrats, it may jeopardize the reelection of three stalwart Republicans — Taft of Ohio, Capehart of Indiana and Donnell of Missouri.



PEARSON

The GOP National Committee also is pleading with Senators to sign a cloture petition limiting debate on civil rights when it comes up again. All 42 Republican Senators must sign, the committee warns, to show their good faith for their previous compromise with the South over the filibuster. This would leave only 22 signatures for the Democrats to round up—which, the committee predicts, the Democrats would have trouble getting. If the Republicans contributed twice as many signatures as the Democrats, the GOP committee reasons, the blame for failure to act on civil rights will fall directly on the Democrats.

So far, the National Committee admits the Republicans have taken a beating in the press for their compromise on the filibuster. As an example of Negro reaction, the committee cites the editorial bitterness of the Afro-American, a leading Negro newspaper which hitherto always has supported the Republican ticket.

"We made a grievous mistake in supporting the reelection of a Republican Congress," declared the Afro-American after the Republican-Dixiecrat deal. "Twice in the past week have the actions of the Republicans in the Senate showed us how grievous was our error."

The committee points out that most newsmen believe it is impossible to muster the necessary 66 signatures to shut off a civil-rights debate, as required under the compromise agreement. That is the reason the committee urges every Republican Senator—to a man—to sign the gag petition.

Not only will this save the reelection of Taft, Capehart and Donnell, argues the National Committee, but it will cut into the Democratic vote in Kentucky, California, Illinois, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Maryland and New York —where there is a heavy Harlem ballot.

Note: The letters sent out to GOP Senators by the National Committee were signed by Val Washington, himself colored. He is assistant to National GOP Chairman Hugh Scott.

Merry-Go-Round

Senator Millard Tydings, the dapper Democrat from Maryland, was bustling around the Senate floor the other day as if conferring on matters of state. He hustled from one Senator to another, whispering earnestly. The truth was, he was trying to get rid of some free tickets to the race track . . . Speaker Sam Rayburn has been proudly displaying a cashier's check for $40,000 which he raised for the Democratic party during a Jackson Day speaking tour of Texas. That ain't hay . . . The editors of Saturday Evening Post consider Minnesota's boy-wonder, Senator Hubert Humphrey, as a presidential prospect, have assigned Feature Writer Rufus Jarman to write a detailed profile—to be published probably in two articles.

Democrats Woo

In a bid for Democratic unity, party leaders threw a private dinner the other night for freshmen Congressmen and turned on the soft soap.

Senator J. Howard McGrath, Democratic National chairman, blamed the Republicans for all the trouble over civil rights.

The purpose of this, he said, was to "prevent passage of the civil-rights program."

Pep talks were also given by House Majority Leader John McCormack and Speaker Rayburn who declared that the Republican Party is "split worse than the Democrats" and called the Democratic Party the "party of understanding."

Truman Sticks to Knitting

His new policy of sticking close to Capitol Hill was made clear recently to West Virginia's two Democratic Senators—Harley Kilgore and Matt Neely—who invited the President to attend a forestry festival in West Virginia next October.

He intends to do this by personal contact with Senators and Congressmen, he added, and this will have first priority over all other engagements.
